New Cabinet Is Announced By Ramadier

Streamlined Group Has But 13 Members

PARIS, Thursday, Oct. 23—(AP)—Premier Paul Ramadier formed a new Cabinet today to face what he described as France's grave economic situation.

The new Cabinet, formed eight hours after the members of Ramadier's previous government had resigned, is composed of seven Socialists, three Popular Republicans, two Radical Socialists and one independent.

Ramadier presented the list of ministers to President Vincent Auriol shortly after midnight.

Before the new Cabinet was announced a reliable informant said Ramadier, a Socialist, was reorganizing the government to exclude any ministers with leanings toward Gen. Charles De Gaulle, whose Rally of the French People polled the largest number of votes of any political party participating in last Sunday's municipal elections.

Special Session Urged

The resignation of the members of Ramadier's previous Cabinet came on the heels of the Premier's call for a special session of the National Assembly next Tuesday to consider the nation's economic problems.

Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, whose Popular Republican Party lost heavily in the elections, was retained in the new cabinet. Two others of that party, Pierre-Henri Teitgen as Minister of National Economy and Planning and Robert Schuman as Minister of Finance, also were included in the reformed government. They will remain at least until results of next Sunday's runoff elections are known.

The remainder of the new cabinet:

Minister of State, Yvon Delbos, Radical-Socialist; Justice, Andre Marie, Radical-Socialist; Interior, Edouard Depreux, Socialist; education, Marcel Naegelen, Socialist; Minister of Economic Affairs, Public Works and Transport, Jules Moch, Socialist; Social Affairs, Daniel Mayer, Socialist; Industrial Production, Robert Lacoste, Socialist; Agriculture, Marcel Roclore, independent, and Minister of Defense and Colonies, Paul Bechard, Socialist.

25 In Previous Cabinet

The previous Cabinet was composed of 12 Socialists, six Popular Republicans, five Radical-Socialists and two independents. Three of the Socialist ministers dropped had been under fire for some time from other parties because of their policies. They were Minister of National Economy Andre Philip; Secretary of State for Colonies Marius Moutet, and Minister of Agriculture Pierre Tanguy Prigent.

Commenting on the fact that the new Cabinet is smaller than the old one, Ramadier told newsmen:

"We realized that it was necessary in this hour to give the government a possibility of rapid decision and for this end to concentrate authority in a smaller number of hands."

Bouquet For GIs

FRANKFURT, Oct. 22 (AP)—Lt. Gen. Clarence R. Huebner, acting United States commander in Europe, issued a statement today voicing his "pride" in the appearance, bearing, and "improved discipline and courtesy" of American occupation troops in Germany.

"Forever Amber" Is "Condemned"

NEW YORK, Oct. 22 (AP) — Francis Cardinal Spellman said today Catholics cannot see the movie "Forever Amber" with "a safe conscience."

The Archbishop of New York, in a letter to all pastors in the Archdiocese, to be read at all masses Sunday, said the Legion of De Ency had placed the film in the "condemned" classification because it was "a glorification of immorality and licentiousness."

President To Decide If Distilleries Shut Down

Byrnes Proposes Western Powers Call Peace Meet

Predicts Failure Of Big Four Talks

COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 22 (AP) — Former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes proposed tonight that the United States, Britain and France act "now" to call a full-dress German peace conference regardless of the attitude of Russia.

Byrnes, in effect, predicted failure of the Big-Four foreign ministers conference in London next Month. He argued that Russia had proved its unwillingness to co-operate in a generally- acceptable German peace settlement and asserted that the three western nations would have to call a German conference of victor nations a year from now anyway.

"If they are going to do it a year hence," he said, "why not do it now?"

Address Fraternal Groups

The former Secretary outlined his views on the next peace-meeting moves in an address prepared for a meeting of South Carolina fraternal groups here under Masonic sponsorship. His words followed in general, but in more detail, the pattern proposed in his book "Speaking Frankly." In this he suggested the United States and the other powers make peace without Russia, if Russia will not co-operate. He added that if Russia persisted then in holding Eastern Germany, the other Allies if necessary should use measures of "last resort" under majority sponsorship of the United Nations Security Council.

"There is no suggestion," he said here, "as to whether such collective action should be persuasion, economic pressure or military action. That would be for the nations to determine under the circumstances existing at that time."

Byrnes specifically denied what he described in his speech as a United Press report of his book. He said it presented him as an advocate of meeting Russian obstructionism with atomic bombs and ouster of the Red Army from Germany by force if necessary.

Reads From His Book

He read several hundred words from his book on his suggestion for the German settlement, and said: "In it there is nothing about atomic bombs or driving the Soviets out of Germany by force."

At another point in his speech, he said the "title of warmonger" had been given him by Dmitri Manuilsky, Soviet Ukrainian delegate at

Truman To Receive AFL Union Protest

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—President Truman will be asked to make the final decision on a new protest by AFL distillery workers against a proposed 60-day liquor making holiday.

Harold Krieger, attorney for the International Distilling, Rectifying and Wine Workers Union (AFL), told newsmen tonight he had received a "definite promise" that the Citizens Food Committee will take the controversial issue to the President.

Committee officials said that meanwhile the unions involved have been asked to submit more definite information to support their claim that the 60-day shutdown would inflict hardship on workers and would not save the type of grain needed to help feed Europe.

Krieger said 10,000 to 12,000 members of his union alone would be thrown out of work if the distilleries closed down as scheduled next Saturday at midnight.

Poultry Decision Delayed

"We do not intend to stand idly by and see this industry singled out and shut down when nothing can be accomplished by the shutdown," Krieger told reporters.

The committee has estimated that the distilling holiday would save from 10,000,000 to 20,000,000 bushels of grain.

While this phase of the food-saving campaign hung fire, the committee also delayed final decision on a substitute grain-saving scheme to replace "poultryless Thursday." That means: No poultry again tomorrow.

And Chairman Charles Luckman appealed anew to housewives to save food.

Luckman conferred late today by telephone with his seven-member executive committee on a proposal advanced by the nation's poultry producers yesterday as a substitute for the poultryless day.

Further Study Planned

A committee official said the executive group will be called to Washington to study it further, probably in one or two days.

It had been intended to hold the Washington meeting today but not all members were able to make it.

A panel of the committee, along with industry and labor representatives, discussed meanwhile a request by AFL distillery workers to call off the 60-day liquor making holiday scheduled to start at midnight Saturday.

In a broadcast directed to mayors, Luckman said the food conservation campaign aimed at saving 100,000,000 bushels of grain for Western Europe by mid-1948 needs the help of every American.

Mountbatten Reported Hurt In Auto Accident

LONDON, Oct. 22 (AP) — The British Press Association said tonight that Lt. Philip Mountbatten, who will wed Princess Elizabeth November 20, had been hurt in an automobile accident.

The accident occurred last night near Cirencestzr, the dispatch said. Mounbatten was shaken up and suffered a twisted knee.

Mountbatten's car skidded on a curve and crashed into a hedgerow while he was driving from London to the Corsham Naval Station where he is assigned. The press association said he was able to carry out his full naval duties today.

Negro's Plea Rejected

CHICAGO, Oct. 22 (AP) — A 23-year-old negro, convicted of murder, who said "Boys, please don't do as I have did, do as I say" today lost another plea for executive clemency, and was ordered electrocuted at 12:01 a. m. (CST) Friday.

The negro, Ernest Gaither, Chicago, was convicted of murdering Max Baran, a tavern owner, in a holdup last February 9.

375 "Marooned" In Picket-Ringed Galion, O., Plant

GALION, O., Oct. 22 (INS)—City, county and state authorities conferred late tonight on methods of extricating 375 foodless employes from the picket-ringed Galion plant of the North Electric Company.

Joining in the conference was Col. R. V. Graham, of the Ohio National Guard, while ONG officers stood by in the Adjutant General's office in Columbus for a possible mobilization of guardsmen.

The employes, less than half of the plant's normal working force of 800 persons, were "marooned" late this afternoon when pickets of the CIO-United Automobile Workers appeared in force across the street from the plant. Crawford County Sheriff Ralph Schreck informed company officials that he could not guarantee the safety of employes if they attempted to leave.

Despite a patrol maintained by sheriff's deputies and eight policemen armed with tommy guns, observers reported that pickets picked up ballast from the nearby Erie Railroad tracks and shattered at least 100 windows in the building during the evening.

All Communists Urged To Fight "Imperialism"

"No Appeasement," Declares Zhdanov

MOSCOW, Oct. 22 (AP) — Andrei A. Zhdanov, in a declaration published today, called upon Communists and their sympathizers everywhere in the world to join in a battle against what he charged were attempts by the United States to achieve "world domination by American imperialism."

Zhdanov, a member of the Soviet Communist Party Politburo, said Russia would take the lead in attempts to wreck the Marshall plan and prevent the United States from making Europe a "49th state."

He compared the "ruling circles" of the United States with "Hitlerites," and said America was following a policy of preparing for "new military adventures."

"Cominform" Declaration

His remarks were contained in a two-page spread in the Communist newspaper Pravda disclosing for the first time his summation of the international situation before the nine-nation conference in Poland which led to creation of the International Communist Information Bureau in Belgrade.

He sounded the "no appeasement" note against American "imperialists" that appeared in the declaration issued by the nine-nation Communist meeting.

"As the Munich policy in the past untied Hitler's hands for aggression, so concessions to the new course of the United States and the imperialist camp can only make its inspirers more impertinent and aggressive," Zhdanov declared.

At the same time he said Soviet foreign policy was based on the existence of the two systems of

Evatt Denounces Soviet Campaign

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 22 (AP) — Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky listed two American Cabinet members and James F. Byrnes as "warmongers" today in the third sustained attack on what the Russian delegation calls "criminal war propaganda" in the United States.

Dr. Herbert V. Evatt, Australian Foreign Minister, immediately counter-charged in the 57-member Political Committee of the United Nations Assembly with the contention that the Russian press and radio are encouraging war by "persistent, unrestrained attack of the United States of America."

Warren R. Austin, ranking United States delegate at the committee session today, sat silent during Vishinsky's one hour and 10 minute speech. After the committee adjourned at 5:18 p. m. (EST) Austin issued the following comment addressed "for the press":

"Propaganda Campaign"

"Mr. Vishinsky's speech is part of the propaganda campaign the Soviet press and radio have carried on for many months with growing intensity. This Soviet propaganda campaign is designed generally to discredit the government and people of the United States and of other countries and to cast doubt upon the sincerity of their peaceful intentions.

"Its effect is to create confusion that will hinder the accomplishment of constructive tasks."

Vishinsky spoke some four hours after Russia and Czechoslovakia carried out their threat to boycott a 15-member subcommittee established by the big Political Committee to work on Secretary of State Marshall's plan to create a year-round sitting of the Assembly.

The Russian and Czechoslovak chairs remained unoccupied in the small subcommittee room while the other 13 delegates carried on their business.

Vishinsky increased to 15 the list of American individuals he has attacked as "warmongers." Today he singled out Secretary of Commerce W. Averell Harriman, Secretary of Defense James Forrestal, and former Secretary of State Byrnes as belonging in the class he calls "warmongers."

Churchill Assailed

He already had listed the others, including John Foster Dulles, member of the United States delegation to the Assembly; William C. Bullitt, former U. S. ambassador to Moscow; Publisher Frank Gannett, and Radio Commentator-Columnist Walter Winchell.

Vishinsky attacked Harriman first today. He said Harriman had said "in a frenzy that 'the Russians are trying to swallow up the world.'"

Vishinsky then attacked former Prime Minister Winston Churchill, of Britain, for his remarks broadcast to a recent New York dinner honoring former Gov. Alfred E. Smith.

Evatt came back with a retort in his speech that Vishinsky's attack on Churchill was "unjustified."

Wife Of Milton Berle Is Granted Divorce

RENO, Nev., Oct. 22 (AP)—Radio and Stage Comedian Milton Berle was divorced today by Mrs. Joyce Mathews Berle, former actress, on grounds of mental cruelty.

The Berles were married in Los Angeles December 4, 1941.

"Berle liked night life and Mrs. Berle didn't," said her Reno attorney, George McKernon, after the closed hearing before District Judge A. J. Maestretti.

Any Future War May Bring Tighter Federal Controls, Defense Secretary Warns

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22 (AP)—Civilians received advance warning today that any future war may bring tighter government controls over all manpower, and shortages of many civilian goods.

The warning came from Secretary of Defense James Forrestal as he stepped into a running argument between Sens. Brewster (R.-Me) and Pepper (D-Fla) concerning industrial mobilization during the recent war.

After Chairman Brewster and Pepper reached a temporary truce in their wordy dispute, Forrestal told the Senate War Investigating Committee that the "National Security Act of 1947 gives us the best machinery that the country has ever had for securing our national defense."

This is the act that unified the Army, Navy and Air Forces into a single establishment and also gave permanent status to a number of civilian planning and control agencies for defense and war.

"If we should ever find outselves in another war, we would have to go much farther in substituting war production for civilian production," the Defense Secretary said.

He listed faillure to solve the "manpower" problem during the recent war as one of the biggest of several wartime errors.

"If the war had continued for many more months, manpower probably would have developed into the most serious bottleneck of the war," Forrestal said.

Looking ahead to a possible war, Forrestal said all the military and civilian control agencies embodied in the new security act must be trained and actually filled with experienced leaders.

He said that chiefs must be selected to head controls over "manpower, transportation, food, fuel and so forth."

Civilian control must operate at the top, he continued, through the position of chairman of the National Security Resources Board, a post now held by Arthur Hill.

Forrestal said mobilization plans developed after World War I were not utilized before or at the state of the recent conflict because they were "too generalized" and "did not give sufficient emphasis to civilian phases of a total war economy."

Forest Fire Loss In New England Over $3,000,000

10 States Battle Scores Of Blazes

[By The Associated Press]

Forest fires in 10 states resulted in millions of dollars' worth of damage today as the New England area alone battled several outbreaks and counted property losses above the $3,000,000 mark.

Dry weather, plus unseasonably warm temperatures, accounted for many of the blazes, most of which were reported under control.

The worst situation was in Maine, where conditions were described by Forest Commissioner Raymond Rendall as "the most explosive" ever recorded in the state. One forest fire along a five mile stretch of Maine coastline near Kennebunkport destroyed almost 200 buildings, mostly summer cottages, before it was brought under control.

Rendall said Maine's total loss so far was "roughly $2,500,000" for more than 50 separate fires.

A Massachusetts loss of more than $500,000 was estimated by Fire Warden Joseph L. Peabody, and officials throughout the New England area said danger was increasing as the nearly month-long drought continued.

In New York, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey ordered all state-owned woodlands closed at midnight tonight after fire wardens reported that 254 fires had broken out in 11 days in the Adirondack forests and other state controlled areas.

Twenty fires had burned more than 2,000 acres in New Jersey, where State Conservation Commissioner Morgan F. Larson ordered all campers' fire permits cancelled after the 20 fires broke out yesterday.

A woods fire endangered a section of the White Mountain National Forest in New Hampshire, and blazes were reported in Vermont, the worst at Greensboro. Rhode Island had a 200-acre blaze near the Lincoln Downs race track.

Special Session Issue May Be Decided Today

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22 (AP) — Indications grew stronger today that the issue of a special session of Congress may be decided tomorrow when President Truman lays new facts on Europe's winter needs before Capitol Hill leaders.

Authoritative disclosures that an early meeting of Congress will be a prime topic were followed by announcement that the hour for the usual Thursday news conference has been left open. This may mean that Mr Truman is considering giving reporters the results of the meeting.

The Thursday meeting with newsmen ordinarily is held at 4 p. m. but Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said the hour this time could not be specified until tomorrow. The lawmakers have been invited by Mr. Truman for 2:30 p. m.

Gasoline To Be Rationed

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 22 (AP) — Eastern refiners have agreed to ration gasoline to filling stations in order to step up production of fuel oil for home and commercial use and avert a shortage, Lionel Jacobs, chairman of the Atlantic Coast Oil Conference, announced today.

Europe's Need Is "Real And Urgent"

NEW YORK, Oct. 22—(AP)—Secretary of State Marshall said tonight the so-called "Marshall plan" now is only in the drafting stage and "when it is completed it will truly be a program of the United States government and not of any one department or agency."

Marshall spoke to the New York Herald Tribune Forum, which heard a letter from President Truman declaring that "this nation cannot know full peace or full security" unless the people of Europe "are in a position to make their full contribution to world stability."

The President's letter to Mrs. Ogden Reid, president of the Herald-Tribune, said that on the decisions of the coming weeks and months "will depend in large measure the future pattern of our relations with Europe and, indeed, with the world at large."

He said this country must be sure "that what we are undertaking to do is within the limits of our own strength and does not run counter to the health of our economic life."

"Time For Action"

Marshall told the forum that no project "has ever received more careful study and preparation than has this problem of the reconstruction of Europe.

"And I am certain that no governmental effort has ever enjoyed such complete co-operation on the part of all the agencies concerned.

"There has been constant reference to a Marshall plan," he said. "The reference to me personally was unfortunate, but the reference to a plan was definitely misleading. There was no plan, there was a suggestion. Now we are in the process of drafting a plan as a proposal to the Congress of the United States.

"The period of study and preparation is thus drawing to a close. The time of action is at hand."

"For many months," Marshall said, "both the government and the people of the United States have been considering the growing dangers of the economic situation in Europe and our relation to the problem.

Europe's Need "Real"

"That Europe's need of assistance is real and urgent I believe is no longer a matter of argument. And it is likewise evident that the United States of America in the present state of the world represents the primary source from which this need can be met.

"I am sure that you all understand the vital importance to us of the preservation of European civilization. We cannot stand in-

Actor Reports Seeing Things "On Pink Side"

MGM Executive Says Many Writers Reds

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Actor Robert Taylor, starring at the big investigation of Communism in Hollywood, today named Karen Morley as a "disrupting influence" at meetings of the Screen Actors Guild.

The handsome actor told the House Committee on Un-American Activities he has seen plenty of things "on the pink side" in the movie business. He said indications of Communist activity there have increased in the last four or five years.

Taylor said Howard Da Silva always "seems to have something to say at the wrong times" at Actors' Guild sessions. He did not identify either Da Silva or Karen Morley.

The inquiry, playing for the first time to standing room only in the huge caucus room of the old House office building, also turned up:

Testimony from James K. McGuinness, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer executive, that 10 or 15 leading Hollywood writers are Communists.

A promise from Committee Chairman J. Parnell Thomas (R-NJ) that evidence of Red spying will unfold next week.

An announcement from Thomas that some time this week or next the committee will bring out "complete records" on "at least 79" persons with subversive links who are "active" in Hollywood.

Evidence Of Espionage

Thomas told reporters "a large additional amount of material" will be uncovered when the committee goes more deeply into espionage charges made yesterday. The committee was told then that a test pilot was tricked by a theatrical agent into supplying secret information about a supersonic bomber and the information was relayed to Communist headquarters.

To a question whether the committee has definite evidence of Communist espionage, Thomas crisply replied:

"My answer is yes."

But for the hundreds of onlookers who crammed the hearing room and the halls and steps outside, the handsome Taylor was the center of interest. Most of them were gurgling women.

The tone for Taylor's appearance was set when he lifted his hand to take the oath to tell the truth.

"Get your hand back," yelled a photographer. "You're hiding your face."

Taylor complied as if his favorite director was giving orders.

"How long," asked Committee Investigator Robert E. Stripling, "have you been an actor?"

"I've been employed as an actor since 1934," Taylor answered, tweaking his left ear with thumb and forefinger.

The crowd thought the distinction was exceedingly funny.

Not "Forced" To Make Movie

Early in his testimony Taylor denied that he was "forced" to make the movie "Song of Russia." He did say he "objected" to it, but "they can't force you to make a picture."

He said he wanted to correct any previous impression to that effect.

Taylor said he objected to the original script because "it contained Communist propaganda, but a lot of my friends didn't agree with me."

Bevin Hints Britain May Halt Tobacco Purchases

LONDON, Oct. 22 (AP) — Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin hinted tonight that Britain had decided to halt the purchase of American tobacco for an indefinite period. Subsequently a Board of Trade spokesman said an official announcement on the subject might be made tomorrow.

Speaking to his constituents in Wandsworth the Foreign Secretary described himself as a heavy smoker and added:

"I am conscious I have got to behave myself because we have had to stop buying tobacco. That doesn't mean you have to stop smoking as we have a lot in stock and we will go on using it."

Wreckage Of Plane Which May Have Crashed Year Ago Found In Virginia

MARION, Va., Oct. 22—(AP)—A thorough, but unofficial, examination today of the wreckage of the Cessna C-87 found on nearby Mt. Rogers failed to reveal sufficient clues for identification of occupants of the plane.

Col. Wyatt Exum, Air Corps reserve officer from Galax who was asked by Army Air Force officials in Washington to take charge of the investigation until an official party arrives, reported tonight after returning from the scene of the accident that no definite identification was available.

In New York, the wife and mother of Christopher A. Sulzbach, 29, said they had been notified by a spokesman for the Central Airport Flying Service of Camden, N. J., that the pilot had been identified as Sulzbach from personal papers and a wallet found in the wreckage.

"It is most difficult to determine whether there was one or two persons in the plane at the time of the crash," Col. Exum said, "since the remaining bones are scattered over a wide area."

The identification of the ship as a five-place, twin-engined ship was made definite by Col. Exum.

Col. Exum and his party which included Roy Greer, who found the wreckage Tuesday morning, and Will Roope, a hunter who was with Greer, said that from appearances the plane struck a large tree dead center while in full flight. The wreckage, they said, is strewn over a 100-yard area.

Full reports on the crash and identification of the victims meanwhile await the arrival of officials from Greenville, S. C., Army Air base either tonight or tomorrow.

There were indications that the crash may be a year or more old.

Motion To Congratulate Elizabeth Is "Boycotted" By Communist MP

LONDON, Oct. 22 (AP)—Willie Gallacher, one of the two Communists in the British Parliament, disassociated himself from a resolution congratulating Princess Elizabeth on her impending marriage today in a speech which Laborite McGovern called "most disgraceful."

Prime Minister Attlee and Conservative Leader Winston Churchill dropped political differences and joined in offering the motion, quickly adopted, expressing "our sincere cordial congratulations."

But Gallacher, amid cries of "sit down", said he did not want any part of the "lavish expenditure in connection with this affair."

Recalling that Edward VIII, now the Duke of Windsor, abdicated over a love affair, Gallacher said "we have been told in certain sections of the press that it is a question of mutual attraction (between Princess Elizabeth and Lt. Philip Mountbatten)—what is generally termed a love affair—but that is quite irrelevant because the uncle of the young lady had a love affair and lost his job as a consequence.

"Do not let us forget, when we hear what is going on here, that it was a Tory government backed by a huge Tory majority that 10 years ago threw the King off the throne and sent him a wanderer on the face of the earth."

Board of Trade President Harold Wilson told one of the secrets of the wedding preparations today. He said Elizabeth will get 100 extra clothing coupons for her "austerity" trousseau. The special allotment is a little over two years' clothing ration for the average miss.

Truman To Receive AFL Union Protest

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—President Truman will be asked to make the final decision on a new protest by AFL distillery workers against a proposed 60-day liquor making holiday.

Harold Krieger, attorney for the International Distilling, Rectifying and Wine Workers Union (AFL), told newsmen tonight he had received a "definite promise" that the Citizens Food Committee will take the controversial issue to the President.

Committee officials said that meanwhile the unions involved have been asked to submit more definite information to support their claim that the 60-day shutdown would inflict hardship on workers and would not save the type of grain needed to help feed Europe.

Krieger said 10,000 to 12,000 members of his union alone would be thrown out of work if the distilleries closed down as scheduled next Saturday at midnight.

Poultry Decision Delayed

"We do not intend to stand idly by and see this industry singled out and shut down when nothing can be accomplished by the shutdown," Krieger told reporters.

The committee has estimated that the distilling holiday would save from 10,000,000 to 20,000,000 bushels of grain.

While this phase of the food-saving campaign hung fire, the committee also delayed final decision on a substitute grain-saving scheme to replace "poultryless Thursday." That means: No poultry again tomorrow.

And Chairman Charles Luckman appealed anew to housewives to save food.

Luckman conferred late today by telephone with his seven-member executive committee on a proposal advanced by the nation's poultry producers yesterday as a substitute for the poultryless day.

Further Study Planned

A committee official said the executive group will be called to Washington to study it further, probably in one or two days.

It had been intended to hold the Washington meeting today but not all members were able to make it.

A panel of the committee, along with industry and labor representatives, discussed meanwhile a request by AFL distillery workers to call off the 60-day liquor making holiday scheduled to start at midnight Saturday.

In a broadcast directed to mayors, Luckman said the food conservation campaign aimed at saving 100,000,000 bushels of grain for Western Europe by mid-1948 needs the help of every American.

Mountbatten Reported Hurt In Auto Accident

LONDON, Oct. 22 (AP) — The British Press Association said tonight that Lt. Philip Mountbatten, who will wed Princess Elizabeth November 20, had been hurt in an automobile accident.

The accident occurred last night near Cirencestzr, the dispatch said. Mounbatten was shaken up and suffered a twisted knee.

Mountbatten's car skidded on a curve and crashed into a hedgerow while he was driving from London to the Corsham Naval Station where he is assigned. The press association said he was able to carry out his full naval duties today.

Negro's Plea Rejected

CHICAGO, Oct. 22 (AP) — A 23-year-old negro, convicted of murder, who said "Boys, please don't do as I have did, do as I say" today lost another plea for executive clemency, and was ordered electrocuted at 12:01 a. m. (CST) Friday.

The negro, Ernest Gaither, Chicago, was convicted of murdering Max Baran, a tavern owner, in a holdup last February 9.

Vishinsky Adds Byrnes, Two Cabinet Members To "Warmonger" List

375 "Marooned" In Picket-Ringed Galion, O., Plant

GALION, O., Oct. 22 (INS)—City, county and state authorities conferred late tonight on methods of extricating 375 foodless employes from the picket-ringed Galion plant of the North Electric Company.

Joining in the conference was Col. R. V. Graham, of the Ohio National Guard, while ONG officers stood by in the Adjutant General's office in Columbus for a possible mobilization of guardsmen.

The employes, less than half of the plant's normal working force of 800 persons, were "marooned" late this afternoon when pickets of the CIO-United Automobile Workers appeared in force across the street from the plant. Crawford County Sheriff Ralph Schreck informed company officials that he could not guarantee the safety of employes if they attempted to leave.

Despite a patrol maintained by sheriff's deputies and eight policemen armed with tommy guns, observers reported that pickets picked up ballast from the nearby Erie Railroad tracks and shattered at least 100 windows in the building during the evening.

Evatt Denounces Soviet Campaign

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 22 (AP) — Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky listed two American Cabinet members and James F. Byrnes as "warmongers" today in the third sustained attack on what the Russian delegation calls "criminal war propaganda" in the United States.

Dr. Herbert V. Evatt, Australian Foreign Minister, immediately counter-charged in the 57-member Political Committee of the United Nations Assembly with the contention that the Russian press and radio are encouraging war by "persistent, unrestrained attack of the United States of America."

Warren R. Austin, ranking United States delegate at the committee session today, sat silent during Vishinsky's one hour and 10 minute speech. After the committee adjourned at 5:18 p. m. (EST) Austin issued the following comment addressed "for the press":

"Propaganda Campaign"

"Mr. Vishinsky's speech is part of the propaganda campaign the Soviet press and radio have carried on for many months with growing intensity. This Soviet propaganda campaign is designed generally to discredit the government and people of the United States and of other countries and to cast doubt upon the sincerity of their peaceful intentions.

"Its effect is to create confusion that will hinder the accomplishment of constructive tasks."

Vishinsky spoke some four hours after Russia and Czechoslovakia carried out their threat to boycott a 15-member subcommittee established by the big Political Committee to work on Secretary of State Marshall's plan to create a year-round sitting of the Assembly.

The Russian and Czechoslovak chairs remained unoccupied in the small subcommittee room while the other 13 delegates carried on their business.

Vishinsky increased to 15 the list of American individuals he has attacked as "warmongers." Today he singled out Secretary of Commerce W. Averell Harriman, Secretary of Defense James Forrestal, and former Secretary of State Byrnes as belonging in the class he calls "warmongers."

Churchill Assailed

He already had listed the others, including John Foster Dulles, member of the United States delegation to the Assembly; William C. Bullitt, former U. S. ambassador to Moscow; Publisher Frank Gannett, and Radio Commentator-Columnist Walter Winchell.

Vishinsky attacked Harriman first today. He said Harriman had said "in a frenzy that 'the Russians are trying to swallow up the world.'"

Vishinsky then attacked former Prime Minister Winston Churchill, of Britain, for his remarks broadcast to a recent New York dinner honoring former Gov. Alfred E. Smith.

Evatt came back with a retort in his speech that Vishinsky's attack on Churchill was "unjustified."

All Communists Urged To Fight "Imperialism"

"No Appeasement," Declares Zhdanov

MOSCOW, Oct. 22 (AP) — Andrei A. Zhdanov, in a declaration published today, called upon Communists and their sympathizers everywhere in the world to join in a battle against what he charged were attempts by the United States to achieve "world domination by American imperialism."

Zhdanov, a member of the Soviet Communist Party Politburo, said Russia would take the lead in attempts to wreck the Marshall plan and prevent the United States from making Europe a "49th state."

He compared the "ruling circles" of the United States with "Hitlerites," and said America was following a policy of preparing for "new military adventures."

"Cominform" Declaration

His remarks were contained in a two-page spread in the Communist newspaper Pravda disclosing for the first time his summation of the international situation before the nine-nation conference in Poland which led to creation of the International Communist Information Bureau in Belgrade.

He sounded the "no appeasement" note against American "imperialists" that appeared in the declaration issued by the nine-nation Communist meeting.

"As the Munich policy in the past untied Hitler's hands for aggression, so concessions to the new course of the United States and the imperialist camp can only make its inspirers more impertinent and aggressive," Zhdanov declared.

At the same time he said Soviet foreign policy was based on the existence of the two systems of (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Wife Of Milton Berle Is Granted Divorce

RENO, Nev., Oct. 22 (AP)—Radio and Stage Comedian Milton Berle was divorced today by Mrs. Joyce Mathews Berle, former actress, on grounds of mental cruelty.

The Berles were married in Los Angeles December 4, 1941.

"Berle liked night life and Mrs. Berle didn't," said her Reno attorney, George McKernon, after the closed hearing before District Judge A. J. Maestretti.

Any Future War May Bring Tighter Federal Controls, Defense Secretary Warns

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22 (AP)—Civilians received advance warning today that any future war may bring tighter government controls over all manpower, and shortages of many civilian goods.

The warning came from Secretary of Defense James Forrestal as he stepped into a running argument between Sens. Brewster (R.-Me) and Pepper (D-Fla) concerning industrial mobilization during the recent war.

After Chairman Brewster and Pepper reached a temporary truce in their wordy dispute, Forrestal told the Senate War Investigating Committee that the "National Security Act of 1947 gives us the best machinery that the country has ever had for securing our national defense."

This is the act that unified the Army, Navy and Air Forces into a single establishment and also gave permanent status to a number of civilian planning and control agencies for defense and war.

"If we should ever find outselves in another war, we would have to go much farther in substituting war production for civilian production," the Defense Secretary said.

He listed faillure to solve the "manpower" problem during the recent war as one of the biggest of several wartime errors.

"If the war had continued for many more months, manpower probably would have developed into the most serious bottleneck of the war," Forrestal said.

Looking ahead to a possible war, Forrestal said all the military and civilian control agencies embodied in the new security act must be trained and actually filled with experienced leaders.

He said that chiefs must be selected to head controls over "manpower, transportation, food, fuel and so forth."

Civilian control must operate at the top, he continued, through the position of chairman of the National Security Resources Board, a post now held by Arthur Hill.

Forrestal said mobilization plans developed after World War I were not utilized before or at the state of the recent conflict because they were "too generalized" and "did not give sufficient emphasis to civilian phases of a total war economy."

TAYLOR TESTIFIES—Screen Actor Robert Taylor, testifying yesterday at a House Un-American Activities Committee investigation of Communist activities in Hollywood, said he had seen things "on the pink side" in the movie industry.

"Time Of Action" On Aid Plan "At Hand"—Marshall

Europe's Need Is "Real And Urgent"

NEW YORK, Oct. 22—(AP)—Secretary of State Marshall said tonight the so-called "Marshall plan" now is only in the drafting stage and "when it is completed it will truly be a program of the United States government and not of any one department or agency."

Marshall spoke to the New York Herald Tribune Forum, which heard a letter from President Truman declaring that "this nation cannot know full peace or full security" unless the people of Europe "are in a position to make their full contribution to world stability."

The President's letter to Mrs. Ogden Reid, president of the Herald-Tribune, said that on the decisions of the coming weeks and months "will depend in large measure the future pattern of our relations with Europe and, indeed, with the world at large."

He said this country must be sure "that what we are undertaking to do is within the limits of our own strength and does not run counter to the health of our economic life."

"Time For Action"

Marshall told the forum that no project "has ever received more careful study and preparation than has this problem of the reconstruction of Europe.

"And I am certain that no governmental effort has ever enjoyed such complete co-operation on the part of all the agencies concerned.

"There has been constant reference to a Marshall plan," he said. "The reference to me personally was unfortunate, but the reference to a plan was definitely misleading. There was no plan, there was a suggestion. Now we are in the process of drafting a plan as a proposal to the Congress of the United States.

"The period of study and preparation is thus drawing to a close. The time of action is at hand."

"For many months," Marshall said, "both the government and the people of the United States have been considering the growing dangers of the economic situation in Europe and our relation to the problem.

Europe's Need "Real"

"That Europe's need of assistance is real and urgent I believe is no longer a matter of argument. And it is likewise evident that the United States of America in the present state of the world represents the primary source from which this need can be met.

"I am sure that you all understand the vital importance to us of the preservation of European civilization. We cannot stand in- (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Forest Fire Loss In New England Over $3,000,000

10 States Battle Scores Of Blazes

[By The Associated Press]

Forest fires in 10 states resulted in millions of dollars' worth of damage today as the New England area alone battled several outbreaks and counted property losses above the $3,000,000 mark.

Dry weather, plus unseasonably warm temperatures, accounted for many of the blazes, most of which were reported under control.

The worst situation was in Maine, where conditions were described by Forest Commissioner Raymond Rendall as "the most explosive" ever recorded in the state. One forest fire along a five mile stretch of Maine coastline near Kennebunkport destroyed almost 200 buildings, mostly summer cottages, before it was brought under control.

Rendall said Maine' total loss so far was "roughly $2,500,000" for more than 50 separate fires.

A Massachusetts loss of more than $500,000 was estimated by Fire Warden Joseph L. Peabody, and officials throughout the New England area said danger was increasing as the nearly month-long drought continued.

In New York, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey ordered all state-owned woodlands closed at midnight tonight after fire wardens reported that 254 fires had broken out in 11 days in the Adirondack forests and other state controlled areas.

Twenty fires had burned more than 2,000 acres in New Jersey, where State Conservation Commissioner Morgan F. Larson ordered all campers' fire permits canceled after the 20 fires broke out yesterday.

A woods fire endangered a section of the White Mountain National Forest in New Hampshire, and blazes were reported in Vermont, the worst at Greensboro. Rhode Island had a 200-acre blaze near the Lincoln Downs race track.

Special Session Issue May Be Decided Today

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22 (AP) — Indications grew stronger today that the issue of a special session of Congress may be decided tomorrow when President Truman lays new facts on Europe's winter needs before Capitol Hill leaders.

Authoritative disclosures that an early meeting of Congress will be a prime topic were followed by announcement that the hour for the usual Thursday news conference has been left open. This may mean that Mr Truman is considering giving reporters the results of the meeting.

The Thursday meeting with newsmen ordinarily is held at 4 p. m. but Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said the hour this time could not be specified until tomorrow. The lawmakers have been invited by Mr. Truman for 2:30 p. m.

Gasoline To Be Rationed

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 22 (AP) — Eastern refiners have agreed to ration gasoline to filling stations in order to step up production of fuel oil for home and commercial use and avert a shortage, Lionel Jacobs, chairman of the Atlantic Coast Oil Conference, announced today.

Actor Reports Seeing Things "On Pink Side"

MGM Executive Says Many Writers Reds

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Actor Robert Taylor, starring at the big investigation of Communism in Hollywood, today named Karen Morley as a "disrupting influence" at meetings of the Screen Actors Guild.

The handsome actor told the House Committee on Un-American Activities he has seen plenty of things "on the pink side" in the movie business. He said indications of Communist activity there have increased in the last four or five years.

Taylor said Howard Da Silva always "seems to have something to say at the wrong times" at Actors' Guild sessions. He did not identify either Da Silva or Karen Morley.

The inquiry, playing for the first time to standing room only in the huge caucus room of the old House office building, also turned up:

Testimony from James K. McGuinness, Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer executive, that 10 or 15 leading Hollywood writers are Communists.

A promise from Committee Chairman J. Parnell Thomas (R-NJ) that evidence of Red spying will unfold next week.

An announcement from Thomas that some time this week or next the committee will bring out "complete records" on "at least 79" persons with subversive links who are "active" in Hollywood.

Evidence Of Espionage

Thomas told reporters "a large additional amount of material" will be uncovered when the committee goes more deeply into espionage charges made yesterday. The committee was told then that a test pilot was tricked by a theatrical agent into supplying secret information about a supersonic bomber and the information was relayed to Communist headquarters.

To a question whether the committee has definite evidence of Communist espionage, Thomas crisply replied:

"My answer is yes."

But for the hundreds of onlookers who crammed the hearing room and the halls and steps outside, the handsome Taylor was the center of interest. Most of them were gurgling women.

The tone for Taylor's appearance was set when he lifted his hand to take the oath to tell the truth.

"Get your hand back," yelled a photographer. "You're hiding your face."

Taylor complied as if his favorite director was giving orders.

"How long," asked Committee Investigator Robert E. Stripling, "have you been an actor?"

"I've been employed as an actor since 1934," Taylor answered, tweaking his left ear with thumb and forefinger.

The crowd thought the distinction was exceedingly funny.

Not "Forced" To Make Movie

Early in his testimony Taylor denied that he was "forced" to make the movie "Song of Russia." He did say he "objected" to it, but "they can't force you to make a picture."

He said he wanted to correct any previous impression to that effect.

Taylor said he objected to the original script because "it contained Communist propaganda, but a lot of my friends didn't agree with me." (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Bevin Hints Britain May Halt Tobacco Purchases

LONDON, Oct. 22 (AP) — Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin hinted tonight that Britain had decided to halt the purchase of American tobacco for an indefinite period. Subsequently a Board of Trade spokesman said an official announcement on the subject might be made tomorrow.

Speaking to his constituents in Wandsworth the Foreign Secretary described himself as a heavy smoker and added:

"I am conscious I have got to behave myself because we have had to stop buying tobacco. That doesn't mean you have to stop smoking as we have a lot in stock and we will go on using it."

Wreckage Of Plane Which May Have Crashed Year Ago Found In Virginia

MARION, Va., Oct. 22—(AP)—A thorough, but unofficial, examination today of the wreckage of the Cessna C-87 found on nearby Mt. Rogers failed to reveal sufficient clues for identification of occupants of the plane.

Col. Wyatt Exum, Air Corps reserve officer from Galax who was asked by Army Air Force officials in Washington to take charge of the investigation until an official party arrives, reported tonight after returning from the scene of the accident that no definite identification was available.

In New York, the wife and mother of Christopher A. Sulzbach, 29, said they had been notified by a spokesman for the Central Airport Flying Service of Camden, N. J., that the pilot had been identified as Sulzbach from personal papers and a wallet found in the wreckage.

"It is most difficult to determine whether there was one or two persons in the plane at the time of the crash," Col. Exum said, "since the remaining bones are scattered over a wide area."

The identification of the ship as a five-place, twin-engined ship was made definite by Col. Exum.

Col. Exum and his party which included Roy Greer, who found the wreckage Tuesday morning, and Will Roope, a hunter who was with Greer, said that from appearances the plane struck a large tree dead center while in full flight. The wreckage, they said, is strewn over a 100-yard area.

Full reports on the crash and identification of the victims meanwhile await the arrival of officials from Greenville, S. C., Army Air base either tonight or tomorrow.

There were indications that the crash may be a year or more old.

Motion To Congratulate Elizabeth Is "Boycotted" By Communist MP

LONDON, Oct. 22 (AP)—Willie Gallacher, one of the two Communists in the British Parliament, disassociated himself from a resolution congratulating Princess Elizabeth on her impending marriage today in a speech which Laborite McGovern called "most disgraceful."

Prime Minister Attlee and Conservative Leader Winston Churchill dropped political differences and joined in offering the motion, quickly adopted, expressing "our sincere cordial congratulations."

But Gallacher, amid cries of "sit down", said he did not want any part of the "lavish expenditure in connection with this affair."

Recalling that Edward VIII, now the Duke of Windsor, abdicated over a love affair, Gallacher said "we have been told in certain sections of the press that it is a question of mutual attraction (between Princess Elizabeth and Lt. Philip Mountbatten)—what is generally termed a love affair—but that is quite irrelevant because the uncle of the young lady had a love affair and lost his job as a consequence.

"Do not let us forget, when we hear what is going on here, that it was a Tory government backed by a huge Tory majority that 10 years ago threw the King off the throne and sent him a wanderer on the face of the earth."

Board of Trade President Harold Wilson told one of the secrets of the wedding preparations today. He said Elizabeth will get 100 extra clothing coupons for her "austerity" trousseau. The special allotment is a little over two years' clothing ration for the average miss.

Action To Thwart Red "Strike Plan" Is Taken By Chile

Four Areas Under Military Control

SANTIAGO, Chile, Oct. 22 (AP)—The Chilean government placed portions of four nitrate and copper producing provinces under military control tonight to thwart what was described os "Communistic strike plan."

Meanwhile, police announced that 200 Communist leaders had been seized and that warrants had been issued for 300 more accused of intigating a "rebellion" among Chilean coal miners.

The classification of sections of Tarapaca, Antofagasta and Atacama in Northern Chile and O'Higgins in Central Chile as emergency zones came 24 hours after this South American nation severed diplomatic relations with Russia and Czechoslovakia.

The government's decree covering these zones enables authorities to take action under extraordinary powers voted by Congress in August. Military control also has been established in the coal fields where the government has been coping with what authorities describe as a "revolutionary" strike since October 4.

The roundup of Communist leaders was being carried out in various parts of the country.

Valparaiso police reported 50 Communist leaders arrested there.

The newspaper Diario Ilustrado said four members of the party's central committee were among those arrested. It added that police were seeking all 45 members of the committee, which was charged officially with ordering the "rebellion" in the Schwager coal mine where dynamite was used yesterday in an effort to thwart troops sent into the pit to remove sitdown strikers.

An authoritative source indicated the government would ask Congress to lift the parliamentary immunity of any Communist deputies or senators who may have been implicated in the strike agitation, but disclaimed any intention of having the Communist party outlawed.

Navy Torpedo Bomber Crashes, Killing Three

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22 (AP) — A Navy torpedo bomber, flying with five other planes on a bombing practice mission, went into a spin and crashed into Southern San Francisco Bay late today. The Navy said the three fliers aboard were presumed dead.

Crash boats found the wreckage at the bottom of the bay but no trace of the bodies. The plane will be raised tomorrow.

The plane, part of Air Group 15 based at the Alameda Naval Air Station, crashed in shallow water about seven miles south of the San Mateo bridge.

"Best-Dressed" Judge Confesses He Has 400 Ties

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 22—(AP)—P. James Pellecchia, Jr., tall, dark and handsome, came out from behind his judicial robes today to admit to more than 400 ties after being informed he had won the title of the "best-dressed judge in the country."

Neatly attired in a double-breasted, blue flannel suit, white shirt, maroon and blue figured tie, blue nylon socks and black shoes, Police and Family Court Judge Pellecchia contended he didn't know he had ever been scouted for All-America honors.

His sartorial splendor was acclaimed by the Fashion Foundation of America.

"All-Union Shop" Is Suggested By ITU

BALTIMORE, Oct. 22 (AP) — An "all-union shop" was put before the government today by the International Typographical Union (AFL) as a substitute for the union's traditional closed shop, now banned by the Taft-Hartley law.

ITU President Woodruff Randolph testified at a National Labor Relations Board hearing that sample contracts providing for the "all-union" shop had been sent to 807 ITU locals as an answer to what he termed "union-busting tactics" of newspaper publishers and print shop owners.

The contracts include the clause: The employer "can not compel members to work with non-union printers and apprentices and therefore agrees that any refusal by its workers to work with non-union employes shall not constitute a breach of this agreement."

The ITU and its Baltimore local are charged in an NLRB complaint with "failing to bargain collectively in good faith," on charges brought by the Graphic Arts League, representing 22 commercial printing shops.

West Side Firemen Extinguish Two Blazes

West Side Fire Company was called to the Potomac Edison Company dump off McMullen Boulevard yesterday at 8:54 a. m. when rubbish in the area caught fire. The company used water from its booster pump to quench the flames.

The same company was called to Braddock Road yesterday at 12:27 p. m. when a grass fire burned over about two acres of the area. Water from the booster pump was again used to quench the fire as quickly as possible.

Md. State Police, Weather Bureau Will Co-operate

BALTIMORE, Oct. 22. (AP) — The Baltimore Weather Bureau and the Maryland State Police are working on a plan to speed weather reports to all sections of the state over the police teletype network.

George N. Brancato, meterologist in charge of the Weather Bureau, and Col. Beverly Ober, superintendent of the state police, said their objective is to make weather and road reports from all parts of the state quickly available.

"During bad weather, Col. Ober said, "we have handled as many as 1,200 calls a day from people wanting to know what conditions are in a particular section of the state.

"This clogs the lines to our barracks and hinders normal police duties. This plan should be of service to the public and will aid us in planning patrols and assignments when the weather is bad."

Brancato said the reports should be of great value to farmers and trucking concerns.

County agents will have the job of making the weather reports available to the public once they have been distributed on the police teletype network.

The network itself will carry a two-way flow of weather news, if the plan works out.

Brancato will furnish detailed forecasts several times daily to the state police headquarters at Pikesville, which will put them on the wire to the nine outlying barracks.

Troopers in the field will report weather and road conditions to their barracks, and these will be flashed back to the Weather Bureau by way of Pikesville.

Iran Parliament Voids Oil Pact With Russia

TEHRAN, Oct. 22. (AP)—The Iranian Majlis (parliament) declared null and void today the agreement negotiated by Premier Ahmed Qavam in 1946 which would have given Russia the right to explore for oil in Northern Iran.

The secret vote was almost unanimous among the deputies present—102 for and only two against.

Qavam declared from the speaker's platform before the secret ballot that the resolution proposing to reject the agreement "is not to Iran's advantage and we must not deal with the problem in haste."

He said some changes were made to meet his objections.

Hearing On High Prices Concluded At Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Oct. 22—(AP)—At the conclusion of a congressional sub-committee hearing on high prices, Sen. O'Conor (D-Md.), said the two days of testimony showed the reason why prices in this area have increased more rapidly than in others may be explained in part by the fact prices were lower here when the spiral started.

He said he was in agreement with Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.), however, that special investigators should be sent here when Congress reconvenes.

The hearing, before the Eastern Subcommittee of the Joint Committee on the Economic Report, was taken up today by testimony from meat packers, other food producers, representatives of labor organizations and consumers.

Those handling or selling foods all declared they were not getting excess profits out of high food prices. The labor spokesmen and consumers demanded reconvening of Congress to re-establish price controls.

Father Works To Reach Body Sealed In Quarry

PUEBLO, Colo., Oct. 22. (AP)—A father began today the grim job of hacking through 30 feet of limestone to learn if a body sealed in a rock quarry near here is that of his 17-year-old son.

Byron Vannest, an older son and two neighbors began the work with picks and dynamite. They plan to work "all day and part of the night," to reach the body which they are unsatisfied is that of Kenneth Vannest.

The youth disappeared March 24, and three months later boys playing at the quarry found some of Kenneth's personal effects near a cave entrance. A volunteer was lowered down a shaft in the cave and reported a body wedged far in the dark recesses. He was unable to reach it, and could give only a meager description.

Thesis On United States

His thesis on the United States was this:

Before the Second World War, United States "imperialists" followed an isolationist policy of non-interference in the affairs of Europe and Asia, but in the new postwar period "Wall Street bosses launched a new policy.

"They put forward a program of using all their military aid and economic might, not only to hold onto but to strengthen the foreign positions in the war period and to expand — replacing Germany and Japan with America in the world market.

"The United States set as its goal world domination by American imperialism."

Palestine Talks Enter New Phase

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 22 (AP) — The Palestine problem was turned over today to two major subcommittees for separate study of the Jewish-supported partition proposal and the Arab country demand for immediate independence of the Holy Land as a unit with its Arab population majority intact.

They must report their findings to the 57-member United Nations Palestine Committee by next Wednesday.

The committee chairman, Dr. Herbert V. Evatt, of Australia, emphasized that these two subcommittees would study and discuss the two approaches to the problem "on an equal basis."

A third subcommittee, suggested by Evatt and approved late yesterday by the full committee, will try to bring Palestine Arab and Jewish leaders together in an effort to resolve their differences.

Creation of the special groups without mention of the minority report of the United Nations Special Committee on Palestine recommending a federalized Palestine nation was interpreted as meaning the minority proposal had, as one United States spokesman said, "gone by the boards."

The committee rejected by a 32 6 vote a Russian suggestion to have all 11 nations of the Security Council, plus Uruguay, Czechoslovakia, Sweden and Venezuela, serve as the subcommittee on partition.

Maryland Legionnaire May Be Published Again

BALTIMORE, Oct. 22 (AP) — The turbulent life of the monthly publication of the Maryland American Legion had another chance for revival today.

The Legion Executive Committee voted last night in a stormy session to pay the $3,600 in debts of the Maryland Legionnaire and named a committee to study advisability of resuming publication. The paper was suspended last month after being revived in February following a lapse of several years.

Action To Thwart Red "Strike Plan" Is Taken By Chile

Four Areas Under Military Control

SANTIAGO, Chile, Oct. 22 (AP)—The Chilean government placed portions of four nitrate and copper producing provinces under military control tonight to thwart what was described as "Communistic strike plan."

Meanwhile, police announced that 200 Communist leaders had been seized and that warrants had been issued for 300 more accused of intigating a "rebellion" among Chilean coal miners.

The classification of sections of Tarapaca, Antofagasta and Atacama in Northern Chile and O'Higgins in Central Chile as emergency zones came 24 hours after this South American nation severed diplomatic relations with Russia and Czechoslovakia.

The government's decree covering these zones enables authorities to take action under extraordinary powers voted by Congress in August. Military control also has been established in the coal fields where the government has been coping with what authorities describe as a "revolutionary" strike since October 4.

The roundup of Communist leaders was being carried out in various parts of the country.

Valparaiso police reported 50 Communist leaders arrested there.

The newspaper Diario Ilustrado said four members of the party's central committee were among those arrested. It added that police were seeking all 45 members of the committee, which was charged officially with ordering the "rebellion" in the Schwager coal mine where dynamite was used yesterday in an effort to thwart troops sent into the pit to remove sitdown strikers.

An authoritative source indicated the government would ask Congress to lift the parliamentary immunity of any Communist deputies or senators who may have been implicated in the strike agitation, but disclaimed any intention of having the Communist party outlawed.

Navy Torpedo Bomber Crashes, Killing Three

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22 (AP) — A Navy torpedo bomber, flying with five other planes on a bombing practice mission, went into a spin and crashed into Southern San Francisco Bay late today. The Navy said the three fliers aboard were presumed dead.

Crash boats found the wreckage at the bottom of the bay but no trace of the bodies. The plane will be raised tomorrow.

The plane, part of Air Group 15 based at the Alameda Naval Air Station, crashed in shallow water about seven miles south of the San Mateo bridge.

"Best-Dressed" Judge Confesses He Has 400 Ties

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 22—(AP)—P. James Pellecchia, Jr., tall, dark and handsome, came out from behind his judicial robes today to admit to more than 400 ties after being informed he had won the title of the "best-dressed judge in the country."

Neatly attired in a double-breasted, blue flannel suit, white shirt, maroon and blue figured tie, blue nylon socks and black shoes, Police and Family Court Judge Pellecchia contended he didn't know he had ever been scouted for All-America honors.

His sartorial splendor was acclaimed by the Fashion Foundation of America.

"All-Union Shop" Is Suggested By ITU

BALTIMORE, Oct. 22 (AP) — An "all-union shop" was put before the government today by the International Typographical Union (AFL) as a substitute for the union's traditional closed shop, now banned by the Taft-Hartley law.

ITU President Woodruff Randolph testified at a National Labor Relations Board hearing that sample contracts providing for the "all-union" shop had been sent to 807 ITU locals as an answer to what he termed "union-busting tactics" of newspaper publishers and print shop owners.

The contracts include the clause: The employer "can not compel members to work with non-union printers and apprentices and therefore agrees that any refusal by its workers to work with non-union employes shall not constitute a breach of this agreement."

The ITU and its Baltimore local are charged in an NLRB complaint with "failing to bargain collectively in good faith," on charges brought by the Graphic Arts League, representing 22 commercial printing shops.

West Side Firemen Extinguish Two Blazes

West Side Fire Company was called to the Potomac Edison Company dump off McMullen Boulevard yesterday at 8:54 a. m. when rubbish in the area caught fire. The company used water from its booster pump to quench the flames.

The same company was called to Braddock Road yesterday at 12:27 p. m. when a grass fire burned over about two acres of the area. Water from the booster pump was again used to quench the fire as quickly as possible.

Md. State Police, Weather Bureau Will Co-operate

BALTIMORE, Oct. 22. (AP) — The Baltimore Weather Bureau and the Maryland State Police are working on a plan to speed weather reports to all sections of the state over the police teletype network.

George N. Brancato, meterologist in charge of the Weather Bureau, and Col. Beverly Ober, superintendent of the state police, said their objective is to make weather and road reports from all parts of the state quickly available.

"During bad weather, Col. Ober said, "we have handled as many as 1,200 calls a day from people wanting to know what conditions are in a particular section of the state.

"This clogs the lines to our barracks and hinders normal police duties. This plan should be of service to the public and will aid us in planning patrols and assignments when the weather is bad."

Brancato said the reports should be of great value to farmers and trucking concerns.

County agents will have the job of making the weather reports available to the public once they have been distributed on the police teletype network.

The network itself will carry a two-way flow of weather news, if the plan works out.

Brancato will furnish detailed forecasts several times daily to the state police headquarters at Pikesville, which will put them on the wire to the nine outlying barracks.

Troopers in the field will report weather and road conditions to their barracks, and these will be flashed back to the Weather Bureau by way of Pikesville.

Iran Parliament Voids Oil Pact With Russia

TEHRAN, Oct. 22. (AP)—The Iranian Majlis (parliament) declared null and void today the agreement negotiated by Premier Ahmed Qavam in 1946 which would have given Russia the right to explore for oil in Northern Iran.

The secret vote was almost unanimous among the deputies present—102 for and only two against.

Qavam declared from the speaker's platform before the secret ballot that the resolution proposing to reject the agreement "is not to Iran's advantage and we must not deal with the problem in haste."

Hearing On High Prices Concluded At Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Oct. 22—(AP)—At the conclusion of a congressional sub-committee hearing on high prices, Sen. O'Conor (D-Md.), said the two days of testimony showed the reason why prices in this area have increased more rapidly than in others may be explained in part by the fact prices were lower here when the spiral started.

He said he was in agreement with Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.), however, that special investigators should be sent here when Congress reconvenes.

The hearing, before the Eastern Subcommittee of the Joint Committee on the Economic Report, was taken up today by testimony from meat packers, other food producers, representatives of labor organizations and consumers.

Those handling or selling foods all declared they were not getting excess profits out of high food prices. The labor spokesmen and consumers demanded reconvening of Congress to re-establish price controls.

Father Works To Reach Body Sealed In Quarry

PUEBLO, Colo., Oct. 22. (AP)—A father began today the grim job of hacking through 30 feet of limestone to learn if a body sealed in a rock quarry near here is that of his 17-year-old son.

Byron Vannest, an older son and two neighbors began the work with picks and dynamite. They plan to work "all day and part of the night," to reach the body which they are unsatisfied is that of Kenneth Vannest.

The youth disappeared March 24, and three months later boys playing at the quarry found some of Kenneth's personal effects near a cave entrance. A volunteer was lowered down a shaft in the cave and reported a body wedged far in the dark recesses. He was unable to reach it, and could give only a meager description.

Thesis On United States

His thesis on the United States was this:

Before the Second World War, United States "imperialists" followed an isolationist policy of noninterference in the affairs of Europe and Asia, but in the new postwar period "Wall Street bosses launched a new policy.

"They put forward a program of using all their military aid and economic might, not only to hold onto but to strengthen the foreign positions in the war period and to expand — replacing Germany and Japan with America in the world market.

"The United States set as its goal world domination by American imperialism."

Palestine Talks Enter New Phase

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 22 (AP) — The Palestine problem was turned over today to two major subcommittees for separate study of the Jewish-supported partition proposal and the Arab country demand for immediate independence of the Holy Land as a unit with its Arab population majority intact.

They must report their findings to the 57-member United Nations Palestine Committee by next Wednesday.

The committee chairman, Dr. Herbert V. Evatt, of Australia, emphasized that these two subcommittees would study and discuss the two approaches to the problem "on an equal basis."

A third subcommittee, suggested by Evatt and approved late yesterday by the full committee, will try to bring Palestine Arab and Jewish leaders together in an effort to resolve their differences.

Creation of the special groups without mention of the minority report of the United Nations Special Committee on Palestine recommending a federalized Palestine nation was interpreted as meaning the minority proposal had, as one United States spokesman said, "gone by the boards."

The committee rejected by a 32 6 vote a Russian suggestion to have all 11 nations of the Security Council, plus Uruguay, Czechoslovakia, Sweden and Venezuela, serve as the subcommittee on partition.

Maryland Legionnaire May Be Published Again

BALTIMORE, Oct. 22 (AP) — The turbulent life of the monthly publication of the Maryland American Legion had another chance for revival today.

The Legion Executive Committee voted last night in a stormy session to pay the $3,600 in debts of the Maryland Legionnaire and named a committee to study advisability of resuming publication. The paper was suspended last month after being revived in February following a lapse of several years.

"Speaking Frankly" Carried Some Unique Value

Among all the wartime memoirs that have been rolling off the press, the series, "Speaking Frankly," by former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes, and of which this newspaper carried a lengthy review, has some unique value. It is the background of the most crucial issue facing the world today—the widening split between Soviet Russia and the western democracies. Byrnes was not only in the midst of those fateful conferences at Yalta and Potsdam. He made voluminous shorthand notes of what happened and what was said. These are the basis of his shrewd, judicious, above all, frank report to the American people.

The former Secretary of State, from a sense of public duty, places before the American public the vital conversations behind the scenes. He is determined to throw shafts of light into the hitherto dark corners of the Yalta talks which Roosevelt had with Stalin and Churchill; to tell the real story of Potsdam; to expose the signicant conflicts between Stalin and Winston Churchill—the first man to understand fully what Russia was getting at.

Byrnes' estimates of the characters of Stalin and Molotov and his informed speculations about Russian motives have a great, if depressing, value today. While denying the inevitability of armed conflict with Russia, he states bluntly that the Soviet goal is "to dominate, in one way or another, all of Europe."

One legend which Byrnes shatters is the "liberal" notion, preached by Henry Wallace and echoed by Pravda, that Russo-American relations did not deteriorate until after the death of Roosevelt. As Byrnes shows, they were deteriorating rapidly in the two months between Yalta and Roosevelt's death. One gathers that the facts caused Roosevelt to repent of the wishful-thinking that motivated his appeasement of Russia. At any rate, only a few hours before his death Roosevelt cabled Churchill his conviction that "we must be firm" with the Russians. That message is the main lesson carried by the past two years of world history and the chief moral of the Byrnes articles.

We cannot help but observe, however, that had Roosevelt backed up Churchill's proposal to carry the Allied invasion through the Balkans, the underbelly of Europe, instead of through Normandy, Russia would not be holding the position she does today, and there would be no need of a watch-dog commission along the frontier of Greece. Churchill, as conditions exist today, proved himself of possessing greater foresight than did the late President Roosevelt.

Usually after a great war historians must wait years before they have access to the memoirs of the leading patricipants. Thanks to "Speaking Frankly," the American readers can learn today, even as Vishinsky shrieks, the United Nations shudder and Stalin smiles, what happened behind the scenes to bring the world to its critical pass.

Britain's fumbling Attlee urges the people to work harder. Churchill called it sweat, and lost the premiership.

Nature Has A Way Of Evening Things Up, A Bit

A comparison of temperature readings for the first twenty days in October this year and in 1946 show the present month has been warmer than last, which reminds us that Nature has a way of evening things up. Last Spring, if you recall, and reaching up into July, heavy rains and chilly weather delayed plantings in this section. There was fear that many crops would not mature in time for a good Fall harvest. And to some degree, that fear was borne out because the high humidity—unusual in this area—experienced during the period when tomatoes and corn should have been maturing, bred blight and mildew that caused much vegetation to rot or fall off vines before it was ready to market. But now Nature seems to be trying to make amends—too late, perhaps.

As the October temperature readings attest, this part of the country, and Allegany county in particular, has been enjoying most unusual fine weather. The majority of days have been above normal and the sun has bent its efforts at helping to mature those vegetables which were held back, earlier, and which escaped the semi-killing frost in September, and to grow those things that depend on an open Fall to become well enough established in the soil to withstand the rigors of Winter.

The frost in September was not classed as a killing frost by the Weather Bureau, although it did damage. Then there has been the lack of rain. There has been only a trace since early September. The lack of moisture is causing apples to drop.

But by and large the current spell of Indian summer is more than welcome. It is one reason why the Government has announced an increase in the corn crop estimate, a bit of news which should be joyfully received at this time when a hungry world needs help from the United States and the warm weather has been a great help to those who are still waiting for that load of coal to be delivered.

If the weather can continue mild until after October 24, which is the average date for the first killing frost in this section, Nature will indeed have done much to rectify some of the errors of Spring and early Summer.

If, as Henry Wallace predicts, this country loses the next war, perhaps it will not have to pay for it.

GIs In Business

Secretary of Commerce Harriman has announced that 800,000 veterans have gone into business for themselves since the end of the war.

A desire for independence, to be his own boss, has prompted many veterans to go into business for themselves. This is a natural reaction for those who have been under military restraint. Government aid in financing has made it possible for many of these young men to strike out for themselves.

The fact proprietors were in service will have nothing whatever to do with success or failure of these ventures into the realms of business and trade. A certain percentage have the qualifications and perseverance necessary for success. Others will fail for lack of them.

All of them are young Americans with the desire to get ahead, and be their own men. All of which is commendable.

CHRONIC NASAL DISCHARGE

THE anatomy of the nose can be understood better if it is visualized as a miniature Monmouth cave separated into two parts by a partition down the center [septum]. Three turbinates, or folds, hang from the roof and sides of the organ; smaller cavities [sinuses], connected by tiny passageways, surround the entire structure. There are even openings leading to the eyes, ears, and back of the throat.

As a result, the membranes lining the nose are continuous with the sinuses, throat, mouth, ears, and eyes. This explains how organisms causing a simple cold can spread to nearby tissues. In addition, it emphasizes the fact that a nasal discharge may have several origns.

Many individuals are bothered constantly by the dripping of mucus down the back of the throat. Most victims blame the sinuses but actually the trouble lies in the membranes of the nose and turbinates. Moreover, the channels become blocked now and then, either partially or completely. Both sides may be involved but stoppage often occurs alternately. The manifestation is especially annoying in the evening and early morning. It is better during certain seasons than others and, according to Westcott, has a tendency to grow worse when the moon is full or ascending.

Obstruction may be associated with ringing of the ears, a sense of fullness in the head, intermittent bouts of pain over the sinus areas, and constant clearing of the throat. There are many causes for this group of symptoms but in general they fall into two main categories: infection or allergy. Lesser possibilities include polyps, deviated septum, and chronic sinus conditions.

This persistent disorder is known technically as "chronic rhinitis" although when allergy is the culprit it is labeled "vasomotor rhinitis." Regardless of the origin, tobacco, dust, alcohol, and over-fatigue prove aggravating.

A careful study is necessary to determine whether the membranec are swollen because they have been invaded by bacteria or are sensitive to some irritant. X-rays may be required as well as a microscopic study of the secretions. If infection is not a factor, allergy is almost certain to be responsible, especially when there is a family history of sensitivity or the patient has suffered in the past from migraine, hives, asthma, or eczema.

It is not always easy to ascertain the allergen by skin tests and elimination diets. Such procedures may disclose several, which only complicates the situation. Nevertheless, by avoiding the offenders and using nonallergic cosmetics, employing pillows with nonporous covers, avoiding house dust and pets, and stopping the tobacco habit, much can be accomplished. Attention must also be paid to drafts, changing temperatures, dampness, excessive dryness, and air cooling since unfavorable environments frequently precipitate an attack.

If house dust, feathers, animal dander, or orris are to blame, injections may prove beneficial. The daily administration of 50,000 to 100,000 units of vitamin A is sometimes helpful as well as large doses of vitamin C. For temporary relief, nose drops or inhalants may be of value. The same can be said of benadryl and pyribenzamine, which are so useful in combating hay fever.

DIABETES AND SEX

W. M. writes: Does diabetes occur more frequently in women?

REPLY

Yes, three out of every five individuals who develop the disease after 40 are women. On th other hand, this ration is different in early life, when more boys than girls become victims.

MASTICATION

X.Y.Z. writes: Is food that is chewed thoroly more fattening than when bolted?

REPLY

Probably the same number of calories will be provided. The main purpose of chewing is to break up the food and mix it with saliva. The enzymes found in this secretion play a small part in digestion.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Ever rescue a fireman?

A smoke eater in Mobile, Alabama, was injured sliding into second base. He was practicing for the annual ball game and the officials said it was in "line of duty' and he was entitled to pay.

Naturally, it was "line of duty." One of the spectators was singing, "Smoke, smoke, smoke" and he reached down for his bucket.

Not only that . . . he was confused. On the way to the field a cop stopped the fire truck and asked him, "where you goin', to a ball game?"

But they had to give him his pay. Look what he did . . . He went out on the ball field to fight for the honor of dear old Hook n-Ladder after spending all day over a hot bungalow.

But this "line of duty" idea brings up some interesting points. If this should be applied to other professions, there would be strong repercussions . . . writers would start getting bonuses for each new ulcer.

Lawyers would get special "line of duty" if they scratched themselves on the rear bumpers of ambulances.

Of course, in my brother's work they already have special pay for the risks they have to take. Naturally, they don't refer to it as "line of duty" pay. . . they just call it "bail."

But a comedian doesn't get extra pay for taking chances. If you have ever stepped out on that stage with a script full of eggs, you know what I mean.

Truman Forgot To Consult The Hen; No War With Russia Is Prediction Of Top Advisers; Truman Insists That Democrats Favor San Francisco

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22—Trouble over poultryless Thursday might have been avoided had the White House let one hand know what the other hand was doing. On the Sunday afternoon President Truman made his foodsaving appeal to the nation, Secretary of Agriculture Anderson sat outside the door of press secretary Ross, waiting to get a chance to see the boss's speech. But the chance never came. Poultryless Thursday was announced without benefit of advice from U. S. agricultural experts who had been studying her majesty the hen for weeks, were convinced that more chicken should be eaten, rather than less. . . . Later, Chuck Luckman, harassed and unenvied food czar, was asked to accept a compromise proposal whereby the public was urged to eat stewing hens. Biggest food problem still remains grain fed on the farm. It's disappearing at an alarming rate.

Ambassadorial Report: Three top ambassadors reported to the President last week that there would be no war with Russia, though a serious incident in Germany where U. S.-Russian troops are cheek-and-jowl could start almost anything. . . . The ambassadors were: Lou Douglas from London; Walter Bedell Smith from Moscow; Bob Murphy from Germany. . . . All three urged a special session of Congress. Truman countered that Congressmen couldn't be back from European trips before December 1, and not much could be accomplished during the Christmas holidays. However, he promised to consider it further. . . . The ambassadors reported that the European food situation was so critical that even a few weeks saved by a special session would be important.

Latin-American diplomats to the United Nations who usually get plenty of advice from their North American diplomatic brethren so far haven't received any tips on how to vote on Palestine. Quoth U. S. delegate Herschel Johnson: "Search your hearts and minds and take your own moral position." . . . Secret cables to the State Department report that the Norwegian Government has its own way of dealing with Commies. The Cabinet has decided to abolish the Communist party if Norwegian Communists join the 9-power Comintern.

Purely Political—The Democratic National Committee has now engaged 500 rooms in San Francisco hotels for next July. This means that for the first time in two decades the Democrats will move to the Far West.

It was President Truman himself who insisted on this. Democratic leaders argued that Eastern radio listeners couldn't hear the speeches after 8 p. m. Pacific Time, which would be 11 p. m. Eastern Time. . . . Truman, however, ruled that in order to win, it was necessary to carry California.

So he has decided California is to have a good look at the Democrats. . . Michigan's prosecuting Senator Ferguson wouldn't mind finding a loophole to crawl out of the Howard Hughes investigation. Reason: Army tests show that the XF11, recommended by Elliott Roosevelt and built by Hughes, flies better than some other Army photo reconnaissance planes. What's more, it looks as if Hughes' giant Herculean will fly after all.

Must We Fight Russia????—Most significant talk newspaper editors had in Washington last week was an off-the-record conference with George Kennan, General Marshall's chief Russian policy maker. Here are the highlights: Russia's tough talk is nothing new. It's been going on for 160 years, under both Czars and the Soviets. It was soft-pedalled in the 1920's and 1930's because the Bolsheviks were too weak to talk tough. . . . The main problem in Europe is the vacuum in France and Italy. This vacuum has to be filled. Big question is whether Russia or the United States will move in. . . . The vacuum was recognized by Russia even during the war, and Stalin prepared then to fill it. The USA doesn't want to fill it, but does want to see it filled by democratic Frenchmen and Italians themselves. . . . Whoever first fills this hole in Europe will be successful in dominating all Europe.

People of Europe are afraid of Russia but not of the United States. Because they are scared stiff, they would appease Russia before they helped the United States.

Inside Russia, the people are cynical, don't take Moscow's propaganda too seriously. Vishinsky's barbed thunderbolts at the UN are nothing new. . . . He's only saying what he has said for two years, only this time it's louder. . . . There is no real worry over war with Russia. Its people haven't recovered. Furthermore, the Russians figure they can get what they want by political means.

Most significant key to the fact that Russia doesn't want war is that the Soviets always try to ride out war. They made a deal with Hitler in the last war in order to stay on the sidelines, and the last thing they want is war now with the United States. . . . "We are very far from war," concluded Kennan.

Whisky Boys Retaliate—Government officials sitting in on the secret food talks say privately that the beer boys are tougher than the whisky boys—and the latter are tough enough. . . . After food czar Luckman had obtained a whisky holiday from the distillers, they held a secret meeting in New York in order to retaliate. One proposal was that distillers who weren't consulted by Luckman would continue making alcohol, selling same to other distillers. . . . Distillers had secured a letter from Attorney General Tom Clark permitting them to cooperate for purposes of the whisky holiday without violating the Anti-Trust Act. Now they are using this letter to cooperate on other matters. One is a propaganda campaign to show up Luckman. . . . Criticism of Luckman closely paralleling the distillers' ballyhoo was published last week in George Sokolsky's column. He said: "Why cut the distillers and the brewers and not the soap companies? . . . Not a word is said about reducing the consumption of fats.". . . It is not known how close Sokolsky is to the brewers. He was once exposed by a Senate investigation as having been paid $14,000 by Tom Girdler of Republic Steel, and $6,000 by the National Association of Manufacturers at the very same time he was writing for newspapers. . . . Mrs. "Pappy" O'Daniel, wife of the reactionary Texas Senator, also informed a Senate committee that Sokolsky was one of her husband's ghost writers. . . . Incidentally, less grain fed to hogs and cattle means less fat for Luckman's soap company—and he is relentlessly urging less fattening on the feed lots.

Recognition Of Two Worlds Comes From French Election

By MARK SULLIVAN

Beneath the eager interpretation in this country of the French election this week lies recognition of the division of the world into two, with the United States heading one, Soviet Russia the other. But for the bearing of the French election on that, the American people would have taken no more interest in it than decades ago, when they hardly knew the names of French political parties and knew little more about French political leaders than that their names were difficult to pronounce.

It may seem far-fetched to suggest that today a French election has for America somewhat the interest of one in Maine, important as showing a trend which concerns us. As in Maine, leaders on both sides have always been conscious of the nation-wide bearing of their elections, with each striving to make the effect is desired, so in France were both sides aware of the effect on the world especially the United States. The same was true of the election in Italy a week before. In both countries, leaders on both sides strove to impress America, and did so for the effect on the world conflict between America and Russia.

Odd Figure Of Speech

In France the anti-Communist leader, General Charles de Gaulle, during his campaign, urging his followers to effort said, "The United States has marshalled its power to counteract Soviet ambitions, and there is not a free man in the world who does not welcome this American decision." And against the Communists, General de Gaulle charged that they were "always striving to serve the interests of the Soviet dictatorship." In the Italian election, the Communists said the same thing in reverse, calling the anti-Communists "Judases," who had sold out for the American dollars. Odd figure of speech for a Communist!

Communsts world heads saw the issue the same. Their overall strategy is to make Europe decide whether to be pro-Russian or pro-United States, and they counted on the French election to be anti-United States. Some weeks preceding, the Communist world heads, in a meeting at Belgrade, had set up the "International Communist Bureau." After announcement of this, a Communist leader said that America should get out of Europe, and "perhaps she will if she gets a sharp slap on the wrist, and perhaps she will get just that in the French election."

Washington interpretation of the French election stresses the most obvious aspect, that the anti-Communist movement led by de Gaulle received more votes than any other political group. Interpretation that goes a little deeper stresses a more far-reaching effect, not only of the anti-Communist victory in France but also of the one in Italy, where the anti-Communist vote was almost doubled.

The deeper meaning has to do with the setting up of the Communist Interational Bureau. At the Belgrade meeting at which this was done, Communist leaders in both France and Italy were present. This open identity with Russian Communism, coupled with the Communist defeats in France and Italy, will make it almost impossible for any government in either country to allow Communists in the cabinet. Communists would thus have no official standing.

More Far-Reaching Interpretation

There is an ever more far-reaching interpretation, and one that is ominous. Well-informed observers in Washington think it likely that the Communists will not make further attempts to win elections in European countries. They think that the setting up of the International Communist Bureaus means that the Communists are not going to even pretend to work by means of elections and democratic processes. Such decision would be natural for never in any country have the Communists achieved power by use of the ballot in a democratic election.

But abandonment by the Communists heads of reliance upon democratically held elections would be ominous for France and Italy. These and other countries may reasonably apprehend that the next round of the Communist drive may take the form of strikes to cripple industry and their other familiar communist techniques of conspiracy and secret fifth columns. To France and Italy, a new and intensified round of crippling strikes would be an immediate and serious detriment.

Truman Aides Deal With Wages And Prices From Own Viewpoint

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 — Have increases kept pace with the cost of living, and is it correct to say that wages have been increased far beyond the rise in the cost of living?

This question has been projected into the national forum of debate by Administration officials who are answering it from their own partisan standpoint by selecting those facts which suit their purpose

Thus Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach has just made two speeches —one before the convention of the American Federation of Labor and one before the CIO convention in which he endeavored to prove that only the figures since V-J Day are the ones to examine in answering whether wages have kept pace with the rise in the cost of living. He says:

"Usually figures are given out as a comparison between 1939 and 1947. Everyone knows that during the war years wage increases were not objected to by the manufacturer because he knew that the government would pay the bill, either in adjustments of their contracts on which they were working, or contract settlements after the war. Everyone knows that in 1939 we had a loose labor market under which the purchasers of labor had a pool of six million unemployed upon which they might call if they desired to keep the wages down. The subject which is of importance and the subject about which the American people want to know is what happened during the period since V-J Day and since June 1946 when price control was abolished. . . . Those are the pertinent figures and those are the figures to which the American people should pay attention."

Mistake In Appraisal Debatable

If anyone else besides a Cabinet officer had made the foregoing statement it would have been passed up as just a piece of politicial demagoguery but Mr. Schwellenbach is a man who has sat on the federal bench and he is one of the best-liked men in Washington, so when he makes a mistake in the appraisal of facts his statement deserves to be debated.

Now it isn't clear just what the attitude of employers in agreeing to wage increases during the war has to do with the statistical truth that either wages were or were not increased during the war. The motive for granting the increases is as irrelevant as the argument of employers that to avoid strikes and interruptions in wartime they yielded regularly to the demands of unions.

The real point is that wages increased very substantially during the war period and it is just arbitrary to ask the American people to forget what happened since 1939 an dto focus attention only on what happened either in wage increases or price rises since V-J Day, focus only on the price readjust-The war period saw a rise in wages but not a commensurate rise in prices. To ignore the raises in pay given from 1939 to 1945 and to ments made since 1945 is to select a part of the story and ignore the rest. At least it is fair to tell both sets of figures and let the public be the judge.

Price-Wage Summary

From April 1942 to January 1946, the period of price control, living costs rose 12.9 per cent while average hourly earnings of factory workers gained 22 per cent and average weekly earnings rose 17.2 per cent. During the entire World War II period and post-war period—from 1939 to August 1947—increases in wages and earnings far outran the rise in living costs. Thus average hourly earnings rose 93.6 per cent and average weekly earnings increased 106.6 per cent while the cost of living rose only 61 per cent. The average price of manufactured goods rose only 81 per cent.

In the period of price decontrol alone, selected by Mr. Schwellenbach, prices rose faster than unit wage and material costs. But prices had been held down during the control era and merely resumed a level approximating the normal relationship with unit costs when price controls were removed.

THESE DAYS By George E. Sokolsky

Truman and Anderson

THERE is this that is right about Harry Truman's attitude toward the Luckman Dramatization and Clinton P. Anderson's attitude—as contradictory as they are.

Harry Truman is faced by two conditions:

1. That George Marshall committed this country to some specific figure of food exports in a relationship to the export of 18,000,000 tons of food last harvest year and that those European countries (16 to 1), which come within the scope of the Marshall Plan, expect a delivery of about 1,500,000 tons a month which we do not possess to deliver.

Therefore Mr. Truman wants to conduct a campaign for voluntary abnegation among the American people which will produce as many tons as possible to make up the difference between what is now impossible and what may perhaps be possible. It is bad arithmetic, but he does not want to let George Marshall down, nor does he want to let Europe down. Criticism of the figures or the plan of sacrifice does not necessarily mean criticism of aid to Europe. It may, in fact, assure such aid.

2. Harry Truman wants to sustain government buying of farm commodities at high prices during a campaign year even though farm prices have run beyond parity. He does not wish farm prices to collapse or even to return to parity until after 1948, if at all. Although this produces an inflationary price structure in the larger cities, he risks it.

One of these propositions is defended on the ground that it will save Europe from Communism; the other that it will save the United States from a Republican victory.

Clinton P. Anderson, an extraordinarily competent Secretary of Agriculture, knows, because he understands his job:

1. That the United States has a short crop in grains this year because of the drought;

2. That we can, at most, export about 13,000,000 tons of food this year comfortably;

3. That George Marshall has overpromised and is asking for stretching beyond our capacity in this harvest year;

4. That if we attempt now to export 1,500,000 tons of food to Europe, we shall have a terrifying shortage next March, April and May which will be calamitous in the United States and devastating to Europe;

5. That there is so much poultry and so many eggs in the United States that it is foolhardy, if not dangerous, to have a poultryless and eggless day;

6. That the great need of the world is fats and that reducing fat will do incalculable harm.

All of this Clinton P. Anderson production on cattle on the hoof did not tell me, but it can be accepted from his previous attitude, his 1946 food campaign, his public contradiction of Presidential statements and from the reports which are available that that is his general and correct position. That position is the only one that Anderson can consistently support. In fact, no Secretary of Agriculture, at all honest on his job, could take any other position. It is a matter, of course, of perspective.

Unfortunately, the President was sold a bill of goods to accept a program prepared by an anonymous person or group which Charles Luckman admitted was handed to him, by whom he did not say. The fact is that Secretary of Agriculture Anderson was by-passed and that Herbert Hoover, who had been Truman's food expert, was by-passed. It does not matter that Hoover was by-passed, as he is a private citizen, but the Secretary of Agriculture has a constitutional responsibility which cannot be ignored.

Instead the Luckman Committee was created to dramatize, by the huckster scare device, shortages which do not exist, while they ignore such a shortage as fats which does exist.

The confusion created by Luckman's Dramatization would ordinarily be meaningless, but in a year of a reduced grain harvest it must become a menace at the end of the harvest year—a menace not only to the United States but to those whom we hope to aid.

Congress ought to find out who wrote the plan that was handed to Luckman and who ordered the by-passing of the Secretary of Agriculture. They will discover the wit of the smart boys whose resignations Truman had accepted before Henry Wallace scared him into taking actions which run counter to his judgment.

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

We wouldn't have to bother about a third world war if some 1917 diplomat had only stipulated best two out of three.

However, we have made some improvements on the atomic bomb. We can throw strikes from six thousand miles out.

It's long-distance strategy like calling up the pawnbroker and asking him to wind your watch.

Our scientists have mixed supersonic swift with atomic allergy. The result is an octave higher than the crack of doom.

And you know Stalin reads the papers. That's why he is afraid of dropping the other shoe.

An Alpine plebiscite was followed by drinking and dancing in the streets. The population voted to join France, which has plenty more wine.

This form of municipal progress was found guilty with extinguishing circumstances in 1919 when we went drier than a peck of potatoes.

There is going to be more voting up in the Saar and Ruhr in the instantaneous future. And if your memory doesn't stutter that is how the second world war got its driver's license.

A vote is something like a railroad ticket. You get on and off at the depots. But you cannot make the engineer back up

"Speaking Frankly" Carried Some Unique Value

Among all the wartime memoirs that have been rolling off the press, the series, "Speaking Frankly," by former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes, and of which this newspaper carried a lengthy review, has some unique value. It is the background of the most crucial issue facing the world today—the widening split between Soviet Russia and the western democracies. Byrnes was not only in the midst of those fateful conferences at Yalta and Potsdam. He made voluminous shorthand notes of what happened and what was said. These are the basis of his shrewd, judicious, above all, frank report to the American people.

The former Secretary of State, from a sense of public duty, places before the American public the vital conversations behind the scenes. He is determined to throw shafts of light into the hitherto dark corners of the Yalta talks which Roosevelt had with Stalin and Churchill; to tell the real story of Potsdam; to expose the signicant conflicts between Stalin and Winston Churchill—the first man to understand fully what Russia was getting at.

Byrnes' estimates of the characters of Stalin and Molotov and his informed speculations about Russian motives have a great, if depressing, value today. While denying the inevitability of armed conflict with Russia, he states bluntly that the Soviet goal is "to dominate, in one way or another, all of Europe."

One legend which Byrnes shatters is the "liberal" notion, preached by Henry Wallace and echoed by Pravda, that Russo-American relations did not deteriorate until after the death of Roosevelt. As Byrnes shows, they were deteriorating rapidly in the two months between Yalta and Roosevelt's death. One gathers that the facts caused Roosevelt to repent of the wishful-thinking that motivated his appeasement of Russia. At any rate, only a few hours before his death Roosevelt cabled Churchill his conviction that "we must be firm" with the Russians. That message is the main lesson carried by the past two years of world history and the chief moral of the Byrnes articles.

We cannot help but observe, however, that had Roosevelt backed up Churchill's proposal to carry the Allied invasion through the Balkans, the underbelly of Europe, instead of through Normandy, Russia would not be holding the position she does today, and there would be no need of a watch-dog commission along the frontier of Greece. Churchill, as conditions exist today, proved himself of possessing greater foresight than did the late President Roosevelt.

Usually after a great war historians must wait years before they have access to the memoirs of the leading patricipants. Thanks to "Speaking Frankly," the American readers can learn today, even as Vishinsky shrieks, the United Nations shudder and Stalin smiles, what happened behind the scenes to bring the world to its critical pass.

Britain's fumbling Attlee urges the people to work harder. Churchill called it sweat, and lost the premiership.

Nature Has A Way Of Evening Things Up, A Bit

A comparison of temperature readings for the first twenty days in October this year and in 1946 show the present month has been warmer than last, which reminds us that Nature has a way of evening things up. Last Spring, if you recall, and reaching up into July, heavy rains and chilly weather delayed plantings in this section. There was fear that many crops would not mature in time for a good Fall harvest. And to some degree, that fear was borne out because the high humidity—unusual in this area—experienced during the period when tomatoes and corn should have been maturing, bred blight and mildew that caused much vegetation to rot or fall off vines before it was ready to market. But now Nature seems to be trying to make amends—too late, perhaps.

As the October temperature readings attest, this part of the country, and Allegany county in particular, has been enjoying most unusual fine weather. The majority of days have been above normal and the sun has bent its efforts at helping to mature those vegetables which were held back, earlier, and which escaped the semi-killing frost in September, and to grow those things that depend on an open Fall to become well enough established in the soil to withstand the rigors of Winter.

The frost in September was not classed as a killing frost by the Weather Bureau, although it did damage. Then there has been the lack of rain. There has been only a trace since early September. The lack of moisture is causing apples to drop.

But by and large the current spell of Indian summer is more than welcome. It is one reason why the Government has announced an increase in the corn crop estimate, a bit of news which should be joyfully received at this time when a hungry world needs help from the United States and the warm weather has been a great help to those who are still waiting for that load of coal to be delivered.

If the weather can continue mild until after October 24, which is the average date for the first killing frost in this section, Nature will indeed have done much to rectify some of the errors of Spring and early Summer.

If, as Henry Wallace predicts, this country loses the next war, perhaps it will not have to pay for it.

GIs In Business

Secretary of Commerce Harriman has announced that 800,000 veterans have gone into business for themselves since the end of the war.

A desire for independence, to be his own boss, has prompted many veterans to go into business for themselves. This is a natural reaction for those who have been under military restraint. Government aid in financing has made it possible for many of these young men to strike out for themselves.

The fact proprietors were in service will have nothing whatever to do with success or failure of these ventures into the realms of business and trade. A certain percentage have the qualifications and perseverance necessary for success. Others will fail for lack of them.

All of them are young Americans with the desire to get ahead, and be their own men. All of which is commendable.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

CHRONIC NASAL DISCHARGE

THE anatomy of the nose can be understood better if it is visualized as a miniature Monmouth cave separated into two parts by a partition down the center [septum]. Three turbinates, or folds, hang from the roof and sides of the organ; smaller cavities [sinuses], connected by tiny passageways, surround the entire structure. There are even openings leading to the eyes, ears, and back of the throat.

As a result, the membranes lining the nose are continuous with the sinuses, throat, mouth, ears, and eyes. This explains how organisms causing a simple cold can spread to nearby tissues. In addition, it emphasizes the fact that a nasal discharge may have several origns.

Many individuals are bothered constantly by the dripping of mucus down the back of the throat. Most victims blame the sinuses but actually the trouble lies in the membranes of the nose and turbinates. Moreover, the channels become blocked now and then, either partially or completely. Both sides may be involved but stoppage often occurs alternately. The manifestation is especially annoying in the evening and early morning. It is better during certain seasons than others and, according to Westcott, has a tendency to grow worse when the moon is full or ascending.

Obstruction may be associated with ringing of the ears, a sense of fullness in the head, intermittent bouts of pain over the sinus areas, and constant clearing of the throat. There are many causes for this group of symptoms but in general they fall into two main categories: infection or allergy. Lesser possibilities include polyps, deviated septum, and chronic sinus conditions.

This persistent disorder is known technically as "chronic rhinitis" although when allergy is the culprit it is labeled "vasomotor rhinitis." Regardless of the origin, tobacco, dust, alcohol, and over-fatigue prove aggravating.

A careful study is necessary to determine whether the membranec are swollen because they have been invaded by bacteria or are sensitive to some irritant. X-rays may be required as well as a microscopic study of the secretions. If infection is not a factor, allergy is almost certain to be responsible, especially when there is a family history of sensitivity or the patient has suffered in the past from migraine, hives, asthma, or eczema.

It is not always easy to ascertain the allergen by skin tests and elimination diets. Such procedures may disclose several, which only complicates the situation. Nevertheless, by avoiding the offenders and using nonallergic cosmetics, employing pillows with nonporous covers, avoiding house dust and pets, and stopping the tobacco habit, much can be accomplished. Attention must also be paid to drafts, changing temperatures, dampness, excessive dryness, and air cooling since unfavorable environments frequently precipitate an attack.

If house dust, feathers, animal dander, or orris are to blame, injections may prove beneficial. The daily administration of 50,000 to 100,000 units of vitamin A is sometimes helpful as well as large doses of vitamin C. For temporary relief, nose drops or inhalants may be of value. The same can be said of benadryl and pyribenzamine, which are so useful in combating hay fever.

DIABETES AND SEX

W. M. writes: Does diabetes occur more frequently in women?

REPLY

Yes, three out of every five individuals who develop the disease after 40 are women. On th other hand, this ration is different in early life, when more boys than girls become victims.

MASTICATION

X.Y.Z. writes: Is food that is chewed thoroly more fattening than when bolted?

REPLY

Probably the same number of calories will be provided. The main purpose of chewing is to break up the food and mix it with saliva. The enzymes found in this secretion play a small part in digestion.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Ever rescue a fireman?

A smoke eater in Mobile, Alabama, was injured sliding into second base. He was practicing for the annual ball game and the officials said it was in "line of duty' and he was entitled to pay.

Naturally, it was "line of duty." One of the spectators was singing, "Smoke, smoke, smoke" and he reached down for his bucket.

Not only that . . . he was confused. On the way to the field a cop stopped the fire truck and asked him, "where you goin', to a ball game?"

But they had to give him his pay. Look what he did . . . He went out on the ball field to fight for the honor of dear old Hook n-Ladder after spending all day over a hot bungalow.

But this "line of duty" idea brings up some interesting points. If this should be applied to other professions, there would be strong repercussions . . . writers would start getting bonuses for each new ulcer.

Lawyers would get special "line of duty" if they scratched themselves on the rear bumpers of ambulances.

Of course, in my brother's work they already have special pay for the risks they have to take. Naturally, they don't refer to it as "line of duty" pay. . . they just call it "bail."

But a comedian doesn't get extra pay for taking chances. If you have ever stepped out on that stage with a script full of eggs, you know what I mean.

Truman Forgot To Consult The Hen; No War With Russia Is Prediction Of Top Advisers; Truman Insists That Democrats Favor San Francisco

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22—Trouble over poultryless Thursday might have been avoided had the White House let one hand know what the other hand was doing. On the Sunday afternoon President Truman made his foodsaving appeal to the nation, Secretary of Agriculture Anderson sat outside the door of press secretary Ross, waiting to get a chance to see the boss's speech. But the chance never came. Poultryless Thursday was announced without benefit of advice from U. S. agricultural experts who had been studying her majesty the hen for weeks, were convinced that more chicken should be eaten, rather than less. . . . Later, Chuck Luckman, harassed and unenvied food czar, was asked to accept a compromise proposal whereby the public was urged to eat stewing hens. Biggest food problem still remains grain fed on the farm. It's disappearing at an alarming rate.

Ambassadorial Report: Three top ambassadors reported to the President last week that there would be no war with Russia, though a serious incident in Germany where U. S.-Russian troops are cheek-and-jowl could start almost anything. . . . The ambassadors were: Lou Douglas from London: Walter Bedell Smith from Moscow; Bob Murphy from Germany. . . . All three urged a special session of Congress. Truman countered that Congressmen couldn't be back from European trips before December 1, and not much could be accomplished during the Christmas holidays. However, he promised to consider it further. . . . The ambassadors reported that the European food situation was so critical that even a few weeks saved by a special session would be important.

Latin-American diplomats to the United Nations who usually get plenty of advice from their North American diplomatic brethren so far haven't received any tips on how to vote on Palestine. Quoth U. S. delegate Herschel Johnson: "Search your hearts and minds and take your own moral position.". . . Secret cables to the State Department report that the Norwegian Government has its own way of dealing with Commies. The Cabinet has decided to abolish the Communist party if Norwegian Communists join the 9-power Comintern.

Purely Political—The Democratic National Committee has now engaged 500 rooms in San Francisco hotels for next July. This means that for the first time in two decades the Democrats will move to the Far West.

It was President Truman himself who insisted on this. Democratic leaders argued that Eastern radio listeners couldn't hear the speeches after 8 p. m. Pacific Time, which would be 11 p. m. Eastern Time. . . . Truman, however, ruled that in order to win, it was necessary to carry California.

So he has decided California is to have a good look at the Democrats. . . . Michigan's prosecuting Senator Ferguson wouldn't mind finding a loophole to crawl out of the Howard Hughes investigation. Reason: Army tests show that the XF11, recommended by Elliott Roosevelt and built by Hughes, flies better than some other Army photo reconnaissance planes. What's more, it looks as if Hughes' giant Herculean will fly after all.

Must We Fight Russia????—Most significant talk newspaper editors had in Washington last week was an off-the-record conference with George Kennan, General Marshall's chief Russian policy maker. Here are the highlights: Russia's tough talk is nothing new. It's been going on for 160 years, under both Czars and the Soviets. It was soft-pedalled in the 1920's and 1930's because the Bolsheviks were too weak to talk tough. . . . The main problem in Europe is the vacuum in France and Italy. This vacuum has to be filled. Big question is whether Russia or the United States will move in. . . . The vacuum was recognized by Russia even during the war, and Stalin prepared then to fill it. The USA doesn't want to fill it, but does want to see it filled by democratic Frenchmen and Italians themselves. . . . Whoever first fills this hole in Europe will be successful in dominating all Europe.

People of Europe are afraid of Russia but not of the United States. Because they are scared stiff, they would appease Russia before they helped the United States.

Inside Russia, the people are cynical, don't take Moscow's propaganda too seriously. Vishinsky's barbed thunderbolts at the UN are nothing new. . . . He's only saying what he has said for two years, only this time it's louder. . . . There is no real worry over war with Russia. Its people haven't recovered. Furthermore, the Russians figure they can get what they want by political means.

Most significant key to the fact that Russia doesn't want war is that the Soviets always try to ride out war. They made a deal with Hitler in the last war in order to stay on the sidelines, and the last thing they want is war now with the United States. . . . "We are very far from war," concluded Kennan.

Whisky Boys Retaliate—Government officials sitting in on the secret food talks say privately that the beer boys are tougher than the whisky boys—and the latter are tough enough. . . . After food czar Luckman had obtained a whisky holiday from the distillers, they held a secret meeting in New York in order to retaliate. One proposal was that distillers who weren't consulted by Luckman would continue making alcohol, selling same to other distillers. . . . Distillers had secured a letter from Attorney General Tom Clark permitting them to cooperate for purposes of the whisky holiday without violating the Anti-Trust Act. Now they are using this letter to cooperate on other matters. One is a propaganda campaign to show up Luckman. . . . Criticism of Luckman closely paralleling the distillers' ballyhoo was published last week in George Sokolsky's column. He said: "Why cut the distillers and the brewers and not the soap companies? . . . Not a word is said about reducing the consumption of fats.". . . It is not known how close Sokolsky is to the brewers. He was once exposed by a Senate investigation as having been paid $14,000 by Tom Girdler of Republic Steel, and $6,000 by the National Association of Manufacturers at the very same time he was writing for newspapers. . . . Mrs. "Pappy" O'Daniel, wife of the reactionary Texas Senator, also informed a Senate committee that Sokolsky was one of her husband's ghost writers. . . . Incidentally, less grain fed to hogs and cattle means less fat for Luckman's soap company—and he is relentlessly urging less fattening on the feed lots.

Recognition Of Two Worlds Comes From French Election

By MARK SULLIVAN

Beneath the eager interpretation in this country of the French election this week lies recognition of the division of the world into two, with the United States heading one, Soviet Russia the other. But for the bearing of the French election on that, the American people would have taken no more interest in it than decades ago, when they hardly knew the names of French political parties and knew little more about French political leaders than that their names were difficult to pronounce.

It may seem far-fetched to suggest that today a French election has for America somewhat the interest of one in Maine, important as showing a trend which concerns us. As in Maine, leaders on both sides have always been conscious of the nation-wide bearing of their elections, with each striving to make the effect is desired, so in France were both sides aware of the effect on the world especially the United States. The same was true of the election in Italy a week before. In both countries, leaders on both sides strove to impress America, and did so for the effect on the world conflict between America and Russia.

Odd Figure Of Speech

In France the anti-Communist leader, General Charles de Gaulle, during his campaign, urging his followers to effort said, "The United States has marshalled its power to counteract Soviet ambitions, and there is not a free man in the world who does not welcome this American decision." And against the Communists, General de Gaulle charged that they were "always striving to serve the interests of the Soviet dictatorship." In the Italian election, the Communists said the same thing in reverse, calling the anti-Communists "Judases," who had sold out for the American dollars. Odd figure of speech for a Communist!

Communists world heads saw the issue the same. Their overall strategy is to make Europe decide whether to be pro-Russian or pro-United States, and they counted on the French election to be anti-United States. Some weeks preceding, the Communist world heads, in a meeting at Belgrade, had set up the "International Communist Bureau." After announcement of this, a Communist leader said that America should get out of Europe, and "perhaps she will if she gets a sharp slap on the wrist, and perhaps she will get just that in the French election."

Washington interpretation of the French election stresses the most obvious aspect, that the anti-Communist movement led by de Gaulle received more votes than any other political group. Interpretation that goes a little deeper stresses a more far-reaching effect, not only of the anti-Communist victory in France but also of the one in Italy, where the anti-Communist vote was almost doubled.

The deeper meaning has to do with the setting up of the Communist Interational Bureau. At the Belgrade meeting at which this was done, Communist leaders in both France and Italy were present. This open identity with Russian Communism, coupled with the Communist defeats in France and Italy, will make it almost impossible for any government in either country to allow Communists in the cabinet. Communists would thus have no official standing.

More Far-Reaching Interpretation

There is an ever more far-reaching interpretation, and one that is ominous. Well-informed observers in Washington think it likely that the Communists will not make further attempts to win elections in European countries. They think that the setting up of the International Communist Bureaus means that the Communists are not going to even pretend to work by means of elections and democratic processes. Such decision would be natural for never in any country have the Communists achieved power by use of the ballot in a democratic election.

But abandonment by the Communists heads of reliance upon democratically held elections would be ominous for France and Italy. These and other countries may reasonably apprehend that the next round of the Communist drive may take the form of strikes to cripple industry and their other familiar communist techniques of conspiracy and secret fifth columns. To France and Italy, a new and intensified round of crippling strikes would be an immediate and serious detriment.

Truman Aides Deal With Wages And Prices From Own Viewpoint

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2 — Have increases kept pace with the cost of living, and is it correct to say that wages have been increased far beyond the rise in the cost of living?

This question has been projected into the national forum of debate by Administration officials who are answering it from their own partisan standpoint by selecting those facts which suit their purpose

Thus Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach has just made two speeches —one before the convention of the American Federation of Labor and one before the CIO convention in which he endeavored to prove that only the figures since V-J Day are the ones to examine in answering whether wages have kept pace with the rise in the cost of living. He says:

"Usually figures are given out as a comparison between 1939 and 1947. Everyone knows that during the war years wage increases were not objected to by the manufacturer because he knew that the government would pay the bill, either in adjustments of their contracts on which they were working, or contract settlements after the war. Everyone knows that in 1939 we had a loose labor market under which the purchasers of labor had a pool of six million unemployed upon which they might call if they desired to keep the wages down. The subject which is of importance and the subject about which the American people want to know is what happened during the period since V-J Day and since June 1946 when price control was abolished. . . . Those are the pertinent figures and those are the figures to which the American people should pay attention."

Mistake In Appraisal Debatable

If anyone else besides a Cabinet officer had made the foregoing statement it would have been passed up as just a piece of politicial demagoguery but Mr. Schwellenbach is a man who has sat on the federal bench and he is one of the best-liked men in Washington, so when he makes a mistake in the appraisal of facts his statement deserves to be debated.

Now it isn't clear just what the attitude of employers in agreeing to wage increases during the war has to do with the statistical truth that either wages were or were not increased during the war. The motive for granting the increases is as irrelevant as the argument of employers that to avoid strikes and interruptions in wartime they yielded regularly to the demands of unions.

The real point is that wages increased very substantially during the war period and it is just arbitrary to ask the American people to forget what happened since 1939 an dto focus attention only on what happened either in wage increases or price rises since V-J Day, focus only on the price readjustment. The war period saw a rise in wages but not a commensurate rise in prices. To ignore the raises in pay given from 1939 to 1945 and to ments made since 1945 is to select a part of the story and ignore the rest. At least it is fair to tell both sets of figures and let the public be the judge.

Price-Wage Summary

From April 1942 to January 1946, the period of price control, living costs rose 12.9 per cent while average hourly earnings of factory workers gained 22 per cent and average weekly earnings rose 17.2 per cent. During the entire World War II period and post-war period—from 1939 to August 1947—increases in wages and earnings far outran the rise in living costs. Thus average hourly earnings rose 93.6 per cent and average weekly earnings increased 106.6 per cent while the cost of living rose only 61 per cent. The average price of manufactured goods rose only 81 per cent.

In the period of price decontrol alone, selected by Mr. Schwellenbach, prices rose faster than unit wage and material costs. But prices had been held down during the control era and merely resumed a level approximating the normal relationship with unit costs when price controls were removed.

THESE DAYS By George E. Sokolsky

Truman and Anderson

THERE is this that is right about Harry Truman's attitude toward the Luckman Dramatization and Clinton P. Anderson's attitude—as contradictory as they are.

Harry Truman is faced by two conditions:

1. That George Marshall committed this country to some specific figure of food exports in a relationship to the export of 18,000,000 tons of food last harvest year and that those European countries (16 to 1), which come within the scope of the Marshall Plan, expect a delivery of about 1,500,000 tons a month which we do not possess to deliver.

Therefore Mr. Truman wants to conduct a campaign for voluntary abnegation among the American people which will produce as many tons as possible to make up the difference between what is now impossible and what may perhaps be possible. It is bad arithmetic, but he does not want to let George Marshall down, nor does he want to let Europe down. Criticism of the figures or the plan of sacrifice does not necessarily mean criticism of aid to Europe. It may, in fact, assure such aid.

2. Harry Truman wants to sustain government buying of farm commodities at high prices during a campaign year even though farm prices have run beyond parity. He does not wish farm prices to collapse or even to return to parity until after 1948, if at all. Although this produces an inflationary price structure in the larger cities, he risks it.

One of these propositions is defended on the ground that it will save Europe from Communism; the other that it will save the United States from a Republican victory.

Clinton P. Anderson, an extraordinarily competent Secretary of Agriculture, knows, because he understands his job:

1. That the United States has a short crop in grains this year because of the drought;

2. That we can, at most, export about 13,000,000 tons of food this year comfortably;

3. That George Marshall has overpromised and is asking for stretching beyond our capacity in this harvest year;

4. That if we attempt now to export 1,500,000 tons of food to Europe, we shall have a terrifying shortage next March, April and May which will be calamitous in the United States and devastating to Europe;

5. That there is so much poultry and so many eggs in the United States that it is foolhardy, if not dangerous, to have a poultryless and eggless day;

6. That the great need of the world is fats and that reducing fat will do incalculable harm.

All of this Clinton P. Anderson did not tell me, but it can be accepted from his previous attitude, his 1946 food campaign, his public contradiction of Presidential statements and from the reports which are available that that is his general and correct position. That position is the only one that Anderson can consistently support. In fact, no Secretary of Agriculture, at all honest on his job, could take any other position. It is a matter, of course, of perspective.

Unfortunately, the President was sold a bill of goods to accept a program prepared by an anonymous person or group which Charles Luckman admitted was handed to him, by whom he did not say. The fact is that Secretary of Agriculture Anderson was by-passed and that Herbert Hoover, who had been Truman's food expert, was bypassed. It does not matter that Hoover was by-passed, as he is a private citizen, but the Secretary of Agriculture has a constitutional responsibility which cannot be ignored.

Instead the Luckman Committee was created to dramatize, by the huckster scare device, shortages which do not exist, while they ignore such a shortage as fats which does exist.

The confusion created by Luckman's Dramatization would ordinarily be meaningless, but in a year of a reduced grain harvest it must become a menace at the end of the harvest year—a menace not only to the United States but to those whom we hope to aid.

Congress ought to find out who wrote the plan that was handed to Luckman and who ordered the by-passing of the Secretary of Agriculture. They will discover the wit of the smart boys whose resignations Truman had accepted before Henry Wallace scared him into taking actions which run counter to his judgment.

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

We wouldn't have to bother about a third world war if some 1917 diplomat had only stipulated best two out of three.

However, we have made some improvements on the atomic bomb. We can throw strikes from six thousand miles out.

It's long-distance strategy like calling up the pawnbroker and asking him to wind your watch.

Our scientists have mixed supersonic swift with atomic allergy. The result is an octave higher than the crack of doom.

And you know Stalin reads the papers. That's why he is afraid of dropping the other shoe.

An Alpine plebiscite was followed by drinking and dancing in the streets. The population voted to join France, which has plenty more wine.

This form of municipal progress was found guilty with extinguishing circumstances in 1919 when we went drier than a peck of potatoes.

There is going to be more voting up in the Saar and Ruhr in the instantaneous future. And if your memory doesn't stutter that is how the second world war got its driver's license.

A vote is something like a railroad ticket. You get on and off at the depots. But you cannot make the engineer back up

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

The champagne and caviar award to Richard Rodgers.

Billy Rose

By the time this appears in print, my brownies will have delivered the imported bubbly and Romanoff fish eggs to the man who composed the music for "Allegro."

Nobody has asked me, but I think Dick has turned out one of the finest scores in the history of our musical theater. I think three of the "Allegro" songs, maybe four, will be played around for years.

What's that? You say the New York critics didn't think the "Allegro" score was such-a-much? Well, if I were Rodgers, I wouldn't brood about it.

Let's look at the box score.

When the boys reviewed "Roberta" some years back, did they tag "Smoke Gets In Your Eyes" as something special? When they heard "All the Things You are" in "Very Warm for May," did they realize they were listening to a song that would find an honored spot on a million pianos? When they heard "Begin the Beguin" in "Jubilee," did they predict it would wind up on every orchestra stand from Seventh Avenue to Siam. Well, maybe I shouldn't have asked.

Jerome Kern used to be pretty bitter about what he called the "Tin Ear Brigade." A few months before he died, he showed me the reviews of the original "Show Boat" production. By and large, the drama boys faint-praised his music. One of them even opined the old master was slipping. Nobody—and I mean nobody!—realized his "Show Boat" score was darn near an all-time high for our native theatre.

When "Show Boat" was revived recently, the critics trotted out their prettiest adjectives in praise of Jerry's music. Unfortunately Kern wasn't around to read these reviews.

Wait! Put down that Winchester! It's not Willie's intention to go a-fussin' and a-feudin' with the critics. He knows these gentlemen and likes them fine. He knows that if you show them something with a plot, their batting average will be darn near 1.000. He knows that if you put a pretty gal on a stage, their reactions can be trusted. But he also knows that if you play them a new musical score, the chances are they wouldn't recognize a song hit if Bing Crosby sang it and Toscanini conducted it.

All of which shouldn't surprise anybody. Music publishers who have put in a lifetime listening to songs will tell you how difficult it is to spot a melody which will intrigue a hundred million ears. The gents who run the recording companies sometimes press a hundred platters before they hit one which entices the nickels into the juke boxes. Our best lyricists—the Hammersteins, Mercers and Ira Gershwins will testify how tough it is to appraise thirty-two bars of music.

And yet, season after season, a dozen amiable gents walk into a theatre, listen to thousands of bars of music for the first time, and try to evaluate it half an hour later. This is pretty tough on a talented composer like Dick Rodgers. He put in a year's work on a score, picks up the paper, and finds his work has been dismissed in one gay little sentence. And let's face it—there have been critics who thought Andante was the guy who wrote "The Inferno."

I've been around the music business long enough to know it takes more than one listening to size up a score such as "Allegro's." Before making up my mind, I heard the Rodgers music three times. I liked it pretty well at the tryout in New Haven. I liked it better when I heard it opening night. I went back again last evening, and it hit me where I shout.

Howard Barnes of the Herald-Tribune gave "Allegro" its best notices. This didn't surprise me. I knew he had caught the show in Boston before he covered the New York opening.

Years ago, Gatti-Casazza realized that even critics with a lifetime of music behind them didn't figure to know what a new score was all about at one listening. When the impresario presented a new opera at the Met, he would invite the critics to attend in full dress rehearsal a couple of days before they covered the regular opening.

I think I'm climbing out on a pretty strong limb when I predict that the critics themselves will soon be humming and dancing to the music of "A Fellow Needs a Girl," "So Far," "The Gentleman Is a Dope," and "You Are Never Far Away." If this isn't Hit Parade material, they can tear up my ASCAP membership card.

Twenty years from now, some smart producer figures to do a revival of "Allegro." I hope today's critics are around to review it. I've got a hunch they'll say the Rodgers score is as lovely as ever.

I hope Dick is around to read their second guesses.

Advice To The Lovelorn

"Mind Your Own Business" Says One Of Miss Fairfax's Readers

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

It is always interesting to hear from readers who disagree with me, and letters that object to views I have expressed are by no means rare.

Most of these letters take issue with me on specific things I have said. Recently I have received one from a reader who doesn't like anything about me. He, or she—and your guess is as good as mine as to which it is, since only the initials "T.W.N." are signed—seems to think this column considers itself something of an oracle whose pronouncements are inspired and infallible.

Know what those big words mean, "T.W.N.?"

Here is what "he" says:

"I am a constant reader of your column and I read it not because I enjoy it but only because I wonder how anyone can call themselves an 'authority' as you do. You give advice to people in love. Did you take a course on love problems? What authority do you have to sling out stuff to broken hearts? I have to laugh at you so-called advice.

"I think that any person, young or old, who has to write for advice on love does not deserve to have a mate. If they cannot settle their own problems, as silly as they are, without writing to someone who knows very little about them, what will they do when you run out of advice?

"I often wonder if these lovesick people take your advice. If they do, as I said before, they don't deserve to love or to be loved. Let people solve their own problems. You can't be right too many times. I am sure your writing cannot be too helpful too often when you are minding other people's business."

Besides signing the initials "T. W. N.," this correspondent of mine uses a nom de plume. This pen name, which he signs just above his initials is "Needing No Advice."

Now it is certainly very fine indeed when anyone is so well equipped with good judgment that he never needs to seek advice, and I congratulate "T.W.N." on his good fortune in this respect. At the same time, he must remember that most of us human beings sometimes find it useful to get another person's point of view on our problems. There is an old saying to the effect that sometimes one "can't see the woods for the trees," which is only another way of saying that if you are right in the center of something, whether it be a problem or a forest, you can easily become confused. It is at such times that a person outside the problem—or the forest—can sometimes help the confused person orient himself and so get straightened out once more.

This is the sort of thing I hope this column may sometimes do for those who find themselves in bewildering situations—not to act as an "authority slinging out stuff to broken hearts," as "T.W.N." puts it, but merely to offer a detached viewpoint that may help them see their way a little more clearly.

So go ahead and have your laugh, "T.W.N." It is nice to think that you are a "constant reader" of my column—even if that is all you get out of it.

Welsh Sentenced To Two Years In State Reformatory

Judge Henderson Cites Past Record

Charged with unauthorized use of a motor vehicle and larceny and receiving stolen goods, James Leroy Welsh, Gay Street, was sentenced to serve a period not exceeding two years in the Maryland Reformatory for Males in Circuit Court yesterday.

Welsh had entered a plea of guilty to the charges and sentence inposed was the same in each case, with the terms to be served concurrently.

Associate Judge George Henderson, who passed sentence, reminded Welsh that he previously had been sentenced to the Maryland Training School for Boys and later to the Maryland Reformatory for Males.

He explained that when a boy is brought before the Court for a first offense and he can be paroled for the good of everyone, the Court is glad to do so, Judge Henderson added, however, that the Court feels that by turning Welsh loose the latter will lead other boys in the same direction.

Welsh had admitted taking a truck owned by B. V. Welsh, LaVale, from Corriganville on July 9 and using it to carry away 22 cases of ale taken from another truck in Cumberland. The stolen truck later was found abandoned in back of St. Mary's Catholic Church.

Just last week Welsh was fined in Trial Magistrates Court on charges of unauthorized use of a truck owned by his employer and of turning out the vehicle's lights to avoid recognition.

In another case disposed of yesterday, William Francis Ryland, this city, charged with embezzlement of more than $700 from Goldsmith-Black, Inc., while he was working for the firm, was given a suspended sentence of five years on the condition that he abstain from the use of alcoholic beverages, support his family and make restitution through the State's Attorney's office.

Monthly Benefits To 1,975 Persons Total $33,259

"Monthly benefits totalling $501,488 were paid to 26,644 residents of Maryland in Federal Old Age and Survivors Insurance payments in the month of June," William W. Wood, Jr., manager of the Cumberland Social Security Administration field office has announced.

Although 1,975 residents of the seven counties Allegany, Garrett, Grant, Hampshire, Hardy, Mineral and Pendleton served by Mr. Wood's office are drawing $33,259 monthly, he said he is concerned over the fact that many others are losing benefits because they failed to file a claim for them. He emphasized the fact that payments under federal old age and survivors insurance are not automatic. A claim must be filed with the Social Security Administration before payment can be made. He pointed out, that there are many people who would be drawing old-age and survivors insurance payments if they realized that they were eligible.

Local payments for June 1947 follow:

In Maryland, 1,389 persons in Allegany County were paid $24,202 and in Garrett County 201 persons received $3,092. In West Virginia, 213 residents of Mineral County received $3,515; 61 residents of Grant County $962.00; 57 residents of Hampshire County $841.00; 31 residents of Hardy County $404.00 and 23 residents of Pendleton County $243.00.

Workers in commerce and industry who became 65 years of age should inquire concerning their old age insurance payments, Mr. Woods said. Survivors of wage-earners who die at any age should contact the nearest Field Office of the Social Security Administration.

Ryan declared that Kenney's death was not the fault of Umstot, but that it came because a greater power so ordained. He said Kenney's "number was up, that it was his time to die."

Intruders Take $350 From Service Station

ROMNEY — West Virginia State Police here are investigating the breaking and entering of a service station here by an intruder or intruders who escaped with the cash register containing about $350 and several articles of wearing apparel and accessories.

Authorities said the station, the Houser Texaco Service Station, on Route 50 in Romney, had been entered by the intruders after they broke a pane from a rear window. They then went to the office, picked up the cash register, two leather jackets, a rear vision mirror and a spotlight and went out by the front door.

Celanese To Aid In Reburial Of World War Dead

Will Excuse Employes To Serve On Details

The Celanese Corporation of America announced yesterday that it has volunteered to co-operate with the Allegany County Committee representing veterans' and service organizations which will assist in the reburial of returned World War II dead.

Employes of the Amcelle plant will be excused from work when requested to participate in the military rites which will be offered during the burial ceremonies for the servicemen, according to Edward R. Allan, plant personnel manager.

When employes are asked to serve on the burial details, he added, they will be excused from work for the balance of that shift.

The offer, of course, included the reburial of all World War II dead and not only the 146 Celanese veterans who paid the supreme sacrifice during the war.

Veterans organizations here have been working for some time on the plans to provide military funeral escort parties, firing squads and color guards so that the returning heroes may be given full military rites when they are placed in their final resting places.

Of the 5,112 employes from the plant who were inducted into the armed forces, 146 were killed and two have been reported missing in action, according to rcords of the Veterans Bureau of the plant.

Since their return, 4,071 of the Celanese veterans have been re-employed at the plant and another 349 veterans have been hired who had no previous connection with the plant. Sixty of the returned veterans have been given special consideration in employment due to disabilities acquired in service.

Forest Fires Are Still Raging In Mineral County

Two New Blazes Are Reported Near Keyser

Fire fighting authorities in Mineral County were issuing an urgent appeal for volunteers yesterday as two new fires broke out near Keyser while weary crews were still battling a forest fire raging on New Creek Mountain, near Antioch.

Crews were dispatched to the Hoover Hollow section near Keyser early last night when a new blaze was reported raging in that area to the west of Keyser.

Another crew was dispatched to a blaze reported in the woods above the Keyser- Piedmont road. The size of that fire had not been determined early last night.

All fire fightng crews were being used in shifts to fight the flames and wardens were scouring the countryside for volunteers yesterday, officials said.

Burns Over Wide Area

The New Creek Mountain fire, which had rolled unchecked for about 48 hours, has destroyed between 150 and 200 acres of timberland, Districts Fire Protector J. B. Saville, Romney, reported yesterday morning.

Although no definite news was available late last night one report said the New Creek fire "did not look so bad."

Saville said the New Creek Mountain fire is concentrated in a 200-acre area as volunteers still seek to encircle the flame. Students from Potomac State School joined volunteers yesterday afternoon but the number fighting the fire had dropped off today.

Trenches were being dug and backfires started in efforts to check the rush of flames, Saville said. Many of the workers, he added, are being used to ward off flames from homes in direct path of the fire.

Firefighters were working without water since the only supply available is from drilled wells that are already almost dry, Saville said.

C. I. Homan, president of the Mineral County Farm Bureau, appealed yesterday for every possible effort to check the blaze and warned hunters to be extremely careful in the woods.

A blaze which broke out in the southern section of Hampshire County early yesterday morning was brought under control by 11 a. m. although fire fighters were still patrolling the area yesterday to guard against a further outbreak of the flames.

The fire in the Bloomery section was discovered yesterday at 4 a. m. by a forest warden who summoned a crew of about 25 men and sped to the scene.

No Homes Damaged

No homes were damaged by the blaze which burned over about 25 acres of land, but fire fighters reported that had the blaze reached the ridge near the Slane farm it would have been impossible to check it until the fire burned to the Capon River.

A fire which broke out in Morgan County and burned over 40 acres, part of it timberland, in the vicinity of Berkeley Springs Tuesday, was reported under control yesterday.

Another in Grant County was brought under control before the flames spread to alarming proportions.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 22 (AP) — State Forester H. C. Buckingham said today "the Maryland forest fire situation is under control—thanks to to the fact that the wind has been low."

"If the wind should rise, we would be as badly off as New England, because the woods are extremely dry now," he added.

He reported about 15 acres were burned over in the entire state yesterday, three each in Garrett, Baltimor and Anne Arundel Counties and the rest scattered.

The Department of Forest and Parks has 27 regular and 12 temporary fire guards on duty now.

"We have been running down every smoke," Buckingham said. "That seems to be the worst of our troubles at the moment. And it appears that the chief cause of the fires we have is cigarets.

"We would like to have no burning of brush or debris at all in the day time during this hazardous season. Such burning should be done only with good clearance, since whirlwinds are apt to develop now and they can carry coals a good distance."

Buckingham said there were no fires of consequence reported up to late afternoon today.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

"Take Pen in Hand"

This column has been running for so long that its readers, in towns like ours all over the country, are beginning to "take pen in hand" and write us what they think.

Some of them take me over the coals for what I say—like the column I ran on planting alfalfa. Others write, "I liked your column yesterday, but...." All of them have different points of view.

From where I sit, that's the way it should be. Everybody's entitled to an opinion—and it's those very differences, and friendly criticism, that make for tolerance and better understanding—whether it's ideas on planting alfalfa or choosing between beer and cider.

The more folks air their differences right out in public, with a neighborly respect for the other person's liberties and point of view, the closer we are to the American principle of individual freedom—whether it's in a choice of crops or beverages.

Welsh Sentenced To Two Years In State Reformatory

Judge Henderson Cites Past Record

Charged with unauthorized use of a motor vehicle and larceny and receiving stolen goods, James Leroy Welsh, Gay Street, was sentenced to serve a period not exceeding two years in the Maryland Reformatory for Males in Circuit Court yesterday.

Welsh had entered a plea of guilty to the charges and sentence inposed was the same in each case, with the terms to be served concurrently.

Associate Judge George Henderson, who passed sentence, reminded Welsh that he previously had been sentenced to the Maryland Training School for Boys and later to the Maryland Reformatory for Males.

He explained that when a boy is brought before the Court for a first offense and he can be paroled for the good of everyone, the Court is glad to do so. Judge Henderson added, however, that the Court feels that by turning Welsh loose the latter will lead other boys in the same direction.

Welsh had admitted taking a truck owned by B. V. Welsh, LaVale, from Corriganville on July 9 and using it to carry away 22 cases of ale taken from another truck in Cumberland. The stolen truck later was found abandoned in back of St. Mary's Catholic Church.

Just last week Welsh was fined in Trial Magistrates Court on charges of unauthorized use of a truck owned by his employer and of turning out the vehicle's lights to avoid recognition.

In another case disposed of yesterday, William Francis Ryland, this city, charged with embezzlement of more than $700 from Goldsmith-Black, Inc., while he was working for the firm, was given a suspended sentence of five years on the condition that he abstain from the use of alcoholic beverages, support his family and make restitution through the State's Attorney's office.

Monthly Benefits To 1,975 Persons Total $33,259

"Monthly benefits totalling $501,488 were paid to 26,644 residents of Maryland in Federal Old Age and Survivors Insurance payments in the month of June," William W. Wood, Jr., manager of the Cumberland Social Security Administration field office has announced.

Although 1,975 residents of the seven counties Allegany, Garrett, Grant, Hampshire, Hardy, Mineral and Pendleton served by Mr. Wood's office are drawing $33,259 monthly, he said he is concerned over the fact that many others are losing benefits because they failed to file a claim for them. He emphasized the fact that payments under federal old age and survivors insurance are not automatic. A claim must be filed with the Social Security Administration before payment can be made. He pointed out, that there are many people who would be drawing old-age and survivors insurance payments if they realized that they were eligible.

Local payments for June 1947 follow:

In Maryland, 1,389 persons in Allegany County were paid $24,202 and in Garrett County 201 persons received $3,092. In West Virginia, 213 residents of Mineral County received $3,515; 61 residents of Grant County $962.00; 57 residents of Hampshire County $841.00; 31 residents of Hardy County $404.00 and 23 residents of Pendleton County $243.00.

Workers in commerce and industry who became 65 years of age should inquire concerning their old age insurance payments, Mr. Woods said. Survivors of wage-earners who die at any age should contact the nearest Field Office of the Social Security Administration.

said the state did not contend Umstot had any intent to kill Kenney, a close friend.

Ryan admitted the facts of the accident and that Kenney was killed as a result of the accident, but he maintained that Umstot was not guilty of gross negligence, that he had demonstrated ability to handle his motorcycle, even with the overload, and that he was not intoxicated.

Ryan declared that Kenney's death was not the fault of Umstot, but that it came because a greater power so ordained. He said Kenney's "number was up, that it was his time to die."

Intruders Take $350 From Service Station

ROMNEY—West Virginia State Police here are investigating the breaking and entering of a service station here by an intruder or intruders who escaped with the cash register containing about $350 and several articles of wearing apparel and accessories.

Authorities said the station, the Houser Texaco Service Station, on Route 50 in Romney, had been entered by the intruders after they broke a pane from a rear window. They then went to the office, picked up the cash register, two leather jackets, a rear vision mirror and a spotlight and went out by the front door.

The loss was discovered by the owner, George C. Houser, yesterday morning at 7 a. m. Houser told authorities the theft happened between then and 11 p. m. Tuesday, authorities said.

Celanese To Aid In Reburial Of World War Dead

Will Excuse Employes To Serve On Details

The Celanese Corporation of America announced yesterday that it has volunteered to co-operate with the Allegany County Committee representing veterans' and service organizations which will assist in the reburial of returned World War II dead.

Employes of the Amcelle plant will be excused from work when requested to participate in the military rites which will be offered during the burial ceremonies for the servicemen, according to Edward R. Allan, plant personnel manager.

When employes are asked to serve on the burial details, he added, they will be excused from work for the balance of that shift.

The offer, of course, included the reburial of all World War II dead and not only the 146 Celanese veterans who paid the supreme sacrifice during the war.

Veterans organizations here have been working for some time on the plans to provide military funeral escort parties, firing squads and color guards so that the returning heroes may be given full military rites when they are placed in their final resting places.

Of the 5,112 employes from the plant who were inducted into the armed forces, 146 were killed and two have been reported missing in action, according to records of the Veterans Bureau of the plant.

Since their return, 4,071 of the Celanese veterans have been re-employed at the plant and another 349 veterans have been hired who had no previous connection with the plant. Sixty of the returned veterans have been given special consideration in employment due to disabilities acquired in service.

Mrs. Edward Killackey, Woodlawn, LaVale, was given a suspended sentence for driving without a license when arrested October 15 on Route 40 in LaVale. Trooper Blair J. Buckel preferred charges. She entered a plea of guilty and said application for a Maryland license has been made.

Forest Fires Are Still Raging In Mineral County

Two New Blazes Are Reported Near Keyser

Fire fighting authorities in Mineral County were issuing an urgent appeal for volunteers yesterday as two new fires broke out near Keyser while weary crews were still battling a forest fire raging on New Creek Mountain, near Antioch.

Crews were dispatched to the Hoover Hollow section near Keyser early last night when a new blaze was reported raging in that area to the west of Keyser.

Another crew was dispatched to a blaze reported in the woods above the Keyser- Piedmont road. The size of that fire had not been determined early last night.

All fire fightng crews were being used in shifts to fight the flames and wardens were scouring the countryside for volunteers yesterday, officials said.

Burns Over Wide Area

The New Creek Mountain fire, which had rolled unchecked for about 48 hours, has destroyed between 150 and 200 acres of timberland, Districts Fire Protector J. B. Saville, Romney, reported yesterday morning.

Although no definite news was available late last night one report said the New Creek fire "did not look so bad."

Saville said the New Creek Mountain fire is concentrated in a 200-acre area as volunteers still seek to encircle the flame. Students from Potomac State School joined volunteers yesterday afternoon but the number fighting the fire had dropped off today.

Trenches were being dug and backfires started in efforts to check the rush of flames, Saville said. Many of the workers, he added, are being used to ward off flames from homes in direct path of the fire.

Firefighters were working without water since the only supply available is from drilled wells that are already almost dry, Saville said.

C. I. Homan, president of the Mineral County Farm Bureau, appealed yesterday for every possible effort to check the blaze and warned hunters to be extremely careful in the woods.

A blaze which broke out in the southern section of Hampshire County early yesterday morning was brought under control by 11 a. m. although fire fighters were still patrolling the area yesterday to guard against a further outbreak of the flames.

The fire in the Bloomery section was discovered yesterday at 4 a. m. by a forest warden who summoned a crew of about 25 men and sped to the scene.

No Homes Damaged

No homes were damaged by the blaze which burned over about 25 acres of land, but fire fighters reported that had the blaze reached the ridge near the Slane farm it would have been impossible to check it until the fire burned to the Capon River.

A fire which broke out in Morgan County and burned over 40 acres, part of it timberland, in the vicinity of Berkeley Springs Tuesday, was reported under control yesterday.

Another in Grant County was brought under control before the flames spread to alarming proportions.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 22 (AP) — State Forester H. C. Buckingham said today "the Maryland forest fire situation is under control—thanks to to the fact that the wind has been low."

"If the wind should rise, we would be as badly off as New England, because the woods are extremely dry now," he added.

He reported about 15 acres were burned over in the entire state yesterday, three each in Garrett, Baltimor and Anne Arundel Counties and the rest scattered.

The Department of Forest and Parks has 27 regular and 12 temporary fire guards on duty now.

"We have been running down every smoke," Buckingham said. "That seems to be the worst of our troubles at the moment. And it appears that the chief cause of the fires we have is cigarets.

"We would like to have no burning of brush or debris at all in the day time during this hazardous season. Such burning should be done only with good clearance, since whirlwinds are apt to develop now and they can carry coals a good distance."

Buckingham said there were no fires of consequence reported up to late afternoon today.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

"Take Pen in Hand"

This column has been running for so long that its readers, in towns like ours all over the country, are beginning to "take pen in hand" and write us what they think.

Some of them take me over the coals for what I say—like the column I ran on planting alfalfa. Others write, "I liked your column yesterday, but...." All of them have different points of view.

From where I sit, that's the way it should be. Everybody's entitled to an opinion—and it's those very differences, and friendly criticism, that make for tolerance and better understanding—whether it's ideas on planting alfalfa or choosing between beer and cider.

The more folks air their differences right out in public, with a neighborly respect for the other person's liberties and point of view, the closer we are to the American principle of individual freedom—whether it's in a choice of crops or beverages.

National Apple Week Will Be Observed In Hampshire County

Essay Contest Will Be Held In Schools

By THOMAS WILLIAMS

ROMNEY, W. Va. — "National Apple Week," an annual celebration held throughout the nation from Saturday, October 25 through Saturday, November 1, will be given an official send off in Romney by Mayor Blair M. Haines, who will issue an edict proclaiming "King Apple" king for a week. Apple Week here will be marked by restaurants featuring apple dishes in their menus, by retail stores featuring fresh and canned apples, and by posters, stickers and streamers placed in various spots over the town.

One outstanding event will be the presentation of a bushel of beautiful apples to Mayor Haines by Apple Week Chairman David Volkin at the start of the celebration. Another top feature will be the presentation of cash prizes to winners in the apple essay contest sponsored by county orchardists in county high schools.

Robert L. Sumner, manager of the Mountain Fruit Sales Inc., and his secretary, Mrs. Anne Harmison, have spend considerable time in collaboration with Chairman Volkin in preparing and distributing advertising material throughout Hampshire County.

James Handley Originator

"Apple Day" was founded by James Handley, Quincy, Ill., in 1905 on the theory that mankind should pay tribute to the virtues of the apple. In 1920, the International Apple Association arranged with Mr. Handley to make a permanent date for "Apple Day" on Halloween, October 31. Simultaneously, National Apple Week was inaugurated. Numerous individuals and organizations worked with allied businesses to promote the observance. This year, supporting the apple people, notably are General Mills and the United Fruit Company.

To reminisce on the local apple situation, it is noted that prior to 1890 there were several small orchards in Hampshire County identified with such prominent names as David W. Swisher, grandfather of D. E. Swisher, Jr., Clyde and John Swisher, currently perpetuating the family tradition in the Levels area; David E. Swisher, son of David W.; and John N. Rannells, grandfather of Howard Rannells, active in orcharding now; Samuel P. Rannells, son of John N.; Silas Rannells, grandfather of William B. Rannells, and Opal P. Thompson who operates Belmont Farms.

Other prominent owners then were Franklin Ewers, father of the late A. L. Ewers, and Jacob H. Cornwell, father of John J. Cornwell. However, it is recorded that the first commercially important Hampshire County orchard, consisting of some 15,000 trees, all peaches, was planted on Jersey Mountain, three miles east of Romney, by Gilbert Proctor Miller, in collaboration with L. H. C. Pancake, in 1890. This event is commemorated by a bronze plaque, embodying a bust of Mr. Miller in bas-relief, placed at the Court House in Romney.

Industry Beginning Noted

Gilbert P. Miller was one of a family of pioneer orchardists. His son, Edward W. Miller, followed suit and is now manager of Romney Orchards, Inc. Gilbert Miller's brother, Harry W., and son, Harry W., Jr., conduct a sizable orchard enterprise at Paw Paw. To William S. Miller, the father of Gilbert and Harry Miller, goes credit for being the pioneer orchardist in not only his native Berkeley County but also in the entire Shenandoah Valley. His work started accidentally, so legend records, when, in 1859, William S. Miller cast away refuse from his home made cider press, from which there sprang some seedling apple sprouts. Subsequently he planted them in a nursery row and, enlisting the counsel and know-how of one Patrick Beery, of Rochester, N. Y. Mr. Miller budded these seedlings and began supplying others with stock for transplanting.

The early orchardists faced extremely difficult and hazardous transportation problems. Most of the fruit in those days was sold in Cumberland and other nearby markets.

From an humble beginning during the last century, orcharding has developed into the leading industry of Hampshire County and today the fortunes of the "King of Fruits," the apple, has a vital effect upon the destinies of the county at large. The 1945 Department of Agriculture census, listing 100 leading counties in the United States, ranks Hampshire County, West Virginia, 31st in apple tree count, with 278,753 trees, and 33rd in production, with 649,362 bushels. In the quadri-state Appalachian Area apple belt, Hampshire ranks 10th.

World-wide, there are more than 14,000 names of varieties of apples recorded. The most popular varieties in Hampshire County are Ben Davis, Delicious, Gano, Rome Beauty, Golden Delicious, Greening, Grimes Golden, Johathan, Maiden Blush, Rambo, Stayman Winesap, Wealthy, Winesap, Winter Banana, Yellow Transparent and York Imperial.

The county orchardists have taken two significant, progressive steps during the past few years ,the first of which was the erection in 1941 of a cold-storage plant in Romney. The result of a desire of long standing, the capacity of the original storage was 135,000 bushels; but improvements and additions having been completed during the past summer, bringing the capacity to approximately 235,000 bushels.

David Voldin is manager of the cold storage, known as the Fruit Growers' Cooperative Storage Association. Prior to 1941, fruit for coldstorage was sent to Winchester, Berkeley Springs, Martinsburg and other places.

The second step was the formation last April of a sales agency in Romney. A corporation, owned by several prominent orchardists in the district, Mountain Fruit Sales, Inc., is the only marketing agency in Hampshire County.

With offices in the Bank of Romney Building, its offices are well equipped, having recently installed a teletypewriter to facilitate communications with the markets. Mrs. Anne C. Harmison serves as office secretary and R. L. (Bud) Sumner is sales manager.

The apple industry is represented by the International Apple Association, Inc., Rochester, N. Y., which as its name implies, also has membership in apple producing and apple consuming foreign countries. The United States industry is also represented by the National Apple Institute, Washington. These organizations, with the various apple commissions, apple institutes, and horticultural societies, combine to wield considerable influence in connection with national or international questions affecting the industry.

Scouts Are Aiding In Chest Campaign

Members of local Boy Scout and Girl Scout troops are giving valuable assistance in preparations for Cumberland's 1947 Community Chest campaign, which will begin October 28, according to John T. Fey, general chairman.

For the past two days a dozen Girl Scouts have been working each afternoon, sorting out 15,000 red feathers, the campaign symbol, and counting out 10 feathers per envelope, to be used by canvassers for presentation to donors.

This Saturday and Monday, a number of Boy Scouts will deliver packages of campaign folders to 217 larger firms in the city. Additional folders will be mailed out to 717 smaller firms over the weekend. A total of 15,000 folders have been printed for distribution to business personnel.

Meanwhile, Fey said that 21 speaking engagements have been filled during the past week by members of the campaign's Speakers Bureau, a group formed to address employes of industrial concerns regarding the purpose of the drive.

John M. Robb, chairman, is assisted by James Alfred Avirett, Ralph Beard, Arthur B. Gibson, C. P. Jolley, Clifton Van Roby, Maj. Elmer Wall and Capt. Lynn Wiseman of the Salvation Army, John P. Zimmerman, Earl Manges, Thomas B. Finan and Miss Jeannette Bonig.

Yanks Rolling In Dough

By C. V. BURNS

Cumberland's Dukes of the newly organized All-American Basketball League will be covered by accident insurance, according to Bob Whip, business manager.

Last spring an insurance agent tried to interest some of the local sandlot baseball teams in giving their players protection but they turned it down. The result was that a number of clubs passed the hat at benefit games in an attempt to raise money for hospital expenses whenever a player was injured.

We talked to an insurance agent the other day regarding accident insurance for those engaging in athletics.

"Do teams and players turn it down because it is too costly?" we asked.

"It's a reasonable contract and I can't understand why more teams or individuals don't take advantage of it," the agent replied.

For a nominal fee of $10.04 a player is covered for a six months' period. Benefits include a medical expense of $500 and in addition there's a $15 weekly income as long as disability lasts. If death occurs as a result of an accident $1,500 is paid while a loss of limb provides $3,000.

The Wheeling team of the All-American Basketball League may be known as the Stogies as was the baseball club, the last professional outfit to represent the West Virginia city in an organized league. The stogie industry favors the idea.

The circuit prohibits a club using the name of an individual business.

Looks like the League of Maryland Sportsmen tossed in an "equalizer" when it passed that resolution to remove all restrictions for angling on Evitt's Creek from Route 40 to the Potomac River, throwing open this sector of the creek to angling for all species of fish under the current laws.

At present Evitt's Creek is a recognized trout stream and can be fished only during the open trouting season. The proposal would cut the trouting waters from its present length of six miles to about three miles.

Local sportsmen tell us that this change had been discussed here some time ago and the league apparently took it up to balance the "league's" resolution "urging postponement of the expenditure of approximately $45,000 on trout and bass rearing ponds on Bottle Run, Allegany county"—which does not go down so good here because of the fact that most of the clubs affiliated with the LMS come from the other end of the state.

Lee Fresh was among a group of five anglers fishing recently with Capt. George Edwards of Middle River, Md. They hit the striper jackpot off Poole's Island with a catch of 116 fish, the largest of which weighed in at 10 pounds.

Asked how he felt about his prospects for 1948, Charley Keller, Yankee slugger from Frederick, Md., who is recovering from an operation for the removal of spinal discs, replied:

"I don't really know.

"Some days I feel great. And other days I think I'll never be able to play again.

Peter "Bunny" Buntag believes he has a promising heavyweight in the person of Art Swiden, 18-year-old belter from Braddock, Pa., who has won 12 of 14 professional fights.

Swiden is 6-feet-1 and tips the beam at 170 pounds.

Buntag, who manages Tommy Yarosz of Monaca, Pa., one of the country's top ranking middleweights, says that Swiden is a terrific puncher and fears nobody.

Charles Town (W. Va.) will stage its 18-day winter race meeting December 1 through December 20. The West Virginia State Racing Commission has approved the dates.

Ohio State University feels that portable radios are a nuisance factor and unfair to fans sitting in nearby seats. So the sets have been barred from Buckeye Stadium.

H. N. "Jeb" Stewart, the 6 foot 7 inch center of Hagerstown's Morris Frock (American Legion) basketball team last season, who is supposed to play with the Cumberland Dukes in the All-American League this winter, is playing right end for the Shippensburg State Teachers College football team undefeated in three starts this season.

Stewart, who hails from Chambersburg, plans to go out for the Shippensburg basketball team, too, we are advised.

In his final statement before he stepped down as an official of the New York Yankees, Larry McPhail, stressed the following facts:

1. The club made $2,000,000 before federal income taxes in 1945 and 1946 and approximately the same amount this year.

2. The club drew more people in three years than any other major league club has drawn in six.

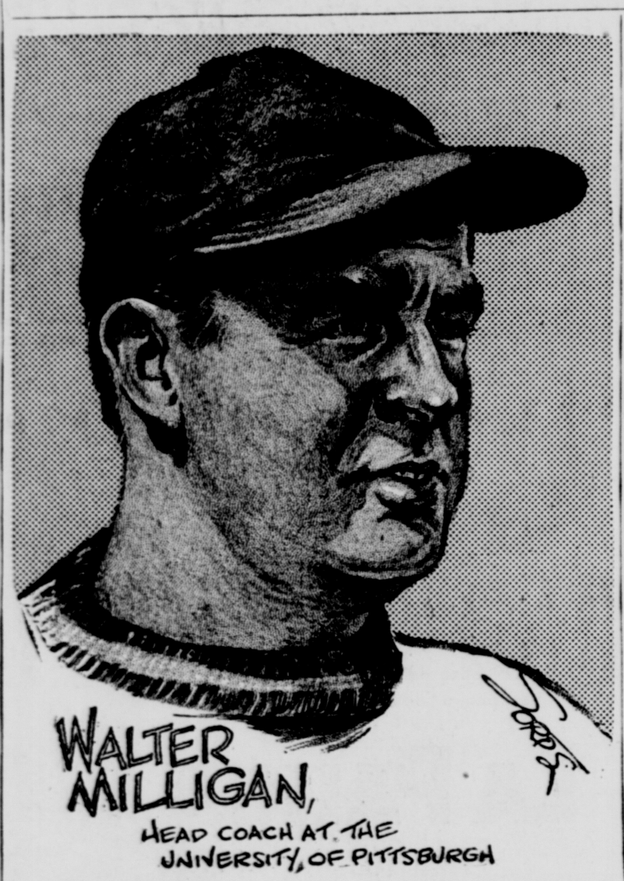

3. The club has made more money in three years than any other major league club has ever made in ten.

4. American League clubs were paid more money in New York in the past three years than in any other seven years in the previous history of the Yankee club.

5. The attendance and earnings record of this club for three years has never even been approached in the entire history of baseball.

COLLEGE SOCCER

Navy 3, Duke 0

By JACK SORDS

Walter "Mike" Milligan won't make much of a record as a coach this year for Mike is coach of the University of Pittsburgh Panthers and the Smoky City eleven is playing a suicide schedule.

Already the Panthers have been beaten four times, but the opposition has been terrific. Notre Dame Illinois! Michigan! Indiana!

Milligan is coaching Pitt for the first time and has put together a very good first team. But that's all. When the Panthers wear down, the team is vulnerable. And then the scoring begins. Even high-scoring Michigan couldn't dent the Panther goal line in the first quarter of their game. But from then on it was murder.

Milligan, a Pittsburgh graduate, was assistant to Wes Fesler last year after coaching the line at Tulsa for five years. Previous to that he was assistant at Pitt under Jock Sutherland and assistant at the University of Florida.

The new Pitt coach played high school football in Aliquippa, Pa., and then at Kiski Prep. He was a regular on the Pitt varsities in 1929-30-31 and played in the Rose Bowl game in 1930.

Nittany Lions' Defensive Mark Heads College

Penn State Holds Foes To 5 Inches Per Rush

By GAIL FOWLER

NEW YORK, Oct. 22 (AP)—Penn State's Nittany Lions are as tight with real estimate as the present market, and yield it just about as dearly.

While the Lion gridders have been romping to four straight one-sided victories they're held the would-be enemy battering rams to the stingy average of only five inches per rush in 106 attempts.

Statistics released today by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau showed Penn State the nation's leader in total defense and rushing defense.

Lions Toss Syracuse

Chiefly because the Lions threw back Syracuse last week for a net loss of 107 yards on the ground, and a 47 yard net loss from both passing and rushing, this week's figures show the Penn Staters have given up but 14 rushing yards in 106 attempts for an average of 3.5 yards per game — or the aforementioned five inches per nudge.

In total defense against both passing and rushing, Penn State confined the foe to 69.7 yards per game.

Only in forward pass defense do the Lions yield honors, not being included among the nation's top ten. Leaders in the anti-aircraft classification is Notre Dame, which in three games has given up only 25 yards per contest via the air.

While some of the opposition of both of the tissue paper cariety, Saturday's game between Penn State State and West Virginia will feature two schools prominent among the nation's team offense and defense leaders.

Penn State, besides dominating total and rushing defense figures, also currently is leading the nation in rushing offense, clicking off an average of 322 yards per game.

Mountaineers Average 428.3

West Virginia ranks second in total offense, with 428.3 amassed in rushing and passing per game, fifth in passing offense with 171 yards pjer game, and 14th in rushing offense with 257.3 per game.

If Penn State can continue its stellar defensive endeavors, the Lions will be in line to dominate tre record books defensively. During their so-so season of 1938 they set a pass defense record by giving up only 13.1 yards per game, a mark since unapproached.

Nations Top Jumpers Run At Laurel Today

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 22—(AP)—The nation's top jumpers, with one or two exceptions, are included in the field of nine horses named for tomorrow's 17th running of the Governor Ogle Steeplechase Handicap.

Kent Miller has an entry which includes the two top weights of the field—War Battle under 164 pounds and Elkridge at 158—and appears to hold a strong hand in the $10,000-added event run at two miles over 13 fences.

Arrayed against the Miller jumpers will be Miss Ella Widener's entry of Adaptable 150, and Chance Bullet 137, T. T. Mott's Floating Isle 148, Rokeby Stable's Genancoke 141, Mrs. C. E. Adams' Refugio 139, R. W. Grant's Sun Bath 139, and Brookemeade Stable's Greek Flag 137.

Coach Zack Taylor Released By Pirates

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 22. (AP)—The reorganization of the Pittsburgh Pirates moved into the coaching ranks today with the announcement by General Manager Roy Hamey that Coach Zack Taylor had been released unconditionally after one year's service.

Bullpen Catcher Johnny McKee also was given an unconditional release.

Hamey said that Bill Burwell had been re-appointed a coach and that another experienced man or two would be added to the staff.

Scoreboard Will Be In Operation For Friday Game

Staley, "Eck" Miers, Milbrada To Officiate

The new electric scoreboard purchased through funds donated by local football fans will be in operation tomorrow night for the first time when undefeated Ridgeley High School plays the high-powered Fort Hill Sentinels in the local stadium at 8 o'clock.

Tests were run this week and everything is in working order, according to Charles R. "Huck" McFerran, who launched the local drive for funds and collected much of the money himself.

The board was erected at the end of the school building facing the stadium by the George F. Hazelwood Company and the electrical work was in charge of Charles W. Reed, local electrical contractor. Numerals on the board are 12 inches high.

Announcement was made that the board also will be in operation Saturday night when LaSalle High School's Explorers play hosts to Mooseheart (Ill.) High School at 8 o'clock.

Officials for the Fort Hill-Ridgeley game will be Dan Staley, referee; "Eck" Miers, umpire, and Ed Milbrada, head linesman.

Staley, John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh and C. William Spangler will be the referee, umpire and head linesman, respectively, for the Saturday night game here.

Allegany High School will play Roosevelt-Wilson High School in Clarksburg, W. Va., Saturday night.

Potomac State's game with Salem College is scheduled for Friday afternoon at Stayman Field, Keyser.

Tavistock Scores In Handicap Race

Buzfuz Finishes 2nd, Winner Pays $23.30

NEW YORK, Oct. 22—(AP)—Tavistock, a feather-weighter War Admiral colt owned by A. F. Plock, earned the most important victory of his career today by romping home three lengths in front of the Sunshine Stable's Buzfuz in the $25,050 Interborough Handicap at Jamaica.

Running as an entry with Ellis, Tavistock carried only 98 pounds in scoring his second win in three days for a $23.30 mutuel pay-off.

Buzfuz was second with Master Bid rallying from far back to take the show money from King Dorsett, three lengths behind Buzfuz. The favored Rippey never was in it, finishing seventh, before a large weekday crowd of 25,598.

With Pleasure, the likely favorite, was scratched in the morning, declining the task of hauling topweight of 134 pounds.

ST. JOHN'S COLLEGE TALKS OF REVIVING ATHLETIC PROGRAM

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 22 (AP)—St. John's College alumni will have a chance to express themselves Saturday on whether intercollegiate athletics should be revived at the institution.

A general meeting of graduates has been planned in connection with the inauguration of John S. Kieffer as president, and one subject certain to be discussed is a proposal of the reactivated Annapolis and Anne Arundel county chapter of the alumni association.

The chapter was on record today as favoring resumption of intercollegiate athletics "as soon as feasible." Members said they would offer a resolution to that effect when the association convenes.

Sports at the college now are limited to intramural contests. St. John's at one time engaged in intercollegiate lacrosse, football, baseball and tennis.

A large baseball bat, awarded annually to the championship team, was presented to "Red" Payne, manager of the Loyal Order of Moose team, by James Wilkinson, of the Elks, 1946 champions. Before the Elks won it the bat was captured by the Knights of Columbus for four straight years.

President Arthur Brant announced that the league contributed an additional $166 to the benefit fund for George Leith, umpire, who is recovering from a brain operation in a Baltimore hospital. This boosted the amount raised by the circuit for Leith to an even $500. An all-star game netted $334.

Among those who spoke briefly were Marcellus Mullan, Elks; James Condon, K. of C.; Edward Allan and Leslie Helmer of the Celanese Corporation; Somerville Nicholson, Joe Garlitz, representing the league umpires, President Brant, Coaches William P. Steelers Are Top Offensive Eleven In National Loop

Bill Dudley Playing Great Ball For Lions

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 21 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers and Bullet Bill Dudley who agreed they could get along without each other today were proving their point.

National Football League statistics released by Commissioner Bert Bell's office revealed that the Steelers, minus Dudley, were the top offensive team in the NFL and Dudley, playing for the hapless Detroit Lions, led the western division in four individual departments and was second in a fifth.

Dr. Jock Sutherland's Pittsburgh team gained 1,614 yards to 1,611 for Detroit in total offense. The Steelers with 84 also had the most first downs. They were second in points scored with 115 to Los Angeles' 116.

Packers' Punting Best

Green Bay showed the best punting average (44.9); Washington led in pass completion percentage (54.8) on 67 successful tosses out of 122 attempted and in yards gained passing (1,096); the Chicago Bears and Chicago Cardinals made the smallest number of fumbles (8) and Los Angeles scored the most points (116).

Los Angeles led for the second straight week in average ground gaining (5.3 yards) with Green Bay second on a 4.3 yard per carry average.

Boston and Green Bay had the least number of points scored against them, each showing 58. The Philadelphia Eagles, for the third week, recorded the least percent yardage made against it (3.3) with the New York Giants a very close second at 3.4.

Dudley, who last year won individual honors in four classifications, is making a great bid to repeat the feats that led to his being selected the loop's most valuable player.

The Detroit star leads his division in the return of kickoffs with 171 yards in six attempts; in punt returns with 133 yards in six carries; is second in ground gaining by 21-yards to Charley Trippi's 224; lead both divisions in scoring with seven touchdowns and in interceptions with four. He also leads in touchdown passes with five.

Steve Van Buren, of Philadelphia, continued to show the way in ground gaining to both divisions with 357 yards. Johnny Clement of Pittsburgh, was second with 308 and Trippi, of the Cards, third.

Jim Keane, of the Chicago Bears, led the pass receivers with 328 yards and four touchdowns on 22 catches while Val Jansante, Pittsburgh ranked second with 312 yards and one touchdown on 18 receptions.

Baugh Retains Lead

Sammy Baugh, of Washington, continued far ahead of the field in the passing department with a 55 percent average. Baugh tossed 120 passes of which 66 hit the mark for 1,087 yards and 30 touchdowns. Bob Waterfield, of Los Angeles, led the west with a 48.1 average on 37 completions for 550 yards. Tommy Thompson, Philadelphia, Sid Luckman, Bears, Clyde Leforce, Detroit, and Paul Christman, Cards were other passing leaders.

Dudley's 84 yards return of a punt for a touchdown was one of the outstanding features of the week in the NFL.

Piet Wins By Nose In Laurel Feature

Three Horse Blanket Finish Marks Race

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 22 (AP)—Bomar Stables' Piet, scoring by a nose in a three-horse blanket finish, survived a foul claim today to capture the 20th running of the Spalding Lowe Jenkins Stakes at Laurel race course.

Mrs. John T. Maloney's Big If was second by a nose over G. M. Jacobson's Big Dial, whose jockey, Doug Dodson, lodged the objection.

Dodson claimed that Reds Howell, who rode Piet in two recent Laurel victories, caused a jam at the first turn in today's mile and a sixteenth test for two year olds.

But, after deliberation, the stewards decided that the jam—if any—was caused by Ted Atkinson aboard Greentree Stable's Olio, and M. N. Gonzalez, on Alfred Vanderbilt's Final Touch, who came out at that point.

Piet in winning his fifth race in 11 starts this year, ran the distance in 1.46 2-5 on a fast track, and boosted his earnings to $92,110. He paid $6.60 for $2.

Dukes Given Protection
LMS Tosses "Equalizer"
"Bunny" Boosts Swiden
Yanks Rolling In Dough

By C. V. BURNS

Cumberland's Dukes of the newly organized All-American Basketball League will be covered by accident insurance, according to Bob Whip, business manager.

Last spring an insurance agent tried to interest some of the local sandlot baseball teams in giving their players protection but they turned it down. (The result was that a number of clubs passed the hat at benefit games in an attempt to raise money for hospital expenses whenever a player was injured.

We talked to an insurance agent the other day regarding accident insurance for those engaging in athletics.

"Do teams and players turn it down because it is too costly?" we asked.

"It's a reasonable contract and I can't understand why more teams or individuals don't take advantage of it," the agent replied.

For a nominal fee of $10.04 a player is covered for a six months' period. Benefits include a medical expense of $500 and in addition there's a $15 weekly income as long as disability lasts. If death occurs as a result of an accident $1,500 is paid while a loss of limb provides $3,000.

The Wheeling team of the All-American Basketball League may be known as the Stogies as was the baseball club, the last professional outfit to represent the West Virginia city in an organized league. The stogie industry favors the idea.

The circuit prohibits a club using the name of an individual business.

Looks like the League of Maryland Sportsmen tossed in an "equalizer" when it passed that resolution to remove all restrictions for angling on Evitt's Creek from Route 40 to the Potomac River, throwing open this sector of the creek to angling for all species of fish under the current laws.

At present Evitt's Creek is a recognized trout stream and can be fished only during the open trouting season. The proposal would cut the trouting waters from its present length of six miles to about three miles.

Local sportsmen tell us that this change had been discussed here some time ago and the league apparently took it up to balance the "league's" resolution "urging postponement of the expenditure of approximately $45,000 on trout and bass rearing ponds on Bottle Run, Allegany county"—which does not go down so good here because of the fact that most of the clubs affiliated with the LMS come from the other end of the state.

Lee Fresh was among a group of five anglers fishing recently with Capt. George Edwards of Middle River, Md. They hit the striper jackpot off Poole's Island with a catch of 116 fish, the largest of which weighed in at 10 pounds.

Asked how he felt about his prospects for 1948, Charley Keller, Yankee slugger from Frederick, Md., who is recovering from an operation for the removal of spinal discs, replied:

"I don't really know.
"Some days I feel great. And other days I think I'll never be able to play again.

Peter "Bunny" Buntag believes he has a promising heavyweight in the person of Art Swiden, 18-year-old belter from Braddock, Pa., who has won 12 of 14 professional fights.

Swiden is 6-feet-1 and tips the beam at 170 pounds.

Buntag, who manages Tommy Yarosz of Monaca, Pa., one of the country's top ranking middleweights, says that Swiden is a terrific puncher and fears nobody.

Charles Town (W. Va.) will stage its 18-day winter race meeting December 1 through December 20. The West Virginia State Racing Commission has approved the dates.

Ohio State University feels that portable radios are a nuisance factor and unfair to fans sitting in nearby seats. So the sets have been barred from Buckeye Stadium.

H. N. "Jeb" Stewart, the 6 foot 7 inch center of Hagerstown's Morris Frock (American Legion) basketball team last season, who is supposed to play with the Cumberland Dukes in the All-American League this winter, is playing right end for the Shippensburg State Teachers College football team undefeated in three starts this season.

Stewart, who hails from Chambersburg, plans to go out for the Shippensburg basketball team, too, we are advised.

In his final statement before he stepped down as an official of the New York Yankees, Larry McPhail, stressed the following facts:

1. The club made $2,000,000 before federal income taxes in 1945 and 1946 and approximately the same amount this year.

2. The club drew more people in three years than any other major league club has drawn in six.

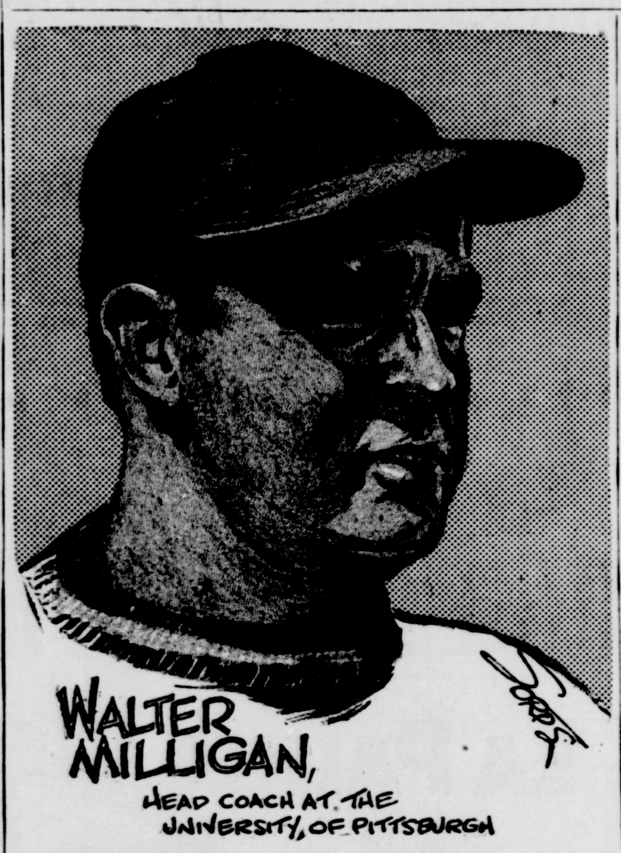

3. The club has made more money in three years than any other major league club has ever made in ten.

4. American League clubs were paid more money in New York in the past three years than in any other seven years in the previous history of the Yankee club.

5. The attendance and earnings record of this club for three years has never even been approached in the entire history of baseball.

COLLEGE SOCCER

Navy 3, Duke 0

By JACK SORDS

Walter "Mike" Milligan won't make much of a record as a coach this year for Mike is coach of the University of Pittsburgh Panthers and the Smoky City eleven is playing a suicide schedule.

Already the Panthers have been beaten four times, but the opposition has been terrific. Notre Dame Illinois! Michigan! Indiana!

Milligan is coaching Pitt for the first time and has put together a very good first team. But that's all. When the Panthers wear down, the team is vulnerable. And then the scoring begins. Even high-scoring Michigan couldn't dent the Panther goal line in the first quarter of their game. But from then on it was murder.

Milligan, a Pittsburgh graduate, was assistant to Wes Fesler last year after coaching the line at Tulsa for five years. Previous to that he was assistant at Pitt under Jock Sutherland and assistant at the University of Florida.

The new Pitt coach played high school football in Aliquippa, Pa., and then at Kiski Prep. He was a regular on the Pitt varsities in 1929-30-31 and played in the Rose Bowl game in 1930.

Nittany Lions' Defensive Mark Heads College

Penn State Holds Foes To 5 Inches Per Rush

By GAIL FOWLER

NEW YORK, Oct. 22 (AP)—Penn State's Nittany Lions are as tight with real estimate as the present market, and yield it just about as dearly.

While the Lion gridders have been romping to four straight one-sided victories they're held the would-be enemy battering rams to the stingy average of only five inches per rush in 106 attempts.

Statistics released today by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau showed Penn State the nation's leader in total defense and rushing defense.

Lions Toss Syracuse

Chiefly because the Lions threw back Syracuse last week for a net loss of 107 yards on the ground, and a 47 yard net loss from both passing and rushing, this week's figures show the Penn Staters have given up but 14 rushing yards in 106 attempts for an average of 3.5 yards per game — or the aforementioned five inches per nudge.

In total defense against both passing and rushing, Penn State confined the foe to 69.7 yards per game.

Only in forward pass defense do the Lions yield honors, not being included among the nation's top ten. Leaders in the anti-aircraft classification is Notre Dame, which in three games has given up only 25 yards per contest via the air.

While some of the opposition of both of the tissue paper cariety, Saturday's game between Penn State and West Virginia will feature two schools prominent among the nation's team offense and defense leaders.

Penn State, besides dominating total and rushing defense figures, also currently is leading the nation in rushing offense, clicking off an average of 322 yards per game.

Mountaineers Average 428.3

West Virginia ranks second in total offense, with 428.3 amassed in rushing and passing per game, fifth in passing offense with 171 yards pjer game, and 14th in rushing offense with 257.3 per game.

If Penn State can continue its stellar defensive endeavors, the Lions will be in line to dominate tre record books defensively. During their so-so season of 1938 they set a pass defense record by giving up only 13.1 yards per game, a mark since unapproached.

The chapter was on record today as favoring resumption of intercollegiate athletics "as soon as feasible." Members said they would offer a resolution to that effect when the association convenes.

The Rocking Chair Softball League climaxed its 1947 season last night with a pig roast at the Loyal Order of Moose Home. One hundred and forty attended the annual affair at which Eugene T. Gunning, assistant managing editor of The Evening Times, was toastmaster.

A large baseball bat, awarded annually to the championship team, was presented to "Red" Payne, manager of the Loyal Order of Moose team, by James Wilkinson, of the Elks, 1946 champions. Before the Elks won it the bat was captured by the Knights of Columbus for four straight years.

President Arthur Brant announced that the league contributed an additional $166 to the benefit fund for George Leith, umpire, who is recovering from a brain operation in a Baltimore hospital. This boosted the amount raised by the circuit for Leith to an even $500. An all-star game netted $334.

Among those who spoke briefly were Marcellus Mullan, Elks; James Condon, K. of C.; Edward Allan and Leslie Helmer of the Celanese Corporation; Somerville Nicholson, Joe Garlitz, representing the league umpires, President Brant, Coaches William P. Hahn and "Bobby" Cavanaugh, Fort Hill; Walter L. Bowers, Allegany, and Jesse Riggleman, Ridgeley, and J. Suter Kegg of the Times.

The Moose Lodge presented Frank Fogtman, their ace pitcher, with a paid up receipt representing a year's dues.

MOUNTIE VS. LION—Two of the nation's touchdown crazy football teams, West Virginia U. and Penn State, put their unblemished records on the grid at State College, Pa., Saturday, October 25 in one of the top battles of the day. The Mountaineers of Morgantown have rambled for 194 points in four games while holding the opposition to a mere 13. Penn State has racked up 194 markers with one touchdown charged against the club. Two hard-hitting fullbacks will take the center of the stage in this game. Penn State's power boy is Joe Colone, right, and West Virginia's is Pete Zinaich, left.

Steelers Are Top Offensive Eleven In National Loop

Bill Dudley Playing Great Ball For Lions

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 21 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers and Bullet Bill Dudley who agreed they could get along without each other today were proving their point.

National Football League statistics released by Commissioner Bert Bell's office revealed that the Steelers, minus Dudley, were the top offensive team in the NFL and Dudley, playing for the hapless Detroit Lions, led the western division in four individual departments and was second in a fifth.

Dr. Jock Sutherland's Pittsburgh team gained 1,614 yards to 1,611 for Detroit in total offense. The Steelers with 84 also had the most first downs. They were second in points scored with 115 to Los Angeles' 116.

Packers' Punting Best

Green Bay showed the best punting average (44.9); Washington led in pass completion percentage (54.8) on 67 successful tosses out of 122 attempted and in yards gained passing (1,096); the Chicago Bears and Chicago Cardinals made the smallest number of fumbles (8) and Los Angeles scored the most points (116).

Los Angeles led for the second straight week in average ground gaining (5.3 yards) with Green Bay second on a 4.3 yard per carry average.

Boston and Green Bay had the least number of points scored against them, each showing 58. The Philadelphia Eagles, for the third week, recorded the least percent yardage made against it (3.3) with the New York Giants a very close second at 3.4.

Dudley, who last year won individual honors in four classifications, is making a great bid to repeat the feats that led to his being selected the loop's most valuable player.

The Detroit star leads his division in the return of kickoffs with 171 yards in six attempts; in punt returns with 133 yards in six carries; is second in ground gaining by 21-yards to Charley Trippi's 224; lead both divisions in scoring with seven touchdowns and in interceptions with four. He also leads in touchdown passes with five.

Steve Van Buren, of Philadelphia, continued to show the way in ground gaining to both divisions with 357 yards. Johnny Clement of Pittsburgh, was second with 308 and Trippi, of the Cards, third.

Jim Keane, of the Chicago Bears, led the pass receivers with 328 yards and four touchdowns on 22 catches while Val Jansante, Pittsburgh ranked second with 312 yards and one touchdown on 18 receptions.

Baugh Retains Lead

Sammy Baugh, of Washington, continued far ahead of the field in the passing department with a 55 percent average. Baugh tossed 120 passes of which 66 hit the mark for 1,087 yards and 30 touchdowns. Bob Waterfield, of Los Angeles, led the west with a 48.1 average on 37 completions for 550 yards. Tommy Thompson, Philadelphia, Sid Luckman, Bears, Clyde Leforce, Detroit, and Paul Christman, Cards were other passing leaders.

Dudley's 84 yards return of a punt for a touchdown was one of the outstanding features of the week in the NFL.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 22. (AP) — Duke Maronic, veteran guard for the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League, suffered an ankle fracture in Sunday's game against the Pittsburgh Steelers and will be on the sidelines at least a month, club officials announced today.

Piet Wins By Nose In Laurel Feature

Three Horse Blanket Finish Marks Race

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 22 (AP)—Bomar Stables' Piet, scoring by a nose in a three-horse blanket finish, survived a foul claim today to capture the 20th running of the Spalding Lowe Jenkins Stakes at Laurel race course.

Mrs. John T. Maloney's Big If was second by a nose over G. M. Jacobson's Big Dial, whose jockey, Doug Dodson, lodged the objection.

Dodson claimed that Reds Howell, who rode Piet in two recent Laurel victories, caused a jam at the first turn in today's mile and a sixteenth test for two year olds.

But, after deliberation, the stewards decided that the jam—if any—was caused by Ted Atkinson aboard Greentree Stable's Olio, and M. N. Gonzalez, on Alfred Vanderbilt's Final Touch, who came out at that point.

Piet in winning his fifth race in 11 starts this year, ran the distance in 1.46 2-5 on a fast track, and boosted his earnings to $92,110. He paid $6.60 for $2.

CHICAGO, Oct 22 (INS)—Hampton Pool, assistant coach of the Chicago Rockets of the All-America Football Conference, resigned tonight a few hours after a published report that he had become head coach of the team.

The report, denied by the Rockets' management said that Pool had taken over the Rockets' head coaching job from Jim Crowley.

William S. Toohey, president of the Rockets who have lost eight straight games in conference competition this season, said he regretted Pool's resignation.

Crowley conducted the Rockets' practice today and laughed off the report that he was no longer head coach.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 22—(INS)—Arthur Hornblow's next for M-G-M is "Carnival In Venice," which will be made right in Venice itself.

Louella Parsons

He says the new Venice is exciting and full of intrigue, and a perfect place to make beautiful exteriors. The story is by S. N. Behrman.

Since Arthur came back he also made arrangements to do a remake of Edith Wharton's "Age of Innocence."

With Mrs. Wharton's biography so much discussed these days, Arthur feels it is a good time to bring back this charming story which was one of Katherine Cornell's most popular stage plays.

Greer Garson is keeping her promise to have a good time. She's just back from San Francisco where she said she went to the theatre and visited the shops. Tomorrow she goes to New York for a 10 day whirl at the theatres.

She's been spending quite a lot of time with Norman Collins, who has written the first draft to the sequel of "Mrs. Miniver."

"You know," said Greer, "I was sitting in a cafe in San Francisco when who should I see but Walter Pidgeon. When I waved to him he thought he was seeing things." Walter, of course, will be in the "Miniver" sequel.

Chit-chat: Mrs. Phyllis Decker, wife of the late John Decker, the famous artist, says she is going to open an exhibit in her galleries, Nov. 20, with some canvasses which will leave Hollywood gasping.

She will put 70 oil paintings on display, which were done by the French artist Georges St. Germain.

The canvasses are life size paintings of our movie stars, which the artist did from memory after seeing his subjects again and again in American movies in Paris.

When Milton Sperling telephoned Lilli Palmer in Londcn to tell her the name of her picture "Ever The Beginning" had been changed to "Tisa," her character in the story, Lilli gave him some news.

She said that she and Rex Harrison will be back here for Christmas and that Vivian Leigh and Laurence Olivier will be their house guests over the holidays.

I am wondering how Vivian and Larry can go to Australia as they planned originally, and still spend the holidays here.

A most ingenious contrivance, sort of like a rocker, has been built for Gene Kelly's leg. It is so successful that he will be able to go to London for the royal command performance and his doctor says that when he comes back he will be able to dance again.

However, his next picture, with Frank Sinatra, doesn't call for dancing, so his leg will have ample time to get in condition.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Patti Andrews of the famous Andrews sisters, just as I told you, was married last weekend to Marty Melcher.

Barbara Stanwyck, who owns nary a hat, had to borrow one to wear when she was godmother to the Peter Godfrey child, named for Barbara.

Viveca Lindfors split a perfectly good tooth today eating a hard piece of candy. She had to take time out to have it capped.

Paulette Goddard and Burgess Meredith dining with Evelyn Keyes and John Houston at the Chanteclair. When the photographers called Huston "Mr. Meredith" he posed with Paulette, while Burgess did a take with Evelyn.

Quite a turn out to hear the French singer, Roger Dann. He looks a lot like Dick Powell and has an ingratiating personality.

Former United States Attorney Charles Carr and Mrs. Carr entertained Bebe Daniels, Ben Lyon, the Harry Brands and Bill Parker.

Sir Alexander King and Mark Osterer, with the Peter Rathvons came over to our table to chat with Bebe and Ben, whom they had known in London. Also at the Rathvons table were Richard Ney and Jimmy Stack.

Frank Borzage, who let the Navy use his home during the war, has just sold it for a reported quarter of a million dollars.

Constance Collier is home and looking wonderful.

That's all today.

About half a billion tons of ore has been worked on the Witwatersrand in South Africa to extract about 10,000 tons of gold.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 22—(INS)—Arthur Hornblow's next for M-G-M is "Carnival In Venice," which will be made right in Venice itself.

Louella Parsons

He says the new Venice is exciting and full of intrigue, and a perfect place to make beautiful exteriors. The story is by S. N. Behrman.

Since Arthur came back he also made arrangements to do a remake of Edith Wharton's "Age of Innocence."

With Mrs. Wharton's biography so much discussed these days, Arthur feels it is a good time to bring back this charming story which was one of Katherine Cornell's most popular stage plays.

Greer Garson is keeping her promise to have a good time. She's just back from San Francisco where she said she went to the theatre and visited the shops. Tomorrow she goes to New York for a 10 day whirl at the theatres.

She's been spending quite a lot of time with Norman Collins, who has written the first draft to the sequel of "Mrs. Miniver."

"You know," said Greer, "I was sitting in a cafe in San Francisco when who should I see but Walter Pidgeon, When I waved to him he thought he was seeing things." Walter, of course, will be in the "Miniver" sequel.

Chit-chat: Mrs. Phyllis Decker, wife of the late John Decker, the famous artist, says she is going to open an exhibit in her galleries, Nov. 20, with some canvasses which will leave Hollywood gasping.

She will put 70 oil paintings on display, which were done by the French artist Georges St. Germain.

The canvasses are life size paintings of our movie stars, which the artist did from memory after seeing his subjects again and again in American movies in Paris.

When Milton Sperling telephoned Lilli Palmer in London to tell her the name of her picture "Ever The Beginning" had been changed to "Tisa," her character in the story, Lilli gave him some news.

She said that she and Rex Harrison will be back here for Christmas and that Vivian Leigh and Laurence Olivier will be their house guests over the holidays.

I am wondering how Vivian and Larry can go to Australia as they planned originally, and still spend the holidays here.

A most ingenious contrivance, sort of like a rocker, has been built for Gene Kelly's leg. It is so successful that he will be able to go to London for the royal command performance and his doctor says that when he comes back he will be able to dance again.

However, his next picture, with Frank Sinatra, doesn't call for dancing, so his leg will have ample time to get in condition.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Patti Andrews of the famous Andrews sisters, just as I told you, was married last weekend to Marty Melcher.

Barbara Stanwyck, who owns nary a hat, had to borrow one to wear when she was godmother to the Peter Godfrey child, named for Barbara.

Viveca Lindfors split a perfectly good tooth today eating a hard piece of candy. She had to take time out to have it capped.

Paulette Goddard and Burgess Meredith dining with Evelyn Keyes and John Houston at the Chanteclair. When the photographers called Huston "Mr. Meredith" he posed with Paulette, while Burgess did a take with Evelyn.

Quite a turn out to hear the French singer, Roger Dann. He looks a lot like Dick Powell and has an ingratiating personality.

Former United States Attorney Charles Carr and Mrs. Carr entertained Bebe Daniels, Ben Lyon, the Harry Brands and Bill Parker.

Sir Alexander King and Mark Osterer, with the Peter Rathvons came over to our table to chat with Bebe and Ben, whom they had known in London. Also at the Rathvons table were Richard Ney and Jimmy Stack.

Frank Borzage, who let the Navy use his home during the war, has just sold it for a reported quarter of a million dollars.

Constance Collier is home and looking wonderful.

That's all today.

About half a billion tons of ore has been worked on the Witwatersrand in South Africa to extract about 10,000 tons of gold.

George E. Bowersox, D.D., Leechburg, Pa., father of the pastor, delivered the sermon, which was based on the 34th Psalm.

Following the service, Dr. Bowersox led the cash rally to raise funds to pay for all repairs, including the refrescoing of interior walls and the ceiling, regilding of metal work and the revarnishing of all interior woodwork of the church. In a period of 20 minutes members and friends of the congregation pledged and gave $2,163. The cost of the work, which was done by the Seaber Art and Decorating Company, was $1,585.

The Frostburg 4-H Girls Club, meeting Monday evening at the home of Sally Krietzburg, 139 Spring Street, appointed a nominating committee, consisting of Helen Logue, Lois Skidmore and Phyllis Lehr, to name officers for the consideration of the club membership at their next meeting, when the annual election will be held. Marion Davies, club president, presided. The next meeting will feature an achievement day program.

The Senior Christian Endeavor Society of Salem Evangelical and Reformed Church will meet tonight at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Myron Lehr, Frost Avenue.

Frostburg Personals

Thelma Martin Robison, 213 East Main Street, is a surgical patient in Allegany Hospital, Cumberland.

Sister Mary Cleta and Sister Constance returned to Mt. Mercy College, Pittsburgh, after being guests at St. Michael's convent. Sister Mary Cleta and her traveling companion were here to visit her brother, Rev. Regis F. Larkin, assistant pastor at St. Michael's Catholic Church.

The United States uses about 500 million fence posts a year, enough to build 1,500,000 miles of fence.

CUMBERLAND PLACED ON SKYWAY ROUTE

Cumberland has been located on U. S. Skyway No. 1, recently designated by the Civil Aeronautics Administration as the first official route across the country from Los Angeles to Washington for use of private flyers, according to Jesse M. Hadley, chairman of the aviation committee of the Washington Board of Trade.

The approximately 500 cities and communities located along the skyway will be asked to co-operate in establishing, painting and maintaining air markers, legible from a height of at least 3,000 feet, in their community and adjacent areas.

Hadley said the markers should conform with CAA standard specifications with letters, painted in chrome yellow with a border or background of black, at least 10 feet high spelling out the name of the city, indicating the direction and distance of the nearest good airport, and giving latitude and longitude.

Pointing out that private planes in the United States now total 85,000, Hadley said Cumberland's location on the skyway will give local business concerns increased benefits by revenue from those who will be flying into the area.

Matches Cause Blaze In South End Store

South End and East Side Fire Company were called to the Engle Grocery Store, 531 Maryland Avenue, Tuesday night at 8:30 o'clock when fire broke out in the stockroom of the store.

Firemen said buckets of water thrown on the blaze had brought the flames under control when they arrived and added they were told the blaze resulted from a youth's playing with matches and lighter fluid.

East Side Fire Company extinguished a grass fire on Furnace Street, near the County Farm Tuesday at 6:55 p. m. The blaze was brought under control within a few minutes, firemen said.

King's Prints Win Camera Contests

John R. King's print, "Entrance," of the Cumberland Free Public Library, taken in a special contest held by the Cumberland Camera Club last month, won first prize at the club's meeting last night.

Another King print, "Morning Miss-t," won first place in the regular black and white competition. The picture was taken in front of the Court House on a misty morning and shows a young woman walking through the mist.

Second honors in regular competition went to Miss Dorothy Willison's print, "Waves," and third prize went to Charles Fields for his print, "Seaman." George Triplett won fourth place with "Backstretch Drive" and Miss Willison fifth place with "Birches."

R. R. Sitzler, who addressed the club on the chemistry of photography, was the judge of both the special and regular contests.

In color competition, William Price's "To The Mines," a picture of a freight train of empty cars, won first place. Charles Fields was the judge.

At the November meeting of the club officers will be elected and last night Jack Hersheiser and Charles Fields were named as the nominating committee. The meeting date probably will be changed from the regular date, November 26, which falls the day before Thanksgiving.

In the meantime the club expects to hold a photographic skating party prior to Thanksgiving, with pictures of skaters to be entered in a special contest.

Quick Flood Action Sought By Chamber

Decisive and prompt action for flood control in Cumberland was considered by the Chamber of Commerce Flood Control Committee yesterday with the attitude that the city should take advantage of federal assistance under an act of 1937 which is now about to expire.

Committee members said they fear that unless Cumberland takes advantage of this act, by which the federal government would pay 80 per cent of the cost, the city may never have flood protection.

Pointing out that exclusive of the loss suffered by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, flood damage in Cumberland and Ridgeley amounted to $2,195,000 in 1936, the committee decided to collect further data on costs and benefits from a flood protection program.

A revised estimate places the cost of construction at not more than $2,100,000 for Cumberland and Ridgeley, and some committee members expressed the belief this may be high.

The possibility of having owners of property in the flood area pay a special assessment so the entire community, would not have to pay the full amount was discussed.

After further material is gathered a meeting with the Mayor and Council in the next two weeks will be sought.

A local survey is being made to determine recovery costs from resale of real estate it will be necessary to purchase to undertake the job.

The mayor has already endorsed Dr. Ray's proposals for home rule and the city management form of government.

East Side Fire Company was called to Baltimore Avenue yesterday at 1:52 p. m. to extinguish a pile of leaves burning in front of Allegany Inn Hotel. Firemen said the woman who reported the fire said she saw a boy light the leaves with matches. When the fire truck arrived, the lad had gone, but he had dropped several of the matches he used to set the blaze, firemen said.

Historic Romney Home Undergoing Modern Changes

By THOMAS WILLIAMS

ROMNEY, W. Va.—One of Romney's historic land marks, the Bailey property, which has housed many of Hampshire County's better known attorneys from the early days of the 18th Century, is receiving a modern improvement application.

Recently purchased by Paul C. Williams, the two story brick structure, which housed Union Soldiers during the Civil War and has the name of Abraham Lincoln carved above a fire place, is undergoing many changes and the hilly land about the structure is being leveled by bulldozers.

Once construction work is finished, Williams said he plans to divide the 16 acres of land into 25 or more lots and open a housing development.

Attorneys, who checked the deeds for the recent purchase admitted that they were confronted with problems by the hand-written deeds since the ink has begun to fade.

In the early part of the 18th Century the 18-room dwelling was occupied by the W. H. Foote family, but was later sold to Judge Robert W. Dailey, Jr., who along with his family occupied it until the time of his death 17 years ago.

Williams purchased the property from W. W. Bailey, who according to deeds filed in the Hampshire Court land records office, purchased it from W. E. Beatty and Russell Saville.

The latter two bought the property from heirs to Judge Dailey.

Union soldiers who used the building as quarters carved several names on the wood work above a fire place but contractors who are working there now, say the carving of "A Lincoln" is the only name still discernible.

Will Discuss Curriculum

An eight-county regional conference on improvement of the 12-year curriculum, with special emphasis on planning and supervision at the high school level, was held Monday night.

A. Clinton Loy, superintendent of Hampshire County Schools, was chairman. Earl R. Boggs, assistant state supervisor of high schools and H. Cliff Hamilton, assistant state supervisor of elementary schools, joined with about 60 superintendents, principals, supervisors and teachers of this area in a discussion.

In summarizing the session, Mr. Boggs stressed examining courses and teaching practices, teaching thoroughly and giving much practice in the use of what is learned in many situations.

Responding to the interest in a follow-up meeting, Dr. O. S. Ikenberry, newly appointed president of Shepherd College, invited the group to hold its next meeting at the college sometime in November, the exact date to be set later.

Frostburg Personals

Thelma Martin Robison, 213 East Main Street, is a surgical patient in Allegany Hospital, Cumberland.

Sister Mary Cleta and Sister Constance returned to Mt. Mercy College, Pittsburgh, after being guests at St. Michael's convent. Sister Mary Cleta and her traveling companion were here to visit her brother, Rev. Regis F. Larkin, assistant pastor at St. Michael's Catholic Church.

The United States uses about 500 million fence posts a year, enough to build 1,500,000 miles of fence.

CUMBERLAND PLACED ON SKYWAY ROUTE

Cumberland has been located on U. S. Skyway No. 1, recently designated by the Civil Aeronautics Administration as the first official route across the country from Los Angeles to Washington for use of private flyers, according to Jesse M. Hadley, chairman of the aviation committee of the Washington Board of Trade.

The approximately 500 cities and communities located along the skyway will be asked to co-operate in establishing, painting and maintaining air markers, legible from a height of at least 3,000 feet, in their community and adjacent areas.

Hadley said the markers should conform with CAA standard specifications with letters, painted in chrome yellow with a border or background of black, at least 10 feet high spelling out the name of the city, indicating the direction and distance of the nearest good airport, and giving latitude and longitude.

Pointing out that private planes in the United States now total 85,000, Hadley said Cumberland's location on the skyway will give local business concerns increased benefits by revenue from those who will be flying into the area.

Matches Cause Blaze In South End Store

South End and East Side Fire Company were called to the Engle Grocery Store, 531 Maryland Avenue, Tuesday night at 8:30 o'clock when fire broke out in the stockroom of the store.

Firemen said buckets of water thrown on the blaze had brought the flames under control when they arrived and added they were told the blaze resulted from a youth's playing with matches and lighter fluid.

East Side Fire Company extinguished a grass fire on Furnace Street, near the County Farm Tuesday at 6:55 p. m. The blaze was brought under control within a few minutes, firemen said.

King's Prints Win Camera Contests

John R. King's print, "Entrance," of the Cumberland Free Public Library, taken in a special contest held by the Cumberland Camera Club last month, won first prize at the club's meeting last night.

Another King print, "Morning Miss-t," won first place in the regular black and white competition. The picture was taken in front of the Court House on a misty morning and shows a young woman walking through the mist.

Second honors in regular competition went to Miss Dorothy Willison's print, "Waves," and third prize went to Charles Fields for his print, "Seaman." George Triplett won fourth place with "Backstretch Drive" and Miss Willison fifth place with "Birches."

R. R. Sitzler, who addressed the club on the chemistry of photography, was the judge of both the special and regular contests.

In color competition, William Price's "To The Mines," a picture of a freight train of empty cars, won first place. Charles Fields was the judge.

At the November meeting of the club officers will be elected and last night Jack Hersheiser and Charles Fields were named as the nominating committee. The meeting date probably will be changed from the regular date, November 26, which falls the day before Thanksgiving.

In the meantime the club expects to hold a photographic skating party prior to Thanksgiving, with pictures of skaters to be entered in a special contest.

Quick Flood Action Sought By Chamber

Decisive and prompt action for flood control in Cumberland was considered by the Chamber of Commerce Flood Control Committee yesterday with the attitude that the city should take advantage of federal assistance under an act of 1937 which is now about to expire.

Committee members said they fear that unless Cumberland takes advantage of this act, by which the federal government would pay 80 per cent of the cost, the city may never have flood protection.

Pointing out that exclusive of the loss suffered by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, flood damage in Cumberland and Ridgeley amounted to $2,195,000 in 1936, the committee decided to collect further data on costs and benefits from a flood protection program.

A revised estimate places the cost of construction at not more than $2,100,000 for Cumberland and Ridgeley, and some committee members expressed the belief this may be high.

The possibility of having owners of property in the flood area pay a special assessment so the entire community, would not have to pay the full amount was discussed.

After further material is gathered a meeting with the Mayor and Council in the next two weeks will be sought.

A local survey is being made to determine recovery costs from resale of real estate it will be necessary to purchase to undertake the job.

Historic Romney Home Undergoing Modern Changes

By THOMAS WILLIAMS

ROMNEY, W. Va.—One of Romney's historic land marks, the Bailey property, which has housed many of Hampshire County's better known attorneys from the early days of the 18th Century, is receiving a modern improvement application.

Recently purchased by Paul C. Williams, the two story brick structure, which housed Union Soldiers during the Civil War and has the name of Abraham Lincoln carved above a fire place, is undergoing many changes and the hilly land about the structure is being leveled by bulldozers.

Once construction work is finished, Williams said he plans to divide the 16 acres of land into 25 or more lots and open a housing development.

Attorneys, who checked the deeds for the recent purchase admitted that they were confronted with problems by the hand-written deeds since the ink has begun to fade.

In the early part of the 18th Century the 18-room dwelling was occupied by the W. H. Foote family, but was later sold to Judge Robert W. Dailey, Jr., who along with his family occupied it until the time of his death 17 years ago.

Williams purchased the property from W. W. Bailey, who according to deeds filed in the Hampshire Court land records office, purchased it from W. E. Beatty and Russell Saville.

The latter two bought the property from heirs to Judge Dailey.

Union soldiers who used the building as quarters carved several names on the wood work above a fire place but contractors who are working there now, say the carving of "A Lincoln" is the only name still discernible.

Will Discuss Curriculum

An eight-county regional conference on improvement of the 12-year curriculum, with special emphasis on planning and supervision at the high school level, was held Monday night.

A. Clinton Loy, superintendent of Hampshire County Schools, was chairman. Earl R. Boggs, assistant state supervisor of high schools and H. Cliff Hamilton, assistant state supervisor of elementary schools, joined with about 60 superintendents, principals, supervisors and teachers of this area in a discussion.

In summarizing the session, Mr. Boggs stressed examining courses and teaching practices, teaching thoroughly and giving much practice in the use of what is learned in many situations.

Responding to the interest in a follow-up meeting, Dr. O. S. Ikenberry, newly appointed president of Shepherd College, invited the group to hold its next meeting at the college sometime in November, the exact date to be set later.

Most Stocks Wind Up On Downside Following See-Saw Market Session

NEW YORK, Oct. 22—(AP)—Stocks moved through a see-saw market today and finished on the downside. It was the first time since September 26 that shares had lost ground on two days in succession.

For the eighth successive full session, transfers topped a million shares totaling 1,260,000 against 1,400,000 Tuesday. Of 1,068 issues registering there were 455 declines and 339 advances.

Down a point or more at the finish were Youngstown Sheet at 80¼, Santa Fe at 86¼, International Harvester 68 and Grumman Aircraft at 29½. Others retreating included United States Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Anaconda Copper, Goodyear and Sears Roebuck. Nickel Plate and International Paper were off fractionally after touching new 1947 highs. St. Regis Paper common reached a new high before reacting to close unchanged at 11½.

Higher by dividend news were Texas Pacific Coal and Oil, up 1⅞, at 40¾; Life Saver Corporation, up two at 39, and Burroughs Adding Machine, up three-eighths at 16, each of which touched new tops for the year. Highs also were registered by Procter and Gamble, and by Lion Oil, Poor and Company and Wilson and Company. Others up a point or more included Anaconda Wire and Cable, Caterpillar Tractor, Penney and Owens-Illinois.

In the Curb advances were registered by Aro Equipment, Jeannette Glass, Emsco Derrick and Equipment, Kaiser-Frazer, Humble Oil and Raytheon. Lower were Philadelphia Company and Lake Shore Mines. Turnover here of 360,000 shares equaled that of yesterday.

Fast sellout of $100,000,000 new Pacific Telephone bonds helped sharpen investment appetites for selected issues in the exchange. While the market was not a one-sided affair, gains of fractions to more than a point outweighed small losses in most groups.

World Bank long-term 3s added 5-32 at 99 5-32. United States governments moved lower in the over-the-counter market.

Sales of $4,540,000 compared with $5,550,000 Tuesday.

The Buddy Rogers Appear Together In Family Theatre

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—The Buddy Rogers, she's Mary Pickford, you know, are to make a radio appearance together on Thursday night via MBS at 10. The program that is bringing them on is the weekly drama, The Family Theater.

The script they are to act out as they read it is titled "The Perfect Wife," which deals with one of the problems of married life.

The ABC network has listed for 10:30 a half-hour of recorded excerpts of highlights of the testimony before the house un-American activities committee.

Groucho Marx, who is becoming a broadcaster again via a quiz-comedy cooked up for ABC on Monday nights, will have an NBC billing Thursday night. It's in the now-Al Jolson conducted Hall of 9 o'clock. . . . Also here's another guest of the night. It is Perry Como from the NBC roster as scheduled for the MBS Block (Martin) Party at 9:30. . . . Jo Stafford, as part of her regularly scheduled appearance with the NBC Supper Club at 7, hopes to have the singing help of her sisters, Christine and Pauline, in what is planned as a sort of a revival of a sisters singing trio.

Title for the High Adventure drama on MBS at 8, in the spot where it recently was revived, will be "Sixty-Fourth Street Safari," story of a rookie cop.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Together

I have been thinking about the significance of the word—Together. What a world of meaning it packs! Long ago there would have been a world peace, all signed and safely filed in the archives of history, had all nations worked helpfully and sincerely together for this one greatest of all world objectives.

The nation that works together for the one good of all is the nation that long survives. The only possible hope for a One World is for all nations to work together toward this end. And, indeed, in every vocation of life is this thing true. The family that works together as one is always the happiest family. It is possible for employer and employee to work happily and profitably together.

I believe in the right of labor to strike, but I do not believe in strikes, for I feel that there is a better way for arriving at a settlement of a dispute—and that is by both sides getting together and arbitrating justly—for there is always a fear and just settlement for all disagreements.

This world is inhabited by all sort of human beings and they live together in one world, but they do not always get along together. It was meant, however, by their Creator, that they should get along together usefully and happily. Greed and selfishness are what defeat such an objective. The cry of the world is for tolerance and justice to all, regardless of race, nationality, creed, or color.

People work better together. It is possible for each worker to inspire the other. And where there is created a spirit there always will be found the greater incentive and the least friction. The college student knows about this. He calls it the college spirit. And it is wildly evident upon the football field, and during all other sporting contests. It's the all-together spirit that triumphs!

We always enjoy ourselves most when someone else enjoys with us. We gain little alone. You know the cry from the stands during a spirited college contest, when they shout as one man: "Team, team, team!" It's the Together theme that wins.

Protected, 1947, by The George Matthew Adams Service

We have tilted and dropped the market by our operations, but it was a question of getting grain for hungry people abroad.

—Secretary of Agriculture Anderson.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

A Couple of Parlor Games

There are a couple of shows on the air that are parlor games rather than radio programs and we might as well dispose of them together. On "Stop Me If You've Heard This One" (Mutual 9 p. m. E.S.T. Saturdays), a master of ceremonies attempts to tell a joke which has been sent in by a listener. The idea of this game is for one of a panel of three experts to intercept the joke and deliver the punch line before the emcess gets to it. That isn't a very clear explanation, but it's the best I can do.

Bill Slater

The three experts on the show are Lew Lehr, who fortunately doesn't use that "monkeys is the cwaziest people' lingo on the program; Cal Tinney, a columnist, and Morey Amsterdam, the comedian. They know an awful lot of jokes and the word awful in this case is used in its original sense. My strongest complaint against the program is the fact that I too had heard most of them before and wasn't greatly interested in hearing them again. The only surprise lies in the fact these jokes have gotten so far around.

The experts scored on that one about the girl in the drugstore for castor oil ("It was for my sister"), and the old one about the apartment seeker ("I gave it to the guy who pushed him in") which was well along in years during the war, but they unaccountably missed the ancient gag about the man whose hair grew on company time.

About all this program proves is that there aren't enough new jokes to go around and the old ones need skillful rewinding to make them funny. By some necromancy they learned in years of vaudeville, the team on "Can You Top This?" can make even the hoariest old chestnut funny by inflection and timing. The boys on "Stop Me" (Let's let it go at that) need a little more practice.

Incidentally, "Stop Me" is not an imitation of "Can You Top This," I'm informed. "Stop Me" was on the air in 1939, a year ahead of "Top This." Among the original members of "Stop Me" were Harry Hershfield and Senator Ford, now in the cast of "Top This." Others were Milton Berle and Jay C. Flippen. With that cast it was an entirely different show and no wonder. It's a shame that the imitation is a success and that the original is floundering, but that's show business.

Another show which is a parlor game in every sense of the word, is "Twenty Questions" (Mutual 8 p. m. E.S.T. Saturdays) and, of course, it's that game where you leave the room and, in your absence, an intense lady in a candy-striped blouse suggests the word pinafore which you are expected to guess on your return. The game is a least resort. After the brandies have been dissected, when long, ominous cracks appear in the conversation, then you play twenty questions.

People who listen to the radio version must be beyond last resorts; they're in a state of sheer desperation. Speaking as a veteran of a lot of back halls, I must admit they play a hard, clean game on the radio. The master of ceremonies is Bill Slater, the old football announcer, and a panel of experts ask the twenty questions. The panel consists of Fred VanDeventer, announcer and newscaster; Florence Rinard, musician (Mrs. Fred VanDeventer); Bobby McGuire, a high school student (the VanDeventers' son) and Herb Polesie, radio producer (a friend of the VanDeventers). A guest expert is invited to join the regular panel each week. The night I listened it was Danton Walker, the columnist. On this program, they managed to guess the moon, the wind in the Windy City of Chicago and Queen Mary's umbrella without half trying.

Mr. Slater kept things moving along briskly, but I wish some one would curb his passion for puns. ("Does it move?"—"Yes, it moves. That's a moving question.")

I still think it would be more fun to turn the darn thing off and play yourself.

Soviet Awaits Armenians

MOSCOW (AP) —Large numbers of Armenian immigrants are scheduled to enter the Soviet Union and take up residence in the Armenian Republic.

Last year, said Moscow News, 51,000 Armenians from Syria, the Lebanon, Iran, Greece, Bulgaria and Rumania, were brought to Soviet Armenia under the repatriation program.

This year it was reported that 15,000 have already arrived out of 63,000 who are expected.

Recently the Soviet Press claimed that 97,000 Armenians residing in Iran have made formal application to migrate to the Soviet Union.

Most Stocks Wind Up On Downside Following See-Saw Market Session

NEW YORK, Oct. 22—(AP)—Stocks moved through a see-saw market today and finished on the downside. It was the first time since September 26 that shares had lost ground on two days in succession.

For the eighth successive full session, transfers topped a million shares totaling 1,260,000 against 1,400,000 Tuesday. Of 1,068 issues registering there were 455 declines and 339 advances.

Down a point or more at the finish were Youngstown Sheet at 80¼, Santa Fe at 86¼, International Harvester 88 and Gruman Aircraft at 29¼. Others retreating included United States Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Anaconda Copper, Goodyear and Sears Roebuck. Nickel Plate and International Paper were off fractionally after touching new 1947 highs. St Regis Paper common reached a new high before reacting to close unchanged at 11½. Helped by dividend news were Texas Pacific Coal and Oil, up 1⅞, at 40⅜; Life Saver Corporation, up two at 39, and Burroughs Adding Machine, up three-eighths at 16, each of which touched new tops for the year. Highs also were registered by Procter and Gamble, and by Lion Oil, Poor and Company and Wilson and Company. Others up a point or more included Anaconda Wire and Cable, Caterpillar Tractor, Penney and Owens-Illinois.

In the Curb advances were registered by Aro Equipment, Jeannette Glass, Emsco Derrick and Equipment, Kaiser-Frazer, Humble Oil and Raytheon. Lower were Philadelphia Company and Lake Shore Mines. Turnover here of 360,000 shares equaled that of yesterday.

Fast sellout of $100,000,000 new Pacific Telephone bonds helped sharpen investment appetites for selected issues in the exchange. While the market was not a one-sided affair, gains of fractions to more than a point outweighed small losses in most groups.

World Bank long-term 3s added 5-32 at 99 5-32. United States governments moved lower in the over-the-counter market.

Sales of $4,540,000 compared with $5,550,000 Tuesday.

The script they are to act out as they read it is titled "The Perfect Wife," which deals with one of the problems of married life.

The ABC network has listed for 10:30 a half-hour of recorded excerpts of highlights of the testimony before the house un-American activities committee.

Groucho Marx, who is becoming a broadcaster again via a quiz-comedy cooked up for ABC on Monday nights, will have an NBC billing Thursday night. It's in the now-Al Jolson - conducted Music Hall at 9 o'clock. . . . Also here's another guest of the night. It is Perry Como from the NBC roster as scheduled for the MBS Block (Martin) Party at 9:30. . . . Jo Stafford, as part of her regularly scheduled appearance with the NBC Supper Club at 7, hopes to have the singing help of her sisters, Christine and Pauline, in what is planned as a sort of a revival of a sisters singing trio.

Title for the High Adventure drama on MBS at 8, in the spot where it recently was revived, will be "Sixty-Fourth Street Safari," story of a rookie cop.

Today's Talk

Together

I have been thinking about the significance of the word—Together. What a world of meaning it packs! Long ago there would have been a world peace, all signed and safely filed in the archives of history, had all nations worked helpfully and sincerely together for this one greatest of all world objectives.

The nation that works together for the one good of all is the nation that long survives. The only possible hope for a One World is for all nations to work together toward this end. And, indeed, in every vocation of life is this thing true. The family that works together as one is always the happiest family. It is possible for employer and employee to work happily and profitably together.

I believe in the right of labor to strike, but I do not believe in strikes, for I feel that there is a better way for arriving at a settlement of a dispute—and that is by both sides getting together and arbitrating justly—for there is always a fear and just settlement for all disagreements.

This world is inhabited by all sort of human beings and they live together in one world, but they do not always get along together. It was meant, however, by their Creator, that they should get along together usefully and happily. Greed and selfishness are what defeat such an objective. The cry of the world is for tolerance and justice to all, regardless of race, nationality, creed, or color.

People work better together. It is possible for each worker to inspire the other. And where there is created a spirit there always will be found the greater incentive and the least friction. The college student knows about this. He calls it the college spirit. And it is wildly evident upon the football field, and during all other sporting contests. It's the all-together spirit that triumphs!

We always enjoy ourselves most when someone else enjoys with us. We gain little alone. You know the cry from the stands during a spirited college contest, when they shout as one man: "Team, team, team!" It's the Together theme that wins.

Protected, 1947, by The George Matthew Adams Service

We have tilted and dropped the market by our operations, but it was a question of getting grain for hungry people abroad.

Radio In Review

A Couple of Parlor Games

There are a couple of shows on the air that are parlor games rather than radio programs and we might as well dispose of them together. On "Stop Me If You've Heard This One" (Mutual 9 p. m. E.S.T. Saturdays, a master of ceremonies attempts to tell a joke which has been sent in by a listener. The idea of this game is for one of a panel of three experts to intercept the joke and deliver the punch line before the emcess gets to it. That isn't a very clear explanation, but it's the best I can do.

Bill Slater

The three experts on the show are Lew Lehr, who fortunately doesn't use that "monkeys is the cwaziest people" lingo on the program; Cal Tinney, the columnist, and Morey Amsterdam, the comedian. They know an awful lot of jokes and the word awful in this case is used in its original sense. My strongest complaint against the program is the fact that I too had heard most of them before and wasn't greatly interested in hearing them again. The only surprise lies in the fact these jokes have gotten so far around.

The experts scored on that one about the girl in the drugstore for castor oil ("It wa for my sister"), and the old one about the apartment seeker ("I gave it to the guy who pushed him in") which was well along in years during the war, but they unaccountably missed the ancient gag about the man whose hair grew on company time.

About all this program proves is that there aren't enough new jokes to go around and the old ones need skillful rewinding to make them funny. By some necromancy they learned in years of vaudeville, the team on "Can You Top This?" can make even the hoariest old chestnut funny by inflection and timing. The boys on "Stop Me" (Let's let it go at that) need a little more practice.

Incidentally, "Stop Me" is not an imitation of "Can You Top This," I'm informed. "Stop Me" was on the air in 1939, a year ahead of "Top This." Among the original members of "Stop Me" were Harry Hershfield and Senator Ford, now in the cast of "Top This." Others were Milton Berle and Jay C. Flippen. With that cast it was an entirely different show and no wonder. It's a shame that the imitation is a success and that the original is floundering, but that's show business.

Another show which is a parlor game in every sense of the word, is "Twenty Questions" (Mutual 8 p. m. E.S.T. Saturdays) and, of course, it's that game where you leave the room and, in your absence, an intense lady in a candy-striped blouse suggests the word pinafore which you are expected to guess on your return. The game is at least resort. After the brandies have been dissected, when long, ominous cracks appear in the conversation, then you play twenty questions.

People who listen to the radio version must be beyond last resorts; they're in a state of sheer desperation. Speaking as a veteran of a lot of back halls, I must admit they play a hard, clean game on the radio. The master of ceremonies is Bill Slater, the old football announcer, and a panel of experts ask the twenty questions. The panel consists of Fred VanDeventer, announcer and newscaster; Florence Rinard, musician (Mrs. Fred VanDeventer); Bobby McGuire, a high school student (the VanDeventers' son) and Herb Polesie, radio producer (a friend of the VanDeventers). A guest expert is invited to join the regular panel each week. The night I listened it was Danton Walker, the columnist. On this program, they managed to guess the moon, the wind in the Windy City of Chicago and Queen Mary's umbrella without half trying.

Mr. Slater kept things moving along briskly, but I wish some one would curb his passion for puns. ("Does it move?"—"Yes, it moves. That's a moving question.")

I still think it would be more fun to turn the darn thing off and play yourself.

Soviet Awaits Armenians

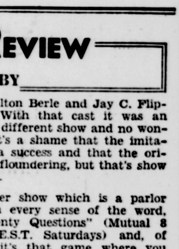

MOSCOW (AP) —Large numbers of Armenian immigrants are scheduled to enter the Soviet Union and take up residence in the Armenian Republic.

Last year, said Moscow News, 51,000 Armenians from Syria, the Lebanon, Iran, Greece, Bulgaria and Rumania, were brought to Soviet Armenia under the repatriation program.

This year it was reported that 15,000 have already arrived out of 63,000 who are expected.

Recently the Soviet Press claimed that 97,000 Armenians residing in Iran have made formal application to migrate to the Soviet Union.

COLUMBIA FALLS, Mont. (AP)—Meteorologists at the weather station operated in connection with the $100,000,000 Hungry Horse Dam project were baffled by extremely erratic humidity and evaporation data—until they found a deer was using the evaporation pan as a drinking place. A fence now surrounds the station.

Public Wants U. S. To Remain In UN Despite Soviet Obstinacy

Results Of Survey Revealed By Gallup

By DR. GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., October 21 — Despite noisy and mounting tension between the United States and Soviet Russia, the American public is not giving way to hysteria. It is evidencing very little desire to have the United States pull out of the United Nations because of Russia's continued bucking of the majority will.

Seven out of ten Americans want this country's efforts to make UN an affective international agency continued. In every segment of the population and in all sections of the country the weight of opinion is strongly in support of this view.

Thousands of Americans were asked this question in face-to-face interviews:

"Some people say that the United States should pull out of the U. N. organization if Russia continues to block the will of the majority of member nations. Other people say that the United States should stay in the U. N. even though Russia continues to block the majority. Which of these ideas do you agree with?"

The national results are:

Stay In	73%
Pull Out	13
No Opinion	14

While all groups in the population lean very heavily toward the view that we should remain a U. N. member, those persons with the most education give that view a much stronger support, as the following table shows:

	Stay In	Pull Out	No Opin.
College	91%	7%	2%
High School	81	10	9
Grammar	63	17	20

Similar, though not as pronounced, graduation of opinion turns up when the survey is analyzed by occupation groupings:

	Stay in	Pull Out	No. Opin.
Prof. or bus.	82%	10%	8%
White collar workers	76	13	11
Farmers	75	11	14
Manual workers	67	16	17

That this question has little chance of becoming a political issue in the near future is evidenced by the fact that the vote of Democrats and Republicans is identical with the national percentages.

In another question asked of the same representative voters a large majority declare that the United States should take an active part in world affairs. Isolationism is turned down by a 5 to 2 vote.

"Do you think it would be best for the future of this country if we take an active part in world affairs, or if we stay out of world affairs?"

National results:

Active Part	65%
Stay Out	26
No Opinion	9

Nursing Schools Are Seeking Recruits

Recruitment of students for both Cumberland hospital schools of nursing for the February class was continued by Miss Frances Loftus, supervisor of nurses of Memorial Hospital, Tuesday at Central High School, Lonaconing.

Pre-entrance requirements are the the same for both schools, she explained, that is, completion of high school, good health and an interest in people.

The Allegany Hospital School of Nursing offers a course in psychiatry to students in their senior year at Mt. Hope, Baltimore; while Memorial offers a course at Rockville.

Experience is also offered in the study of the well child at Keating Memorial Day Nursery for the Allegany students.

Public Wants U. S. To Remain In UN Despite Soviet Obstinacy

Results Of Survey Revealed By Gallup

By DR. GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., October 21 — Despite noisy and mounting tension between the United States and Soviet Russia, the American public is not giving way to hysteria. It is evidencing very little desire to have the United States pull out of the United Nations because of Russia's continued bucking of the majority will.

Seven out of ten Americans want this country's efforts to make UN an affective international agency continued. In every segment of the population and in all sections of the country the weight of opinion is strongly in support of this view.

Thousands of Americans were asked this question in face-to-face interviews:

"Some people say that the United States should pull out of the U. N. organization if Russia continues to block the will of the majority of member nations. Other people say that the United States should stay in the U. N. even though Russia continues to block the majority. Which of these ideas do you agree with?"

The national results are:

Stay In	73%
Pull Out	13
No Opinion	14

While all groups in the population lean very heavily toward the view that we should remain a U. N. member, those persons with the most education give that view a much stronger support, as the following table shows:

	Stay In	Pull Out	No Opin.
College	91%	7%	2%
High School	81	10	9
Grammar	63	17	20

Similar, though not as pronounced, graduation of opinion turns up when the survey is analyzed by occupation groupings:

	Stay in	Pull Out	No. Opin.
Prof. or bus.	82%	10%	8%
White collar workers	76	13	11
Farmers	75	11	14
Manual workers	67	16	17

That this question has little chance of becoming a political issue in the near future is evidenced by the fact that the vote of Democrats and Republicans is identical with the national percentages.

In another question asked of the same representative voters a large majority declare that the United States should take an active part in world affairs. Isolationism is turned down by a 5 to 2 vote.

"Do you think it would be best for the future of this country if we take an active part in world affairs, or if we stay out of world affairs?"

National results:

Active Part	65%
Stay Out	26
No Opinion	9

Nursing Schools Are Seeking Recruits

Recruitment of students for both Cumberland hospital schools of nursing for the February class was continued by Miss Frances Loftus, supervisor of nurses of Memorial Hospital, Tuesday at Central High School, Lonaconing.

Pre-entrance requirements are the the same for both schools, she explained, that is, completion of high school, good health and an interest in people.

The Allegany Hospital School of Nursing offers a course in psychiatry to students in their senior year at Mt. Hope, Baltimore; while Memorial offers a course at Rockville.

Experience is also offered in the study of the well child at Keating Memorial Day Nursery for the Allegany students.

Fire Destroys Produce Warehouse At Piedmont

Flames Threaten Nearby Buildings

The Mills and Company wholesale produce warehouse on West Fairview Street, Piedmont, W. Va., was destroyed by fire late last night and an eye-witness said that shortly before midnight firemen were fighting to keep the flames from spreading to stores and houses across the street. The fire was said to be under control at midnight.

John C. Boor, owner of the building and a member of the corporation operating the produce business, valued the lost stock at $5,000 and estimated it would cost $25,000 to replace the building under present conditions. He said the structure was built by Armour and Company about 40 years ago.

Four Report Fire

Reported almost simultaneously by four persons at five minutes of 11, the fire had made such headway that the roof collapsed 20 minutes later.

Firemen from Piedmont, Westernport, Luke, and Bloomington were fighting the blaze when the fire department of the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company was called for aid at 11:40 p. m.

The eye-witness, who asked not to be identified, said the building "is all aflame. Nothing is left but the framework. You can see clear through it. The sides were burned away and all you can see are archways, windows and framework.

"When the roof caved in an extra spurt of flame went up."

Paul Dawson was the only person identified as discovering the fire and he, one person said, called in an alarm from Coury's poolroom on Ashfield Street. Dawson had noticed the flames while standing near the railroad tracks on Second Street.

The building, Dawson was quoted as saying, was "all aflame" when he turned in the alarm.

Witnesses described the warehouse as one story frame building. They said they believed it was well-stocked and that they understood a "couple" of shipments of fruit had been received yesterday and were included in the lost produce.

Reflection Seen Far Away

The brilliant reflection was visible as far away as Bloomington, one and a half miles distant, but onlookers said the reflection had subsided somewhat by 11:25 after the roof of the blazing structure caved in.

With the job of saving the warehouse apparently hopeless, firemen battled for some time to keep flames from leaping narrow Fairview Street to old frame stores and homes on the other side. Endangered were the liquor store, beer parlor and grocery stores, an observer said.

A large crowd was watching the fire, but they were kept back somewhat by the intense heat.

Man Captures Skunk-Gets Air--- Lots Of It

Capturing a skunk with an old rug taken off the back porch is effect, but may cost cost a man the company of his closest friend for a time following the hunt, Irvin Johnson, 23, 402 Waverly Terrace, learned last night.

Johnson's mother, Mrs. Annie Johnson told the story after her son chased the "black kitty" through the front yard at 8 p. m. and to the cheers of a large crowd which was standing "at a safe distance," dropped a rug taken from the porch, over the animal.

The skunk was turned over to the humane society, but Johnson was turned out of his home, for a time "to get air and a lot of it."

Spiritual Training Needed In Homes, Maj. Wall Says

AAUW Holds Forum On Family Life

Spiritual training in the home and the determination of every family to "live up to their responsibilities to Almighty God" would cause juvenile delinquency to disappear overnight, Maj. Elmer Wall, commander of the Salvation Army here, said last night.

Maj. Wall also recommended that a co-ordinated Council of Social Agencies be formed in Cumberland to prevent duplication of case work and to determine jointly how to handle various cases. He explained that at present the agencies check each other by telephone to determine what assistance has already been given to individual cases, but the Council could handle the problem of duplication at regular meetings, he added.

Maj. Wall and other representatives of various community agencies were guests at a forum discussion on "Resources for Strengthening Family Life," held at the third annual Founder's Day dinner of Cumberland Branch, American Association of University Women.

The dinner, attended by 57 members and guests, was held at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

"Adult Stupidity" Blamed

"Family prayers, saying grace before meals, regular attendance at church and Sunday School provide spiritual training which is lacking in many homes," Maj. Wall declared. "We must come back to the basic principles which made our nation great, and recognize God."

In connection with the discussion of juvenile delinquency, Magistrate Thomas E. Stakem of Juvenile Court said that "adult stupidity" is responsible for many of the cases which appear before him.

"Parents allow their children to run on the streets until all hours," he declared. "Strict supervision by parents is needed."

Case Histories Discussed

Three typical case histories were presented by Mrs. Robert L. Ebert, chairman of the AAUW's family relations committee, who was in charge of the program.

Agency representatives then commented on the part which their organizations could play in meeting each problem. Besides Maj. Wall and Stakem, those taking part were Miss Jeannette Bonig, executive secretary of Associated Charities; Mrs. Louise Dean, home service secretary of Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross; and Mrs. Elinor Westerfeld, executive secretary of the Allegany County Welfare Board.

Miss Ruby M. Adams, elementary school supervisor of the Board of Education, said in an introductory talk that the family is important because it provides continual guidance in social and cultural values.

Miss Lillian C. Compton, president of Frostburg State Teachers College, who summed up the discussion with W. Earl Cobey, local attorney, said ways should be found to prevent cases of juvenile and adult delinquency from developing, rather than trying to alleviate the results. Cobey said a social survey of the personnel and facilities of each agency would be helpful, calling attention to the Court of Domestic Relations in Baltimore, which he said has proved successful.

Mrs. John J. Hafer, president, introduced the state AAUW president, Mrs. Donald R. Burgess, Washington, D. C., who described a conservation workshop at Solomons Island last month.

Elgin Stresses Highway Safety

The people of Maryland must get behind safety moves and see that public officials carry out their responsibilities in order to reduce highway accidents, W. Lee Elgin, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, asserted in an address delivered at the Cumberland Lions Club meeting yesterday at noon in Central YMCA.

Elgin declared there were 417 persons killed on Maryland highways in 1946 and said the only way to reduce highway fatalities is through proper training of drivers and regular inspection of motor vehicles. He advocated inspection of vehicles and said it should be under state supervision, adding that if the proper bill is passed by the legislature that the inspections can be made at a cost of only $1 per year.

The commissioner declared that of 3,260 drivers who appeared before him from 1945 until the first of this month for motor vehicle law violations that only 169 were repeaters. Elgin gave the Lions facts and figures about the operation of the Department of Motor Vehicles and said that gross receipts from 1930 to 1938 were $33,071,577.34 and from 1938 until the end of 1946 they had increased to $50,867,744.70.

New York Father Brushes With Law To Get Daughter

Takes Child From Home Of Mrs. Koon

Millard Beightol, 7 Park Avenue, New York City, yesterday flew to Cumberland, dramatically took possession of his 5-year-old daughter, and after a brief "brush" with local police started back to New York by plane at 5 p. m. with the child.

Police were called, they said, when they received a telephone call that "a man was breaking into the home of Mrs. Fannie H. Koon, 221 Baltimore Avenue." Sgt. John Newhouse answered the call and picked Beightol up as he walked down Baltimore Avenue past the Central Y.M.C.A. carrying the child in his arms.

Breightol told police that Mrs. Koon had gone to New York about a week ago and took his daughter, Virginia Ann Beightol, from the home of an aunt and brought her back to Cumberland without his knowledge.

Mrs. Koon's attorney, F. Brooke Whiting, however, said Beightol called Mrs. Koon and asked her to come to New York and get the child because he was having domestic difficulties.

Beightol and his daughter, who was dressed only in her under garments, were taken to police headquarters, where he was questioned and then released with the child in his custody. Police drove Beightol to the home of his mother, Mrs. Alice Beightol, 231 Wallace Street.

Beightol told police that he had forced the front door open at Mrs. Koon's home after two unidentified persons attempted to close it in his face. He said after forcing the door he picked the child up and began walking down the street.

Sgt. Newhouse said when he arrived several hundred persons had gathered and began to point the man out calling "there he goes." Beightol offered no resistance when Newhouse informed him he was being taken to police headquarters.

Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn said he released Beightol after questioning him and permitted him to take the child. He indicated that no charges would be preferred.

Beightol told authorities that his daughter fractured her left arm several weeks ago, and was under the care of a New York physician, but said when he asked Mrs. Koon to return his daughter for further treatment she refused.

According to Beightol, when Mrs. Koon took his daughter from the home of his aunt, Mrs. Erma Hutson, New York, she indicated to Mrs. Hutson that she intended to inform him that she had the child, but he stated she returned to Cumberland without talking to him.

Mrs. Beightol last night declared that she knew nothing about the affair, and said Beightol had taken the child when he left her home. Beightol told police that the child's mother is dead and he had remarried.

Beightol indicated that he intended to leave his daughter under his mother's care, but airport officials said the child was aboard the plane when it took off about 5 p. m.

Final Arrangements Are Made For "Christ The King" Celebration

Father Kilkenny Is Named Celebrant

Final arrangements were made for the feast of "Christ the King" celebration to be held next Sunday afternoon at St. Patrick's Catholic Church, North Centre St., at a meeting of the St. Patrick's Holy Name Society in the parochial school building last night.

During the meeting, the names of the officers for the Solemn Benediction which will be part of the celebration were announced as follows:

Celebrant: Very Rev. J. Lawrence Kilkenny, pastor of St. Patrick's, the host church, and Rural Dean of Catholic Churches in Western Maryland.

Deacon: Rev. Francis Montgomery, Administrator of St. Michael's Church, Frostburg.

Sub-Deacon: Rev. Charles Quinn, Assistant Pastor of St. Peter in Chains' Church, Westernport.

Deacon of Exposition: Rev. Joseph Graziani, Assistant Pastor of St. Mary's Church, Oldtown Road.

The officers were selected by Rev. Lawrence P. Landrigan, Pastor of St. Mary's Church, and Spiritual Director of the Western Maryland Section of the Holy Name Society, under whose sponsorship the celebration is being held.

Father Kilkenny said last night that he considers it a "singular honor" to be named celebrant of so important a ceremony, and expressed the hope that he will be able to meet and talk with many of his old friends from the George's Creek section at the services. Prior to taking over his duties as Pastor of St. Patrick's last March, Father Kilkenny served as Pastor at St. Joseph's Church, Midland, for four years.

It was also revealed at last night's meeting that the Frostburg Arion Band will lead the procession of more than 2,000 Catholic men who will assemble on North Johnson Street at 2:30 p. m., and march to St. Patrick's where the "Christ the King" services will be held at 3 o'clock. The procession will be under the direction of Thomas F. Conlon, Sr., Chief Marshal.

Rev. Alban Hammal, O. F. M., Cap., Pastor of SS. Peter and Paul's Church, this city, will deliver a sermon entitled "Christ, Our King."

The event will be attended by Catholic men from 11 parishes in Allegany and Garrett counties.

Ushers will be under the direction of Edward Miller. Chief standard bearer will be Gale Northcraft, and James Burns will serve as organist.

Small Business Is Lifeblood Of Our Nation, Beall Says

"Independent business is the backbone and lifeblood of American economy," Rep. J. Glenn Beall told members of the Independent Retail Food Dealers Association of Western Maryland and their guests at the annual dinner of the organization last night in St. Mary's Recreation Hall.

In stressing the importance of the small, independent firms, the speaker, quoting from the report of the Committee of Economic Development, said that since 1939, this type of business represented 98 per cent of all business firms in the United States. He further stated that these small units do 35 per cent of the nation's yearly volume of business.

Stresses Sound Policies

Rep. Beall emphasized the necessity of keeping small businesses in this vital position in order that our free enterprise system may not be jeopardized. The speaker said that the government can help solve the problems of independent business by adopting policies that are sound and wise without adding to the public debt.

The exchange of constructive ideas among members of the association was discussed by John Bloecher, past president of the Baltimore Association, who gave numerous examples to illustrate the help afforded by these exchanges.

Albert E. Windish, president of the local association, served as master of ceremonies and W. Lee Elgin, commissioner of motor vehicles of Maryland introduced the guest speaker, Roy G. Howells, humorist from Philadelphia. Howells devoted his talk to the description of personalities of the guests according to astronomy. Rep. Beall and F. Lee Fresh were the focal points of his address.

Fresh Leads Singing

The program opened with the singing of "America", followed by the invocation by Rev. Lawrence P. Landrigan, pastor of St. Mary's Church. Group singing was led by F. Lee Fresh and dinner music was provided by Miss Mary Donegan Howell, Hagerstown, accordionist.

Table decorations were large bowls of multi-colored mums and autumn leaves and carnation corsages were presented to the ladies present. Mrs. Margaret Newcomer received a bouquet of red roses for her work on the ticket committee.

The committee in charge of arrangements for the dinner included Ralph W. Rice, chairman; J. C. Patterson, Lynn Beightol, F. Lee Fresh, Robert F. Rizer and Ralph F. Sell.

Allegany County Schools Get First State Aid Payment

Quarterly Payment Amounts To $389,151

The Allegany County Board of Education this week received its first quarterly payment of state aid to schools, amounting to $389,151.66 representing an increase of $207,082 over the same quarter last year, according to Dr. Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools.

The increase for the full year, according to Dr. Kopp, will amount to $828,328, and is mainly responsible for the increase in teachers' salaries as well as the year's program of high and elementary school education.

Dr. Kopp explained that state aid has made the increased financial program possible, and stated the revenue at present is being received from the state through the two per cent sales tax which was inaugurated by Governor William Preston Lane.

The state aid, according to Dr. Kopp, is proving very beneficial to the county since an additional tax of 82 cents would have to be added to the tax rate in the county to support the program if state aid were not received.

Throughout the entire state the school systems have received $5,137,566 for the first quarter in state aid which would amount in local tax rates to increases of from 17 cents in Baltimore City up to $2.27 in Calvert County.

In Garrett County the first quarterly payment of state aid amounts to $148,858 an increase of $72,504 over the same period of 1947 when state aid amounted to $76,354.

The figures as to what it would cost Allegany County to raise this money on its local tax rate takes on added significance when it is realized that it was necessary for this amount of money to be raised if the public schools were to be staffed with qualified teachers, if school buildings were to be improved and if necessary educational facilities and equipment were to be furnished, Dr. Kopp explained.

In other words, Dr. Kopp said, so long as it was necessary to provide these funds, if the state had not provided them, it would have been necessary for the county to do so by increasing its tax rate from the present $1.72 to $2.54.

St. John's Church Plans Annual Service

St. John's Lutheran Sunday School and Church will hold the annual rally day service Sunday morning with the Sunday School meeting at 9:45 o'clock with the rally service getting under way at 10:30 a. m.

Rev. Carl C. Rasmussen, D.D., professor of theology at Gettysburg Seminary, who Rev. Donald F. Brake, pastor of St. John's Church said is one of the outstanding church leaders of today, will be the guest speaker.

According to Rev. Mr. Brake, Dr. Rasmussen has been to Europe in the interest of the Church as it faces the great crisis there, and has a full knowledge of the social and educational problems of today.

During the rally service the newly elected officers of the Sunday School will be installed and there will be a reconsecration service for all teachers and departmental leaders of the Sunday school.

Molinari Is Given Stern Warning By Local Jurist

Wills Murder Trial May Start Today

Trial of Mervin Clinton Wills, 20, Christie Road, who is accused of murder in the death of his 18-month-old son last July, is scheduled today in Circuit Court, according to court attaches.

They said the trial is expected to begin after disposition of two indictments charging violation of the state dentistry laws against Robert W. Rice.

At the time of Wills' arrest, authorities expressed the belief he had beaten the child, Junior Clinton "Butch" Wills, so brutally that the infant died. He was indicted for murder by the October grand jury.

Judge Henderson Issues Statement

After Frank Molinari, Jr., operator of the Cadillac Cocktail Lounge, entered a plea of guilty in Circuit Court Tuesday to selling intoxicants after closing hours, (midnight) and had been fined $200 by Chief Judge William A. Huster, Associate Judge George Henderson took occasion to issue a "stern warning" to Molinari to "watch your step and keep out of trouble."

Judge Henderson told Molinari most emphatically that the $200 fine imposed could be considered a minimum fine but that the Court is mindful of the fact that he may still have the Allegany County Liquor Control Board to contend with.

Judge Henderson was obviously referring to a clause in the liquor law which provides that the County Liquor Board may suspend or revoke the license of any licensee guilty of a violation under the law.

Molinari was questioned by Judge Henderson about his ownership of property on North Mechanic Street. Judge Henderson asked:

"Do you own a property on North Mechanic Street?"

Molinari replied:

"Yes sir, I own three properties on that street."

Judge Henderson said, "I am referring to the property where your brother Harry operated a pool room and was charged with operating a bookie place. This building is also occupied by the Garabaldi Society on the upper floor, and there have been complaints about gambling and slot machines in that club room."

Molinari said he owned the building but his brother ran the business.

"I do not believe your statement made to the Court," Judge Henderson continued, "that you had nothing to do with Harry's place or that you did not know what went on there."

Judge Henderson reminded Molinari that the Cadillac is apparently a profitable business and told him he should attend to it, take care of it, and keep out of trouble.

"I warned you last spring, Frank, and told you then to keep out of trouble," the jurist continued. "Since then there have been numerous stories about your activities and complaints about your place of business. This is my last warning. That's all."

Judge Henderson's statement was made from the bench, after Chief Judge William A. Huster had announced that Molinari should be fined $200, the same amount as paid when he forfeited bond on a city charge for the same offense. Associate Judge Joseph D. Mish, of Hagerstown was also on the bench.

Umstot Is Found Guilty But Jury Suggests Mercy

Manslaughter Case Defendant Paroled

Deliberating about 20 minutes, a Circuit Court jury yesterday afternoon convicted Cpl. Earl Umstot, 23, Westernport, of manslaughter in the death of James Russell Kenney, 19, Franklin Navy veteran, who was killed in a motorcycle accident last August 27 near Lonaconing, but recommended clemency.

Taking cognizance of the jury's recommendation, Associate Judge George Henderson who, with Chief Judge William A. Huster, heard the case, passed sentence paroling Umstot for three years and directing him to pay the victim's mother, Mrs. Marie Kenney, $25 monthly for a year for funeral expenses. Umstot also was cautioned to be of good behavior.

Judge Henderson, in passing sentence, pointed out that aside from the jury's recommendation for mercy, Mrs. Kenney expressed desire that Umstot not be imprisoned.

Motorcycle Overloaded

The jurist said the two young men were friends and that Mrs. Kenney had assisted in getting Umstot home from Germany, where he was serving with the Army, while his mother, who has since died, was ill.

He added that Mrs. Kenney said Umstot came to her after the accident, expressed his sorrow over her son's death and regret that he had come home because he had caused her son's death.

Assistant State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher who summed up the prosecution's case, told the jury that in no case he could think of has more evidence to show gross negligence been presented to the jury than in this one.

He pointed out that the manslaughter by automobile act under which Umstot was tried makes it necessary to prove gross negligence, an act of wanton disregard for the safety of others.

Fletcher said Umstot violated four state motor vehicle laws by overloading the motorcycle, operating it while he was under the influence of intoxicants, operating at a speed of 45 to 50 miles an hour in a 25-mile zone and operating without a license.

Fletcher likewise emphasized a state report on an analysis of Umstot's blood, showing that it contained .19 per cent of ethyl alcohol an hour after the accident, with the added information that 80 per cent of persons with this amount of alcohol in their blood would be intoxicated.

Edward J. Ryan who, with William L. Wilson, Jr., represented Umstot, did not argue the case before the jury.

Umstot Testifies

Testimony in the case disclosed that Umstot, Kenney and two other passengers were riding on the one-seated motorcycle, with Umstot sitting on the gasoline tank when the accident occurred.

Umstot, Roy Dayton and Earl Galbaugh testified they were riding on the motorcycle along with Kenney.

Umstot said the vehicle struck an object or skidded on the damp road causing the accident. He stated that he was operating at a speed of from 35 to 40 miles an hour when the accident occurred but had been traveling 45 to 50 miles an hour shortly before.

There was some dispute as to whether Umstot was intoxicated.

Kenney's mother appeared as a defense witness and testified as to the condition of the road.

State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris, who made the state's opening statement to the jury, told the jurors that no intent to kill is necessary to prove manslaughter, and

Red Feather Hat Contest Planned

Members of the women's section of the Cumberland 1947 Community Chest campaign will have an opportunity to enter a national contest for a specially-designed Lilly Dache hat made of red feathers, the Chest campaign symbol, according to Mrs. Delphin Treiber, section chairman.

A list of all leaders and team members in the section will be prepared, and Mrs. Treiber will officiate at a drawing this afternoon at campaign headquarters in City Hall.

The winning name will be sent to New York where national headquarters of the Community Chests and Councils is located. Other cities are also entering the contest, and the name of the winner will be announced on the radio program "We the People" October 28, the date of the official opening of the local Chest campaign.

Mrs. Treiber also announced that 734 campaign cards were distributed to members of the women's section at a meeting yesterday at Central YMCA. The five districts to be canvassed include the South End, East Side and North End combined, West Side, Cresaptown and LaVale.

Adolf Blunk, chairman of the advance gifts committee, said his group will meet today at noon at Central YMCA for the second report luncheon.

Temperature Reading

Cumberland experienced its hottest October 22 on record yesterday when the mercury soared to 86 degrees. A check of records back to 1912, the earliest they were kept here, showed the next warmest October 22 was in 1935 when the temperature reached 85. Yesterday's overnight low was 45 and at 9:30 last night the mercury was down to 58. Today's forecast is for clear weather with little change in temperature.

The guest speaker will be introduced by Vivian Nies.

However, although the Scouts Own is the first planned event on the scout week schedule, all local Girl Scouts have been requested by their leaders to attend church Sunday morning in scout uniform, as the first Sunday in Girl Scout week is always dedicated to attendance at church. Each day of the week is set aside to emphasize the practice of scout teachings. Monday is homemaking day; Tuesday, citizenship; Wednesday, health and safety; Thursday, international friendship; Friday, arts and craft, and Saturday, out-of-doors.

Artificial Dairy Cattle Breeding Co-operative May Be Formed Here

A meeting to organize an artificial dairy cattle breeding co-operative in Allegany County is scheduled for 8 o'clock tonight in the office of County Farm Agent Ralph F. McHenry in the Court House.

Dr. Roy Weatherby, manager of the Maryland Artificial Breeding Co-operative Association, Inc., of which the local unit will be a part, will be present to effect the organization, according to Clarence O. Miller, Midland Holstein breeder and one of the interested parties attempting to initiate the program.

The purpose of the organization, Miller explained, is to increase production and the type of dairy animal of a particular breed.

Once the organization is effected dairy farmers will be given the opportunity to breed their dairy cows to the outstanding bulls in the East in Holstein, Ayrshire, Guernsey and Jersey breeds.

Before the local unit can be set up, about 1,000 dairy cows must be available for breeding, and to meet this number, Allegany County has been permitted to extend invitations to membership to farmers in nearby Pennsylvania and West Virginia so long as it does not interfere with an existing artificial breeding unit.

One of the worst problems to overcome that generally faces such groups is securing an inseminator technician, but Miller said Harry E. Miller, Frostburg, has completed a course at the University of Maryland in artificial insemination and will be available to the county group as an inseminator technician as soon as the local unit is formed.

The state organization, of which the local group will be a part, has co-operating with it the United States Department of Agriculture and the University of Maryland Extension Service. Miller said the Allegany County farm agent's office is co-operating with the local unit, and that further information can be obtained from County Agent McHenry.

Miller will preside at the meeting tonight.

Fire Destroys Produce Warehouse At Piedmont

Flames Threaten Nearby Buildings

The Mills and Company wholesale produce warehouse on West Fairview Street, Piedmont, W. Va., was destroyed by fire late last night and an eye-witness said that shortly before midnight firemen were fighting to keep the flames from spreading to stores and houses across the street. The fire was said to be under control at midnight.

John C. Boor, owner of the building and a member of the corporation operating the produce business, valued the lost stock at $5,000 and estimated it would cost $25,000 to replace the building under present conditions. He said the structure was built by Armour and Company about 40 years ago.

Four Report Fire

Reported almost simultaneously by four persons at five minutes of 11, the fire had made such headway that the roof collapsed 20 minutes later.

Firemen from Piedmont, Westernport, Luke, and Bloomington were fighting the blaze when the fire department of the Luke plant of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company was called for aid at 11:40 p. m.

The eye-witness, who asked not to be identified, said the building "is all aflame. Nothing is left but the framework. You can see clear through it. The sides were burned away and all you can see are archways, windows and framework.

"When the roof caved in an extra spurt of flame went up."

Paul Dawson was the only person identified as discovering the fire and he, one person said, called in an alarm from Coury's poolroom on Ashfield Street. Dawson had noticed the flames while standing near the railroad tracks on Second Street.

The building, Dawson was quoted as saying, was "all aflame" when he turned in the alarm.

Witnesses described the warehouse as one story frame building. They said they believed it was well-stocked and that they understood a "couple" of shipments of fruit had been received yesterday and were included in the lost produce.

Reflection Seen Far Away

The brilliant reflection was visible as far away as Bloomington, one and a half miles distant, but onlookers said the reflection had subsided somewhat by 11:25 after the roof of the blazing structure caved in.

With the job of saving the warehouse apparently hopeless, firemen battled for some time to keep flames from leaping narrow Fairview Street to old frame stores and homes on the other side. Endangered were the liquor store, beer parlor and grocery stores, an observer said.

A large crowd was watching the fire, but they were kept back somewhat by the intense heat.

Man Captures Skunk-Gets Air--- Lots Of It

Capturing a skunk with an old rug taken off the back porch is effect, but may cost cost a man the company of his closest friend for a time following the hunt, Irvin Johnson, 23, 402 Waverly Terrace, learned last night.

Johnson's mother, Mrs. Annie Johnson told the story after her son chased the "black kitty" through the front yard at 8 p. m. and to the cheers of a large crowd which was standing "at a safe distance," dropped a rug taken from the porch, over the animal.

The skunk was turned over to the humane society, but Johnson was turned out of his home, for a time "to get air and a lot of it."

Spiritual Training Needed In Homes, Maj. Wall Says

AAUW Holds Forum On Family Life

Spiritual training in the home and the determination of every family to "live up to their responsibilities to Almighty God" would cause juvenile delinquency to disappear overnight, Maj. Elmer Wall, commander of the Salvation Army here, said last night.

Maj. Wall also recommended that a co-ordinated Council of Social Agencies be formed in Cumberland to prevent duplication of case work and to determine jointly how to handle various cases. He explained that at present the agencies check each other by telephone to determine what assistance has already been given to individual cases, but the Council could handle the problem of duplication at regular meetings, he added.

Maj. Wall and other representatives of various community agencies were guests at a forum discussion on "Resources for Strengthening Family Life," held at the third annual Founder's Day dinner of Cumberland Branch, American Association of University Women.

The dinner, attended by 57 members and guests, was held at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

"Adult Stupidity" Blamed

"Family prayers, saying grace before meals, regular attendance at church and Sunday School provide spiritual training which is lacking in many homes," Maj. Wall declared. "We must come back to the basic principles which made our nation great, and recognize God."

In connection with the discussion of juvenile delinquency, Magistrate Thomas E. Stakem of Juvenile Court said that "adult stupidity" is responsible for many of the cases which appear before him.

"Parents allow their children to run on the streets until all hours," he declared. "Strict supervision by parents is needed."

Case Histories Discussed

Three typical case histories were presented by Mrs. Robert L. Ebert, chairman of the AAUW's family relations committee, who was in charge of the program.

Agency representatives then commented on the part which their organizations could play in meeting each problem. Besides Maj. Wall and Stakem, those taking part were Miss Jeannette Bonig, executive secretary of Associated Charities; Mrs. Louise Dean, home service secretary of Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross; and Mrs. Elinor Westerfeld, executive secretary of the Allegany County Welfare Board.

Miss Ruby M. Adams, elementary school supervisor of the Board of Education, said in an introductory talk that the family is important because it provides continual guidance in social and cultural values.

Miss Lillian C. Compton, president of Frostburg State Teachers College, who summed up the discussion with W. Earl Cobey, local attorney, said ways should be found to prevent cases of juvenile and adult delinquency from developing, rather than trying to alleviate the results. Cobey said a social survey of the personnel and facilities of each agency would be helpful, calling attention to the Court of Domestic Relations in Baltimore, which he said has proved successful.

Mrs. John J. Hafer, president, introduced the state AAUW president, Mrs. Donald R. Burgess, Washington, D. C., who described a conservation workshop at Solomons Island last month.

New York Father Brushes With Law To Get Daughter

Takes Child From Home Of Mrs. Koon

Millard Beightol, 7 Park Avenue, New York City, yesterday flew to Cumberland, dramatically took possession of his 5-year-old daughter, and after a brief "brush" with local police started back to New York by plane at 5 p. m. with the child.

Police were called, they said, when they received a telephone call that "a man was breaking into the home of Mrs. Fannie H. Koon, 221 Baltimore Avenue." Sgt. John Newhouse answered the call and picked Beightol up as he walked down Baltimore Avenue past the Central Y.M.C.A, carrying the child in his arms.

Breightol told police that Mrs. Koon had gone to New York about a week ago and took his daughter, Virginia Ann Beightol, from the home of an aunt and brought her back to Cumberland without his knowledge.

Mrs. Koon's attorney, F. Brooke Whiting, however, said Beightol called Mrs. Koon and asked her to come to New York and get the child because he was having domestic difficulties.

Beightol and his daughter, who was dressed only in her under garments, were taken to police headquarters, where he was questioned and then released with the child in his custody. Police drove Beightol to the home of his mother, Mrs. Alice Beightol, 231 Wallace Street.

Beightol told police that he had forced the front door open at Mrs. Koon's home after two unidentified persons attempted to close it in his face. He said after forcing the door he picked the child up and began walking down the street.

Sgt. Newhouse said when he arrived several hundred persons had gathered and began to point the man out calling "there he goes." Beightol offered no resistance when Newhouse informed him he was being taken to police headquarters.

Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn said he released Beightol after questioning him and permitted him to take the child. He indicated that no charges would be preferred.

Beightol told authorities that his daughter fractured her left arm several weeks ago, and was under the care of a New York physician, but said when he asked Mrs. Koon to return his daughter for further treatment she refused.

According to Beightol, when Mrs. Koon took his daughter from the home of his aunt, Mrs. Erma Hutson, New York, she indicated to Mrs. Hutson that she intended to inform him that she had the child, but he stated she returned to Cumberland without talking to him.

Mrs. Beightol last night declared that she knew nothing about the affair, and said Beightol had taken the child when he left her home. Beightol told police that the child's mother is dead and he had remarried.

Beightol indicated that he intended to leave his daughter under his mother's care, but airport officials said the child was aboard the plane when it took off about 5 p. m.

Father Kilkenny Is Named Celebrant

Final arrangements were made for the feast of "Christ the King" celebration to be held next Sunday afternoon at St. Patrick's Catholic Church, North Centre St., at a meeting of the St. Patrick's Holy Name Society in the parochial school building last night.

During the meeting, the names of the officers for the Solemn Benediction which will be part of the celebration were announced as follows:

Celebrant: Very Rev. J. Lawrence Kilkenny, pastor of St. Patrick's, the host church, and Rural Dean of Catholic Churches in Western Maryland.

Deacon: Rev. Francis Montgomery, Administrator of St. Michael's Church, Frostburg.

Sub-Deacon: Rev. Charles Quinn, Assistant Pastor of St. Peter in Chains' Church, Westernport.

Deacon of Exposition: Rev. Joseph Graziani, Assistant Pastor of St. Mary's Church, Oldtown Road.

The officers were selected by Rev. Lawrence P. Landrigan, Pastor of St. Mary's Church, and Spiritual Director of the Western Maryland Section of the Holy Name Society, under whose sponsorship the celebration is being held.

Father Kilkenny said last night that he considers it a "singular honor" to be named celebrant of so important a ceremony, and expressed the hope that he will be able to meet and talk with many of his old friends from the George's Creek section at the services. Prior to taking over his duties as Pastor of St. Patrick's last March, Father Kilkenny served as Pastor at St. Joseph's Church, Midland, for four years.

It was also revealed at last night's meeting that the Frostburg Arion Band will lead the procession of more than 2,000 Catholic men who will assemble on North Johnson Street at 2:30 p. m., and march to St. Patrick's where the "Christ the King" services will be held at 3 o'clock. The procession will be under the direction of Thomas F. Conlon, Sr., Chief Marshal.

Rev. Alban Hammal, O. F. M., Cap., Pastor of SS. Peter and Paul's Church, this city, will deliver a sermon entitled "Christ, Our King."

The event will be attended by Catholic men from 11 parishes in Allegany and Garrett counties.

Ushers will be under the direction of Edward Miller. Chief standard bearer will be Gale Northcraft, and James Burns will serve as organist.

Small Business Is Lifeblood Of Our Nation, Beall Says

"Independent business is the backbone and lifeblood of American economy," Rep. J. Glenn Beall told members of the Independent Retail Food Dealers Association of Western Maryland and their guests at the annual dinner of the organization last night in St. Mary's Recreation Hall.

In stressing the importance of the small, independent firms, the speaker, quoting from the report of the Committee of Economic Development, said that since 1939, this type of business represented 98 per cent of all business firms in the United States. He further stated that these small units do 35 per cent of the nation's yearly volume of business.

Stresses Sound Policies

Rep. Beall emphasized the necessity of keeping small businesses in this vital position in order that our free enterprise system may not be jeopardized. The speaker said that the government can help solve the problems of independent business by adopting policies that are sound and wise without adding to the public debt.

The exchange of constructive ideas among members of the association was discussed by John Bloecher, past president of the Baltimore Association, who gave numerous examples to illustrate the help afforded by these exchanges.

Albert E. Windish, president of the local association, served as master of ceremonies and W. Lee Elgin, commissioner of motor vehicles of Maryland introduced the guest speaker, Roy G. Howells, humorist from Philadelphia. Howells devoted his talk to the description of personalities of the guests according to astronomy. Rep. Beall and F. Lee Fresh were the focal points of his address.

Fresh Leads Singing

The program opened with the singing of "America", followed by the invocation by Rev. Lawrence P. Landrigan, pastor of St. Mary's Church. Group singing was led by F. Lee Fresh and dinner music was provided by Miss Mary Donegan Howell, Hagerstown, accordionist.

Table decorations were large bowls of multi-colored mums and autumn leaves and carnation corsages were presented to the ladies present. Mrs. Margaret Newcomer received a bouquet of red roses for her work on the ticket committee.

The committee in charge of arrangements for the dinner included Ralph W. Rice, chairman; J. C. Patterson, Lynn Beightol, F. Lee Fresh, Robert P. Rizer and Ralph F. Sell.

Allegany County Schools Get First State Aid Payment

Quarterly Payment Amounts To $389,151

The Allegany County Board of Education this week received its first quarterly payment of state aid to schools, amounting to $389,151.66 representing an increase of $207,082 over the same quarter last year, according to Dr. Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools.

The increase for the full year, according to Dr. Kopp, will amount to $828,328, and is mainly responsible for the increase in teachers' salaries as well as the year's program of high and elementary school education.

Dr. Kopp explained that state aid has made the increased financial program possible, and stated the revenue at present is being received from the state through the two per cent sales tax which was inaugurated by Governor William Preston Lane.

The state aid, according to Dr. Kopp, is proving very beneficial to the county since an additional tax of 82 cents would have to be added to the tax rate in the county to support the program if state aid were not received.

Throughout the entire state the school systems have received $5,137,566 for the first quarter in state aid which would amount in local tax rates to increases of from 17 cents in Baltimore City up to $2.27 in Calvert County.

In Garrett County the first quarterly payment of state aid amounts to $148,858 an increase of $72,504 over the same period of 1947 when state aid amounted to $76,354.

The figures as to what it would cost Allegany County to raise this money on its local tax rate takes on added significance when it is realized that it was necessary for this amount of money to be raised if the public schools were to be staffed with qualified teachers, if school buildings were to be improved and if necessary educational facilities and equipment were to be furnished, Dr. Kopp explained.

In other words, Dr. Kopp said, so long as it was necessary to provide these funds, if the state had not provided them, it would have been necessary for the county to do so by increasing its tax rate from the present $1.72 to $2.54.

Molinari Is Given Stern Warning By Local Jurist

Wills Murder Trial May Start Today

Trial of Mervin Clinton Wills, 20, Christie Road, who is accused of murder in the death of his 18-month-old son last July, is scheduled today in Circuit Court, according to court attaches.

They said the trial is expected to begin after disposition of two indictments charging violation of the state dentistry laws against Robert W. Rice.

At the time of Wills' arrest, authorities expressed the belief he had beaten the child, Junior Clinton "Butch" Wills, so brutally that the infant died. He was indicted for murder by the October grand jury.

Umstot Is Found Guilty But Jury Suggests Mercy

Manslaughter Case Defendant Paroled

Deliberating about 20 minutes, a Circuit Court jury yesterday afternoon convicted Cpl. Earl Umstot, 23, Westernport, of manslaughter in the death of James Russell Kenney, 19, Franklin Navy veteran, who was killed in a motorcycle accident last August 27 near Lonaconing, but recommended clemency.

Taking cognizance of the jury's recommendation, Associate Judge George Henderson who, with Chief Judge William A. Huster, heard the case, passed sentence paroling Umstot for three years and directing him to pay the victim's mother, Mrs. Marie Kenney, $25 monthly for a year for funeral expenses. Umstot also was cautioned to be of good behavior.

Judge Henderson, in passing sentence, pointed out that aside from the jury's recommendation for mercy, Mrs. Kenney expressed desire that Umstot not be imprisoned.

Motorcycle Overloaded

The jurist said the two young men were friends and that Mrs. Kenney had assisted in getting Umstot home from Germany, where he was serving with the Army, while his mother, who has since died, was ill.

He added that Mrs. Kenney said Umstot came to her after the accident, expressed his sorrow over her son's death and regret that he had come home because he had caused her son's death.

Assistant State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher who summed up the prosecution's case, told the jury that in no case he could think of has more evidence to show gross negligence been presented to the jury than in this one.

He pointed out that the manslaughter by automobile act under which Umstot was tried makes it necessary to prove gross negligence, an act of wanton disregard for the safety of others.

Fletcher said Umstot violated four state motor vehicle laws by overloading the motorcycle, operating it while he was under the influence of intoxicants, operating at a speed of 45 to 50 miles an hour in a 25-mile zone and operating without a license.

Fletcher likewise emphasized a state report on an analysis of Umstot's blood, showing that it contained .19 per cent of ethyl alcohol an hour after the accident, with the added information that 80 per cent of persons with this amount of alcohol in their blood would be intoxicated.

Edward J. Ryan who, with William L. Wilson, Jr., represented Umstot, did not argue the case before the jury.

Umstot Testifies

Testimony in the case disclosed that Umstot, Kenney and two other passengers were riding on the one-seated motorcycle, with Umstot sitting on the gasoline tank when the accident occurred.

Umstot, Roy Dayton and Earl Galbaugh testified they were riding on the motorcycle along with Kenney.

Umstot said the vehicle struck an object or skidded on the damp road causing the accident. He stated that he was operating at a speed of from 35 to 40 miles an hour when the accident occurred but had been traveling 45 to 50 miles an hour shortly before.

There was some dispute as to whether Umstot was intoxicated.

Kenney's mother appeared as a defense witness and testified as to the condition of the road.

State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris, who made the state's opening statement to the jury, told the jurors that no intent to kill is necessary to prove manslaughter, and

Judge Henderson Issues Statement

After Frank Molinari, Jr., operator of the Cadillac Cocktail Lounge, entered a plea of guilty in Circuit Court Tuesday to selling intoxicants after closing hours, (midnight) and had been fined $200 by Chief Judge William A. Huster, Associate Judge George Henderson took occasion to issue a "stern warning" to Molinari to "watch your step and keep out of trouble."

Judge Henderson told Molinari most emphatically that the $200 fine imposed could be considered a minimum fine but that the Court is mindful of the fact that he may still have the Allegany County Liquor Control Board to contend with.

Judge Henderson was obviously referring to a clause in the liquor law which provides that the County Liquor Board may suspend or revoke the license of any licensee guilty of a violation under the law.

Molinari was questioned by Judge Henderson about his ownership of property on North Mechanic Street. Judge Henderson asked:

"Do you own a property on North Mechanic Street?"

Molinari replied:

"Yes sir, I own three properties on that street."

Judge Henderson said, "I am referring to the property where your brother Harry operated a pool room and was charged with operating a bookie place. This building is also occupied by the Garabaldi Society on the upper floor, and there have been complaints about gambling and slot machines in that club room."

Molinari said he owned the building but his brother ran the business.

"I do not believe your statement made to the Court," Judge Henderson continued, "that you had nothing to do with Harry's place or that you did not know what went on there."

Judge Henderson reminded Molinari that the Cadillac is apparently a profitable business and told him he should attend to it, take care of it, and keep out of trouble.

"I warned you last spring, Frank, and told you then to keep out of trouble," the jurist continued. "Since then there have been numerous stories about your activities and complaints about your place of business. This is my last warning. That's all."

Judge Henderson's statement was made from the bench, after Chief Judge William A. Huster had announced that Molinari should be fined $200, the same amount as paid when he forfeited bond on a city charge for the same offense. Associate Judge Joseph D. Mish, of Hagerstown was also on the bench.

Red Feather Hat Contest Planned

Members of the women's section of the Cumberland 1947 Community Chest campaign will have an opportunity to enter a national contest for a specially-designed Lilly Dache hat made of red feathers, the Chest campaign symbol, according to Mrs. Delphin Treiber, section chairman.

A list of all leaders and team members in the section will be prepared, and Mrs. Treiber will officiate at a drawing this afternoon at campaign headquarters in City Hall.

The winning name will be sent to New York where national headquarters of the Community Chests and Councils is located. Other cities are also entering the contest, and the name of the winner will be announced on the radio program "We the People" October 28, the date of the official opening of the local Chest campaign.

Mrs. Treiber also announced that 734 campaign cards were distributed to members of the women's section at a meeting yesterday at Central YMCA. The five districts to be canvassed include the South End, East Side and North End combined, West Side, Cresaptown and LaVale.

Adolf Blunk, chairman of the advance gifts committee, said his group will meet today at noon at Central YMCA for the second report luncheon.

Temperature Reading

Cumberland experienced its hottest October 22 on record yesterday when the mercury soared to 86 degrees. A check of records back to 1912, the earliest they were kept here, showed the next warmest October 22 was in 1935 when the temperature reached 85. Yesterday's overnight low was 45 and at 9:30 last night the mercury was down to 58. Today's forecast is for clear weather with little change in temperature.

Elgin Stresses Highway Safety

The people of Maryland must get behind safety moves and see that public officials carry out their responsibilities in order to reduce highway accidents, W. Lee Elgin, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, asserted in an address delivered at the Cumberland Lions Club meeting yesterday at noon in Central YMCA.

Elgin declared there were 417 persons killed on Maryland highways in 1946 and said the only way to reduce highway fatalities is through proper training of drivers and regular inspection of motor vehicles. He advocated inspection of vehicles and said it should be under state supervision, adding that if the proper bill is passed by the legislature that the inspections can be made at a cost of only $1 per year.

The commissioner declared that of 3,260 drivers who appeared before him from 1945 until the first of this month for motor vehicle law violations that only 169 were repeaters. Elgin gave the Lions facts and figures about the operation of the Department of Motor Vehicles and said that gross receipts from 1930 to 1938 were $33,071,577.34 and from 1938 until the end of 1946 they had increased to $50,867,744.70.

The guest speaker will be introduced by Vivian Nies.

However, although the Scouts Own is the first planned event on the scout week schedule, all local Girl Scouts have been requested by their leaders to attend church Sunday morning in scout uniform, as the first Sunday in Girl Scout week is always dedicated to attendance at church. Each day of the week is set aside to emphasize the practice of scout teachings. Monday is homemaking day; Tuesday, citizenship; Wednesday, health and safety; Thursday, international friendship; Friday, arts and craft, and Saturday, out-of-doors.

Artificial Dairy Cattle Breeding Co-operative May Be Formed Here

A meeting to organize an artificial dairy cattle breeding co-operative in Allegany County is scheduled for 8 o'clock tonight in the office of County Farm Agent Ralph F. McHenry in the Court House.

Dr. Roy Weatherby, manager of the Maryland Artificial Breeding Co-operative Association, Inc., of which the local unit will be a part, will be present to effect the organization, according to Clarence O. Miller, Midland Holstein breeder and one of the interested parties attempting to initiate the program.

The purpose of the organization, Miller explained, is to increase production and the type of dairy animal of a particular breed.

Once the organization is effected dairy farmers will be given the opportunity to breed their dairy cows to the outstanding bulls in the East in Holstein, Ayrshire, Guernsey and Jersey breeds.

Before the local unit can be set up, about 1,000 dairy cows must be available for breeding, and to meet this number, Allegany County has been permitted to extend invitations to membership to farmers in nearby Pennsylvania and West Virginia so long as it does not interfere with an existing artificial breeding unit.

One of the worst problems to overcome that generally faces such groups is securing an inseminator technician, but Miller said Harry E. Miller, Frostburg, has completed a course at the University of Maryland in artificial insemination and will be available to the county group as an inseminator technician as soon as the local unit is formed.

The state organization, of which the local group will be a part, has co-operating with it the United States Department of Agriculture and the University of Maryland Extension Service. Miller said the Allegany County farm agent's office is co-operating with the local unit, and that further information can be obtained from County Agent McHenry.

Miller will preside at the meeting tonight.
